FUNNY BIRD — This, for anyone who may have lived in outer space for the last 350 years, is a turkey. Its bright plumage is the envy of less well endowed birds who have to be contented with white or brown tailfeathers. This particular turkey, which looks a bit like a peacock, was born in the imagination of Rachel Distler, a fourth grade student at Neil Cummins School in Corte Madera.

Grand Jury Asks Shakeup Of Auditorium Management

Kalimos Criticized For 'Policy Of Negativism'

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Grand Jury yesterday recommended a major shakeup of the management and personnel at the veterans memorial building at Civic Center.

The sharply worded interim report, the second of two released this week, suggests nepotism in hiring, sagging administration and a "policy of negativism" at the auditorium.

Hardest hit in the three-page report was Auditorium Manager Leon G. Kalimos whose "accomplishments have fallen far short of expectations."

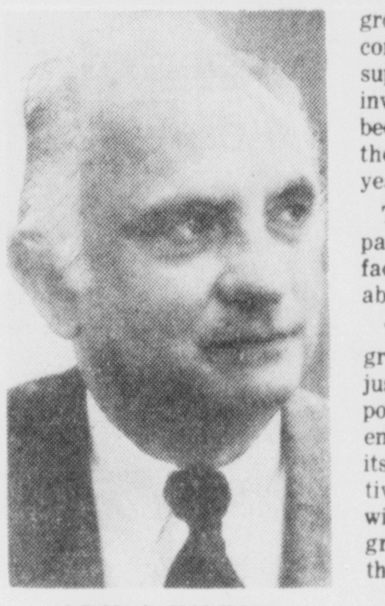
The report, prepared by the audit, finance and county offices committee, recommends that Kalimos give up moonlighting as a theatrical consultant and discontinue the "family affair" staffing, and that the board of supervisors appoint a cultural commission to oversee the facility, adjust the fee schedule only after further study and charge nominal parking fees.

Kalimos, reached late yesterday, said he viewed the grand jury report as "unfortunate," adding "I don't think many of their comments are justified." (For Kalimos reaction story, see page 8.)

The document will be onsidered Tuesday by Marin County supervisors, meeting at 9:30 a.m. at civic center.

The grand jury described the auditorium as "dark too frequently, a shadow surrounded at this season by a sea of mud instead of paved parking spaces in a landscaped setting."

It said the building has gone unused 113 weekend dates since it was opened 21 months (273 weekend dates) ago. (The building actually has been open more than two years.)



LEON G. KALIMOS
Answers Report

"The bright dream of many citizens that the auditorium would provide a facility for performances by many professional and nonprofessional groups and that it would become at least partially self-supporting to offset the county's investment of $6.5 million has been shattered by the reality of the past two and one half years," the report said.

The report said the county paid $108,000 to operate the facility last year and will pay about $161,000 this year.

"Careful study . . . leads the grand jury to conclude that, just as its architects turned its posterior to the freeway and its entrance from passersby, so, in its operation, a policy of negativism effectively discourages wide use of the facility by local groups instead of attracting them," the report added.

It said this "unusual policy" was prompted by county supervisors trying to retain direct control of the building's operation, "relying on the auditorium manager for expertise that has not been forthcoming."

Kalimos, it went on, was hired for his background in booking theatrical performances, but "during the three

Youngsters' Thanksgiving Views

"Cranberries are red,
Violets are blue,
I hope your Thanksgiving
Is not suffered with the flu."
Gray Anderson

Marin youngsters are no exception. As Thanksgiving approached, elementary school students throughout the county took up pencils and crayons and worked diligently to express their thoughts about the holiday.

Some of them shared their poems, stories and pictures with the Independent-Journal which, unfortunately, had only enough space to print a few of their many fine creations.

Many youngsters were fascinated with the historical side of Thanksgiving and often provided some interesting "facts" about the Pilgrims and the Indians which may not have made the history books:

"The Pilgrims came over on the Mayflower.
The food got pretty sour.
But they got over still living
To celebrate Thanksgiving."—Trevor Giles, fifth grade, Neil Cummins School, Corte Madera.

"In 1620, the Pilgrims came and they rode the Mayflower. And there were father and mother Pilgrims and there were girl and boy Pilgrims and Pilgrims that were dogs and cats."—Tracy Foster, second grade, Granada School, Corte Madera.

"The Pilgrims took the Mayflower to seek America. On the way across the sea, some of the Pilgrims got very sick and died. But still most of them survived. But when they reached land, more and more of them died. But soon the Indians came to welcome the Pilgrims. They signed a peace treaty and were friends for 54 years. They celebrated the first Thanksgiving together with a big feast with food like turkey, pie, bread, muffins, deer and so on. After 54 years, the Indians and the Pilgrims started fighting. The peace treaty was broken and they went on fighting."—Gray Anderson, third grade, Granada School, Corte Madera.

"It was a nice day and they invited the Indians over for Thanksgiving dinner. Because the Indians had helped them so much."—Tina Padovano, first grade, Oak View School, San Rafael.

"When the Pilgrims came to Plymouth Rock, they met some dark skinned people who were named Indians. The Indians were scared at first. In a few seconds, they weren't. The Indians taught them how to plant vegetables. In November they had a feast with turkey, carrots, onions. For dessert, they had popcorn."—Istrvan Palagyi, third grade, Santa Margarita School, San Rafael.

Holiday Trees Will Cost A Little More

That popular symbol of Christmas — the fragrant green Christmas tree — is going to cost more this year at many Marin lots.

It's a case of supply and demand and the trees are in rather short supply this year, their numbers cut by a moth plague that has ravaged Northwestern forests and bad weather which has hampered the harvest in many areas.

Although several local tree dealers told the Independent-Journal they will hold the line on prices, most said that prices will be higher than last year.

Dealers cited higher trucking costs, heavy snows which have slowed the harvest of trees in Northern California, and a Tussock moth plague that has resulted in a ban on importing trees from Oregon, as reasons for increases which range from 5 to 25 cents per foot.

The Ferguson Tree Co. of Novato, which already has trees on its lot at the corner of Grant and Seventh avenues, reported increases of 25 cents per foot per tree over last year for "the very cheapest trees." Employee Jerry Roman blamed

Astronauts Leave Lab For Repairs

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two Skylab 3 astronauts floated out of the giant space station today and began an ambitious Thanksgiving Day spacewalk to repair an antenna and load fresh film in their solar observatory.

Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue opened the hatch at 12:43 p.m. EST, an hour and 33 minutes behind schedule, to start the planned 6 ½ hour walk that could easily last eight hours. Mission commander Gerald P. Carr remained behind to monitor their progress and check their repair work.

The pilots cleaned the mildew from their water-cooled underwear and let them dry overnight. The longjohns keep them from getting too hot during the spacewalk.

Gibson told Mission Control the specks of mildew had not completely disappeared today, but they weren't as noticeable.

"And they don't smell anywhere near as much as they did yesterday and they're extremely dry," Gibson said.

The astronauts awakened at 7 a.m. EST to the music, "Walk in the Black Forest," which Mission Control said was appropriate for their stroll into the deep black of space.

The mildew was discovered Wednesday night when the pilots took the underwear from storage and found them wet and smelly. After initial cleaning, the astronauts were confident they would be all right for today's walk.

Reward Of $2,000 For Death Clues

Wishard A. Brown, Independent-Journal publisher, today offered a $2,000 "Secret Witness" reward for information leading to apprehension and conviction of the killer of Nina Fischer.

The 31-year-old Swedish mother was found last Thursday, bound, gagged and shot through the back and head in her Point San Pedro home. The sheriff's office said yesterday it still had no leads in the mystery slaying.

Anyone with information that may lead to the killer may supply it anonymously by writing to Secret Witness, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael. The writer should place identical five-digit numbers in the bottom left and right hand corners of the letter, then tear off one corner and keep it. If the information leads to an arrest and conviction, he may claim the reward by presenting the torn-off number. Arrangements for collecting the reward may be made by telephone, and the "secret Witness's" identity need never be known.

Information contained in the letter, but not the number or any identifying material, will be turned over to the Marin County Sheriff's office.

$1.5 Million To Accident Victim

A Sacramento man, who lost his use of all four limbs in a traffic accident near Tomales, yesterday won the largest damage award in Marin County court history — $1.5 million.

The verdict came in a 9-to-3 vote by jurors in Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson's court, after a day's deliberation following a 13-day trial.

The verdict was against the State of California.

Alfred C. Wright Jr., now 29, suffered injuries that turned him into a quadraplegic cripple on April 5, 1969, on Shoreline Highway about one mile south of Tomales, while riding in a car driven by Stanley Geiser, then 25, also of Sacramento. Geiser's car skidded off the road and into an embankment shortly after 8 p.m.

Wright's attorney, Lawrence K. Karlton of Sacramento, stressed heavily that the accident happened on an unmarked right-angle curve in the highway — shortly after the driver passed a state highway sign denoting "end of 30 mile speed."

Wright was taken to Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma suffering neck and other injuries; Geiser also was hospitalized with cuts, the California Highway Patrol reported at the time.

Wright came to court only the first day of the trial, to testify from a special bed that remained in court throughout the trial in case he wished to attend again.

The verdict was against the state alone; Wright originally named Geiser as defendant also, but that case was settled out of court through insurance, attorneys indicated after the verdict yesterday.

Wright originally filed for $950,000 damages, plus medical expenses and court costs.

Sausalito Windfall In Waterfront Land

Because of a recently discovered clause in a 17-year-old lease agreement, the City of Sausalito "has recaptured" waterfront land scheduled to be the site of the planned downtown ferry terminal and will negotiate a lease for the property with the Golden Gate Bridge District, City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie said yesterday.

This gives the city control over what will be built on the land and could mean as much as $75,000 in revenue to the city from lease payments from the bridge district, McKenzie said.

Review of an agreement written in 1956 leasing the city's downtown waterfront land to the firm of Madden and Lewis revealed that the city may free itself from the lease if the land is to be used for a civic purpose, according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan. The civic purpose in this case would be public transportation.

A state law passed last year exempts the bridge district from regulations imposed by municipalities, such as zoning and building codes.

In this instance, however, the city derives its power to approve what will be built on the land from its status as owner of the property, not because it is a governing agency, Jordan said. It is not clear how much control the city can exert in determining, for example, the design or size of the terminal.

But few conflicts are anticipated in this regard, according to McKenzie. As a result of a closed session with city councilmen Tuesday, he was authorized to approve construction of the terminal if the project would not seriously damage the BATTLEFIELD SHAVE. — The Middle East cease-fire means time out for a little relaxing — even a battlefield shave in an appropriated barber's chair for an Israeli soldier within Egypt. But not too far away is a sandbag bunker — just in case. Meanwhile Israel and Egypt held truce talks today.

Israel, Egypt Hold Session On Truce Amid New War Warnings

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel and Egypt held a crisis-charged session of truce talks today in a bid to break a crippling deadlock over troop withdrawals. Both sides warned that four weeks of relative peace in the Middle East may be shattered by a new war.

Despite the tense atmosphere, Israel and Egypt completed the exchange of prisoners of war today, passing a milestone in their historic cease-fire agreement.

High-ranking generals from Israel and Egypt opened the latest round of cease-fire talks today at the Kilometer 101 desert outpost on the Cairo-Suez highway. The meeting opened during a heavy sandstorm, the Israeli radio said.

Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv of Israel and Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gamassy of Egypt led the negotiations, which were called to work out an agreement on the crucial issue of troop pullbacks.

The Israeli newspaper Ma'ariv said Yariv was prepared to propose an Israeli pullback of six miles on its side of the canal as a first step toward a settlement of the disengagement issue.

The troop pullbacks problem was the only unresolved section of their six-point cease-fire agreement and threatened to torpedo a full-scale Middle East peace conference originally expected to get underway early next year.

Egypt wants Israel to withdraw to positions held at the Oct. 22 start of the cease-fire. Israel has suggested that both sides return to positions held at the Oct 6 start of the war.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir charged Wednesday the Arabs had received new arms shipments from the Soviet Union and were preparing to start the Middle East war again.

The Israeli national radio said 17 Israeli prisoners arrived on an International Red Cross plane today at Lod International airport, the last of 247 Israeli captives.

Defense Ministter Moshe Dayan said he hoped the prisoner exchange would be followed soon with a similar POW swap with Syria, which did not sign the cease-fire agreement.

Mrs. Meir issued her warning Wednesday at a meeting of the semi-offical Jewish Agency, after touring Israeli troops on the northern front with Syria.

"The Egyptians and the Syrians are threatening to resume fighting," Mrs. Meir said in Jerusalem. "Russia has replaced all the equipment they lost in the war and unlike us, they do not count their casualties."

She then declared, "We must therefore realize that the war may be resumed at any moment and must be prepared for this eventuality."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Amtrak Busy

CHICAGO (UPI) — Amtrak's Chicago switchboard was jammed yesterday by persons seeking information on train travel during the Thanksgiving holiday, a company official said.

The Chicago Amtrak office, hub of 23 states, received 10,000 calls Tuesday, about double the normal load for this time of year, Sholler said.

Rebel Barrage

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops unleashed a massive artillery barrage today and drove more than 200 government soldiers from a garrison town along strategic Highway 4.

In South Vietnam, government militiamen battled Communists in the second day of fierce fighting for control of the Mekong Delta's fall rice harvest.

Peron Resting

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Ailing President Juan D. Peron rested at his home today letting his wife help him run Argentina, South America's second largest country.

The government yesterday said Peron "suffered a relapse last night of the bronchial problem which began last week. This morning he is recuperating and attending to affairs of state at his residence."

New Getty Note

ROME (UPI) — The kidnappers of J. Paul Getty III today gave a Rome newspaper five photographs showing him missing his right ear and a letter from the youth begging his billionaire grandfather to pay his ransom.

The photographs and two letters — one from young Getty and the other from his kidnapers — were left next to a sign post on a superhighway south of Rome. The newspaper Il Tempo said an anonymous phone call to its offices early this morning gave instructions how to find them.

The letter from Getty begged his parents and billionaire grandfather J. Paul Getty Sr. to pay a two billion lire ($3.4 million) ransom demanded by his abductors. The letter from the kidnapers added they would cut the 17-year-old youth up "piece by piece" if it were not paid.

Ruling On Crash

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Cook County coroner's jury has returned a verdict of death by accident in the Dec. 8, 1972, crash of a United Air Lines' jet plane near Midway Airport in which 45 persons died.

Among the victims of the crash were Dorothy Hunt, wife of convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt. Searchers found $10,000 in $100 bills that Mrs. Hunt had been carrying.

Coalition Hit

BELFAST (UPI) — Extremists criticized and threatened moderate Protestant and Roman Catholic politicians today for agreeing to a coalition government to run Northern Ireland.

The Provisional wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army branded Social Democratic and Labor Party leader Gerry Fitt and his colleagues in the major Roman Catholic party "arch collaborators."

Protest Treatment

ATHENS (UPI) — Relatives of suspected rebels rounded up in mass arrests complained today of alleged mistreatment by the military-backed government of President George Papadopoulos.

Greek authorities using martial law powers pressed on today in the hunt for suspected participants in the weekend student and worker rebellion against the Papadopoulos regime.

Life For Pot Case Is Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State Court of Appeal has held that a life sentence for a first-time conviction for the sale of marijuana is not cruel and unusual punishment.

In a 2-1 decision yesterday the panel held that: "The courts should not interfere in the setting of punishment unless a statute prescribes a penalty so out of proportion to the offense as to violate the prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment."

The appellate court acted in the case of Soledad inmate Dorian C. Jones, 25, who pleaded guilty on two counts of selling marijuana in Los Altos to an undercover officer in June 1972. Jones was sentenced to five years to life.

Justice Harold Brown, in a minority decision, said the penalty was not compatible with the laws of most other states and that "past unsupported emotional accusations concerning the subject have now been exposed as false."

Speed Reduced

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Public Safety Department employes, including highway patrolmen, have been asked to drive no faster than 50 miles per hour except during an emergency, safety commissioner Wayne Lawson said yesterday.

Two PSA Jets Are Vandalized

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two jetliners belonging to Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) were vandalized by fire and acid yesterday, causing more than $1 million damage. The FBI assumed control of the investigation because the planes fly under regulations of the Federal Aviation Administration.

A parked, empty Boeing 727 was burned by what arson investigators called "a fire of suspicious origin." A similar plane was damaged by vandals who smashed instruments in the cockpit and sprayed the seats with fire extinguisher foam containing acid.

The jetliners are worth $7 million apieace. Damage to the burned plane was estimated at more than $1 million and to the other at $50,000, by the fire department.

PSA, which flies mainly between cities within California, has been operating at 65 per cent of its normal capacity because of a week-old strike by the Teamsters Union, which represents mechanics, ticket takers, airplane cleanup crews, electricians and fuelers.

Flight crews did not join the strike and the airline is filling in for strikers with management personnel.

Both damaged planes were parked and locked at Los Angeles International Airport.

"It would take someone with a special key wrench and a knowledge of the 727 to unlock the door," an airline spokesman said.

Marvin Griswold, secretary treasurer of the Teamsters local, said "It has been a normal strike situation, and tempers have not run high. This is the last thing in the world we need."

Bigger Union Fund To Nixon Is Hotly Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster president Frank E. Fitzsimmons says his jailed predecessor James R. Hoffa is "a damn liar" for saying the union gave $60,000 to $70,000 to the Nixon campaign instead of the $18,000 it reported.

Denying remarks attributed to Hoffa in Newsweek magazine, Fitzsimmons told a news conference Hoffa had "no way of knowing anything about what this international union does" since Hoffa went to prison in 1967 for fund fraud and jury tampering.

"When he says he knows certain things about donations of this international union being greater than what as reported, he's a damn liar," Fitzsimmons said. The magazine quoted Hoffa as saying he had been told that Teamster business agents were assessed $1,000 each for the Nixon campaign last year.

Nader Group Challenges Nuclear Energy Plan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saying "it doesn't make any sense to replace the present energy crisis with a long-term radio-activity crisis," Ralph Nader and six scientists yesterday challenged President Nixon's plan to encourage the development of nuclear power sources.

Nader spoke at a news conference announcing the findings of a year-long study by the Union of Concerned Scientists (UCS) on the long-term implications of nuclear power.

The USC said its report represents the first analysis of the issues independent of the Atomic Energy Commission and the nuclear power industry. The authors are Daniel F. Ford, of the USC; Thomas C. Hollocher, associate professor of biochemistry at Brandeis University; Arell S. Schurgin, of the environmental program at Brandeis; Henry W. Kendall, professor of physics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; James J. MacKenzie, of the joint scientific staff of the Massachusetts and National Audubon Societies; and Lawrence Scheinman, professor of government at Cornell University.

The report emphasized what it called the dangers of nuclear waste material.

"The radioactive wastes created in nuclear power plants are the ultimate pollutant," said the report. "They are extremely persistent poisons that will pose safety problems for thousands, and in some cases hundreds of thousands, of years. Even in extremely small quantities, they are potent causes of cancer and birth defects."

The scientists said, "no safe plan for the storage and disposal of radioactive wastes from nuclear power plants is yet available.

"A review of all waste handling proposals presently considered by the AEC shows them to be either dubious in concept, not technically feasible, or inadequately supported by required technical studies."

Nader cited what he called "the extremely disappointing

Of the five such plants in New England, he said, only one — the Connecticut Yankee — is fully operative. One is completely shut down and the other three work sporadically, he said.

"In view of the safety issues documented in the USC report," he said, "the proposal by Mr. Nixon to speed up nuclear power plant licensing is unsound and highly dangerous.

"Instead ... we must slow down development, while acknowledging it will do little to ease current shortages, an energy newsletter reported yesterday.

The publication, Energy Today, said the plan encompasses a wide range of activities, from research on making cheaper and more efficient use of energy sources to developing new ones such as solar rays and nuclear fusion. The overall objectives of the administration task force's recommendations, the newsletter said, are:

Safeguards against sudden interruption of fuel supplies, with major funding for steps toward "self-sufficiency in the near-term future."

Emphasis on environmental considerations to assure "as an absolute minimum no further degradation, and wherever possible an improvement."

Keeping costs at a minimum "although there is no question that the price of energy will continue to increase."

"Panel members acknowledged," the publication said, "... that their r-and-d (research and development) strategy may not increase fuel supplies 'one iota' in the short term" and "will do little or nothing to ease fuel shortages before 1980."

Energy Today said the draft proposals of the task force, headed by Chairman Dixie Lee Ray of the Atomic Energy Commission, were being forwarded to White House energy adviser John A. Love and "a formal program proposal is scheduled to be presented to President Nixon on Dc. 3."

"President Nixon announced a $10 billion energy r-and-d goal earlier this year," the publication noted, "and asked chairman Ray for detailed proposals. Panel members from federal agencies were subsequently asked to prepare a 'minimum viable program' — just enough to keep r-and-d efforts alive — and came up with an $11.3 billion total."

The newsletter said the task force estimated the cost of a more "orderly" program in the field at $18 billion over a five-year period and that a "crash" program would run $30 billion.

The plan calls for increased research and development spending ranging from 1,310 per cent for conservation measures, to 162 per cent for increasing supplies to 28.5 per cent to study solar, geothermal and fusion energy potentials.

Condominiums Connections Set

The Richardson Bay Sanitary District board has granted sewer connections to the 49-unit Greenwood Bay condominium development just outside Tiburon near the Cove apartment, according to board secretary Eber D. Russell.

Russell said the board Tuesday also told a representative of the developer of Tiburon Towne, a proposed 54-unit townhouse development on Trestle Glen Boulevard, that no sewer connections could be guaranteed for the complex until it receives final approval from the City of Tiburon.

The sanitary district has only 29 sewer connections left in the Trestle Glen area, Russell said. Tiburon Towne wants guarantees for 24 of them, since it has 24 guaranteed water connections from the Marin Municipal Water District, he said.

Matter Of Vote Is Cleared Up

Leo Tinkler, a former San Rafael City Council candidate, asked supervisors this week to give serious consideration to another man's proposal that they put the question of administrative aides to a countywide vote.

Tinkler did not say he supported placing the matter before voters as was reported in the Independent-Journal, but only urged supervisors to consider it.

His comment came after William F. Fresia of San Rafael submitted a petition to the board urging it to rescind the hiring of Gary T. Giacomini's aide, Judy Ainsworth.

The board refused the suggestion of a countywide vote.

CHASE CAUSES BLACKOUT — A Pacific Gas and Electric Co. repairman works to restore power in the Jacoby Street area of San Rafael, near a wrecked, stolen car that caused the blackout. Police arrested two suspects last night after a chase in which two shots were fired.

Chase Ends In Blackout, Arrests

San Rafael police last night captured two men suspected of car theft, after a bullet-punctuated chase that briefly blacked out part of East San Rafael.

Two stolen cars were recovered, one damaged in an accident during the chase.

Patrolman Brian Bodily, checking his beat along Francisco Boulevard at 9:49 p.m., noticed a man apparently tampering with a 1971 Porsche Targa sports car in the Dexter Toyota agency lot at 445 Francisco Boulevard. Nearby was an older-model Mercedes-Benz, with a man behind the wheel.

The sports car suddenly zoomed out of the lot; Bodily pursued and radioed for help. The Porsche stopped in the center of Francisco Boulevard near the Bermuda Palms, then sped away as the officer approached. It evaded a road block set up by another patrol car at Bellam and Francisco Boulevards, then crashed into a mailbox and power pole on Jacoby Street, Bodily reported.

The accident briefly knocked out power in the area. As Bodily walked up the small car again, its driver tried to drive away again — and the officer fired two shots into the car's left rear tire.

The vehicle mired down and the driver surrendered.

Meanwhile, the Mercedes-Benz Bodily had seen in the Dexter lot cruised by and Bodily ordered it stopped. It was found to have been stolen from Lawrence Pebbles of Post Office Box 1124, Sausalito.

Both Gillespie and the driver of the Mercedes-Benz, Peter Herman Gustav Witt, 19, of San Francisco, were booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of auto theft and conspiracy to commit a felony. Each was held without bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Officers found that Gillespie used what was apparently a filed-down master key to steal the Porsche. A check with the auto dealer showed that none of the firm's keys was missing.

Man Held For Probe Of Burglary

A San Francisco man was arrested by Sausalito police yesterday on suspicion of burglary and auto theft, officers reported today.

Arrested was Alvis Ronald Lee, 27, after police, responding to a silent burglar alarm, found him in a home on Booker Avenue at about 2 p.m.

On standing orders of the Sausalito City Council, officers withheld the address and name of the home's occupant.

Nothing had been removed from the home, officers said, adding that a van Lee was driving had been reported stolen out of San Francisco. It's license plates also had been reported lost or stolen and did not belong on the van.

Lee was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained today in lieu of $20,000 bail. He is scheduled to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Rawles To Stay With District

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night decided to keep Norris M. Rawles as district administer for at least a year, even though he will retire Jan. 1 as city director of public works.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, board chairman, said Rawles will be paid $200 a month in the job.

He said Ralwes is needed because the district is currently "in a period of transition" and many projects already started will require an experienced administrator.

Conner Reelected School Panel Chief

Rachel Conner last night was reelected chairman of the Marin County Committee on School District organizations. Roy A. Parks was reelected vice chairman.

The committee canceled its December meeting, according to Byron W. Mauzy, deputy superintendent of schools.

New Officers

New officers have been elected to the Almonte Improvement Club board with Joan Panek reelected for another year term. Other officers are Anne Seifert, vice president; Marge Roberts, secretary, and Henry Coit, treasurer.

JURY

years he has been responsible for operation of the facility his accomplishments have fallen far short of expectations."

Local groups have become dissatisfied as a result of their negotiations with Kalimos, the grand jury continued. "We must conclude his public relations have not been successful."

It questioned whether the auditorium manager can "apply full attention" to his $21,300 per year job while also being a private consultant and manager of other productions.

"A look at the manager's staff reveals that he presides over a 'family affair,' " the report said, adding the husband (Francis R. Carter) of the ticket concessionaire (Nancy Carter) was recently hired as Kalimos' assistant.

Additionally, the husband (Robert E. Johnson) of Kalimos' secretary (Anna Johnson) holds the soft-drink concession at the building which he was granted in August after being the lone bidder.

The report did not mention that Kalimos' wife has been employed on occasion by the boxoffice concessionaire and that Kalimos previously had worked with his assistant, Carter, at the San Francisco ballet.

The report said that while there has been criticism of the boxoffice operation, the grand jury feels the present method of using a concessionaire is the most businesslike.

The board of supervisors also should consider encouraging more programs for young people, something that has been hampered since the controversial rock concert two years ago, the report said.

It said any change in current rental rates should come only after thorough study of profit and nonprofit use of the building.

A long-range plan on its use should be crated to insure that it develops as a community center, the report added, suggesting a cultural commission should be established to do this.

Prices at Santa Venetia Nursery at 273 North San Pedro Road are up from 5 to 15 cents per foot, according to the variety of tree, said owner Robert M. Tanem. "It's the transportation fuel, labor, and that moth," he said.

Richard Zunino, assistant manager of the Egger and Son nursery in Kentfield, said that harvesting delays will mean more expensive trees, but said he did not know how much the hike will be.

Spokesmen for Big 4 Rents in Corte Madera, and United Markets in San Rafael, said there will no no change in tree prices despite higher wholesale costs. "We've had to pay more for them, but you reach a psychological barrier at $1 per foot," said Fred Saccone, co-owner of United Markets.

The wholesale cost of trees has risen 10 per cent over last year, said Saccone.

The Bolinas Bay Stock Farm and Christmas Tree Ranch, north of Stinson Beach on Shoreline Highway, will maintain last year's prices — "a maximum of six dollars for a 20 foot tree," said manager Jock A. Finley.

"The city has no intention of doing anything to hamper the bridge district," McKenzie said. "We will do everything possible to assist the district in getting the terminal built."

The property in question is a parcel south of the former mooring site of the old ferry Berkeley. Former state-owned tidelands, it was transferred to city ownership in 1953. Herb Madden Sr. had been negotiating a lease with the bridge district for the expanded terminal, and would have received lease payments from the district if the city had not recaptured the land under the civic purpose clause, McKenzie said. In 1970, Madden leased a small portion of the land to the district for operation of the present limited ferry service.

McKenzie is to meet with bridge distric attorneys next week to discuss arrangements for a new lease.

Development Policy To Be Studied

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a development policy for almost 8,000 acres of land on Mount Burdell and surrounding property at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

Conservationists have urged that upper lands of Mount Burdell, visible from throughout the city, and historic Rancho Olompali be retained as open space.

Ownership and acreage of the land to be considered is:

Humble Oil and Refining Co. (Exxon), 986 acres; Great Western Savings and Loan Association, 200 acres; Exeter Equities, 200; Manuel Nunes, 375; Alyce Pashburg, 470; William W. Wright, 5; Dorothy Hammerman, 15; Oliver Kullberg, 4; McGraw-Hill Book Co., 94; University of San Francisco (Olompali site), 700; Mary F. Silveria, 738; Charmaine Burdell Veronda, 695; Porter Trust, 2,592; Jay Garlick, 856; and Fuchs Property, 33.

The commission also will consider prezoning of unincorporated lands in the area, most to limited agricultural use, excepting the McGraw-Hill Book Co. parcel, proposed for planned industrial and the Kullberg parcel along Highway 101, proposed for highway commercial.

Woman Is Named In Drug Probe

A 21-year-old Sausalito woman was arrested at her home yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and opiates for sale, possession and sale of marijuana, Sausalito police reported today.

Chief James D. Wright said Frances Elizabeth Lettmodern of 615 Main Street was arrested at about noon after a week-long investigation of an international drug-by-mail operation.

Wright said his office was tipped by postal officials to possible narcotics being mailed Miss Lettmodern from Europe.

He said his officers, armed with a search warrant signed by Marin Superior Court Judge Charles R. Best, arrested Miss Lettmodern at her home after finding a quanity of suspected marijuana and opiates.

Miss Lettmodern was booked into Marin County Jail where she remained today in lieu of $2,500 bail. She is scheduled to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Holiday Is Damp One In Bay Area

Unexpected early morning showers put a damper on Thanksgiving Day outings, but the weatherman sees partial relief tomorrow before the Bay Area gets hit by yet another storm.

A new storm heading this way from the Gulf of Alaska will bring showers to the area once again tomorrow night or Saturday morning.

Temperatures will remain cool, reaching highs in the 50's and lows in the 40's, throughout the weekend. Winds will be from the west to northwest at ten to 20 miles an hour.

Occasional snow is expected in the High Sierra today with a chance of dense fog in the Central Valley.

Rainfall in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. in Marin and Sonoma cities included Pt. Reyes, .43 of an inch; Bolinas, .10; Sausalito, .54; San Anselmo, .39; Fairfax, .71; Woodacre, .48; Novato, .50, and Petaluma, .13.

San Rafael had received .43 of an inch by 10 a.m.

The California Highway Patrol said the rain caused an eight-car collision about 10 a.m. blocking all northbound lanes on Highway 101 at Puerto Suello Hill in San Rafael. There were no serious injuries in the crash, but holiday traffic was backed up for miles, officers said.

Woman Killed In Auto Crash

A young woman was killed today when her car smashed into the Waldo Tunnel on southbound Highway 101.

Officers said the auto was traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred shortly before 10 a.m.

The name of the dead woman was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

It was the 31st traffic fatality in Marin to date this year, compared to 36 persons killed in highway accidents during the same period last year.

Inmate At San Quentin Is Slain

A San Quentin inmate was killed today — the second murder this month — in a knife attack in the prison's dining room, a prison spokesman said.

Thomas Gregory, serving time for robbery, escape and assault on another inmate, was attacked at about 9 a.m. and died before he reached the prison hospital. He entered San Quentin a year ago.

James Ingram, a spokesman for the prison, said Gregory had multiple knife wounds in his body, the most severe of which were in his neck and left shoulder.

Ingram said three inmates have been locked up on suspicion of killing Gregory. The three men were not identified.

Ingram said a prison-made knife was found at the bloody scene. He said prison officials are investigating reasons for the attack.

A 'Secret' War In North Vietnam

By DANIEL SOUTHERLAND
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

SAIGON — They were not willing to talk about it when it was happening. But military sources here have now disclosed that clandestine raiders organized by the United States kidnapped hundreds of North Vietnamese citizens for intelligence-gathering purposes in the 1960s.

One source said that the number kidnaped in the American-sponsored secret operations against North Vietnam came to at least 1,200. Nearly all of those seized were fishermen who were returned to North Vietnam after questioning and indoctrination sessions, the sources said.

Although the main purpose of the raids was intelligence gathering, they were also used to try to create the impression among those kidnaped that an indigenous opposition group was operating in North Vietnam. The fishermen were told that they had been captured by this group. But most of them did not believe this, according to informed sources.

The Pentagon papers, published in 1971, briefly mentioned the kidnapings along with a number of other clandestine operations against North Vietnam which were undertaken in early 1964. The kidnappings were part of what was called Operation Plan 34A.

In addition to the kidnapings, the operations included commando raids, the bombardment of coastal installations by PT boats, and the parachuting of sabotage and psychological warfare teams into North Vietnam.

This secret war against the North was begun prior to the Tonkin Gulf incident of 1964 — and well before either North Vietnam or the United States had committed major combar units to the fighting in South Vietnam.

The Pentagon papers disclosed that the 34A attacks were under the control of a special branch of the US military command in Saigon called the Studies and Observation Group (SOG).

The Americans worked out plans with the South Vietnamese and then submitted them to Washington for approval. Either Vietnamese or "hired personnel," apparently Asian mercenaries, performed the raids.

But the Pentagon papers did not give any of the details of the kidnaping operations. Nor did they indicate how extensive the operations were.

A South Vietnamese naval officer who had beeen involved in these raids said the men who carried them out had to go through as much as two years of special training. They had to be able to swim long distances carrying heavy equipment, he said. They were all well-paid volunteers.

The officer said that the Vietnamese commandos used jet-powered boats, supplied by the United States, which could accelerate to high speeds within seconds. They were much faster than anything which the North Vietnamese had at the time.

Most of the operations amounted to forcing fishermen off their boats at gunpoint. Kidnap operations which involved going ashore were much more risky and often resulted in casualties to the raiders. Informed sources described several of these "across-the-beach" raids as "disasters."

Some sources familiar with the secret operations question whether enough intelligence was obtained through them to justify the risks that were taken. They said that the fishermen's knowledge of conditions in North Vietnam was often too limited to be of any great value.

Captured fishermen were held in seclusion on an island off the South Vietnamese coast due east of Hoi An. Most of them were held for only a few weeks, according to Saigon sources.

"We treated them very well," said a South Vietnamese naval officer. "We gave them the best food we had while they were being questioned."

He said that just before their release, the fishermen were given radios tuned to a South Vietnamese station and other gifts, such as toys, clothing, fish nets, and sewing kits.

Alabama Not Against Beards

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace told an industrialist who had just announced he was moving his plant to Alabama that beards were okay. He even pointed out that Gen Robert E. Lee had worn one.

As the manufacturer listened, he stroked his own beard.

Another Watergate Tape Gap Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has asked President Nixon to give him all subpoenaed Watergate tapes immediately. following announcement of another gap in the recordings.

"It isn't that the court doesn't trust the White House, or the President," Sirica, said. "But the court would feel better if the President would voluntarily submit the tapes to the custody of the courts."

Sirica acted yesterday after the President's lawyer, J. Fred Buzhardt, said in court that an 18 minute segment of a conversation Nixon held June 20, 1972, with H.R. Haldeman, his staff chief at the time, contains "an audible tone" but no conversation.

Sirica said if the White House does not turn over the tapes voluntarily, he will order Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski to formally request the turnover, which would pave the way for a formal order. Sirica gave the White House until Monday to respond.

It was the fourth White House announcement of recording gaps. Earlier the White House told the court a June 20 presidential conversation with John N. Mitchell and an April 15 talk with John W. Dean III were never recorded and a dictabelt of the President's recollections of the Dean conversation couldn't be found.

It was also a possibly crucial piece of evidence. Former Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox has said in court papers the inference that Haldeman and John Ehrlichman on June 20 "reported (to Nixon) on Watergate, and may well have received instructions, is almost irresistible."

A White House official, declining to be identified, said Sirica's request was "under consideration." As to the tone in the tape, he said: "We cannot say how the tone came about."

The White House said the flaw in the tape was discovered only yesterday, the delay being due to an ambiguity in the subpoena.

READYING FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Well before the Thanksgiving Day turkey was even cooked the City of San Rafael's downtown streets were being festooned with yuletide cheer. Hard at work yesterday in the 1300 block of Fourth Street were employees of Marin Neon, Albert Weston behind the police receiving its tinsel mantle, and Robert Bohanna Jr.

'Winnie The Pooh' Musical Planned

The characters in A. A. Milne's stories of "Winnie the Pooh" will come to life in an original musical at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Belrose Studio Theater in San Rafael.

The musical will be repeated at 1:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. The hours will be the same for the two Saturday performances and Sunday performance on Dec. 1 and 2, 8 and 9, 15 and 16, 22 and 23, and 29 and 30.

Annie Williams of the Sunshine Theater Company has written the script and directs the musical. Jon Sutton has written the music. Marney McArthur is the producer.

The cast of characters includes Christopher Robin, Bruce Bennett of Mill Valley; Nanny, Melia Barry of Mill Valley; Winnie the Pooh, Barbara Jeppeson of San Anselmo; Piglet, Erica Lutz of Larkspur; Rabbit, Michael Faw of San Anselmo; Eor, Jim Bogardt of Mill Valley; Kanga, Christine Palo of Sausalito; Roo, Carolyn Barry of Mill Valley, and Owl, Lynn Gustadt of Ross.

Help Asked On Juvenile Project

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission will ask other agencies for help in producing and financing a motion picture and multimedia show that would advise parents on how to handle delinquent or potentially delinquent youngsters.

Douglas H. Bosco, human relations director, said other agencies such as the probation department will be asked to send representatives to a meeting sometime next month.

He said commissioner Robert Eddy, proponent of the project, has estimated its cost at about $17,000.

A Marin Doctor's Poetic Tribute to John F. Kennedy

A poetic tribute to President John F. Kennedy, written by a Marin doctor on the day of the funeral three days after the assassination, has been rediscovered just in time for the 10th anniversary of those tragic days.

Dr. Theodore D. Hiatt of San Rafael wrote the eulogy while on emergency room service at Marin General Hospital. He sent it to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson because he felt Mrs. Kennedy had too much on her mind to handle additional mail.

Bess Abell, Mrs. Johnson's social secretary, promptly wrote back and said the tribut would be forwarded to the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library at Harvard.

A copy of the poem soon vanished into the sort of memorabilia that gets stuck away in remote corner closets, and was not seen for years. Only two weeks, ago, however, Mrs. Hiatt stumbled upon it in a box that never had been unpacked when they moved two years ago from San Anselmo to Sn Rafael.

She told the Independent-Journal it seemed "very strange" that the poem would crop up so shortly before the 10th anniversary today.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN F. KENNEDY

November 25, 1963

"Born to greatness," it is said of him who was returned with love into the Earth this forelorn day;
Born to win, but cruelly bled of power and life, he fell, he died. His people kept this day to pray.
Born to love, to laugh, to weep for peace; to play, to fight with honor for the people lately led;
Born to die, as all must keep the last appointment, knowing not the place, nor time, nor how life's shed.

John Kennedy, as might a prince of other worlds in previous times, had "greatness thrust upon him."
But to see him, hear him, did convince his people that he wore it well in youthful body lithe and trim.
With gestures bold and strong and true, with fervent tone or solemn voice he led, maneuvered with great skill
Statesmen, common men, not to agree with him, or with each other, but to work as only free men will.
Thus born, thus thrust into the breech to hold once more the fort of freedom, John Kennedy no less achieved
His greatness, and in time to teach us all of courage, faith and will to realize the dreams we half believed.
By his own mind, by his own will, by his own harmony with God, by his building with his mate
A home of love, honored still, from whence to meet the surging world, he became the master of his fate.
Thrice blessed, he truly reached the peak of human power and influence. So great his stature we cannot Conceive of any greater, yet we speak of him as one of us, a friend, and quail before the awful blot
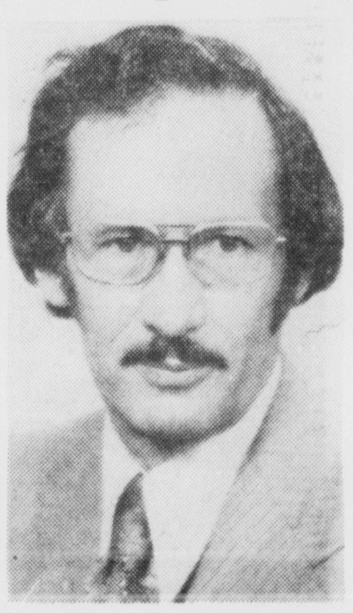
Besmirched across our weary land by one who looking out, not inward to his own benighted soul, fired
Those shots just as he planned to prove that John Fitzgerald Kennedy was only just a man.

The awful truth perhaps was this, the slayer in his purile brain asked himself and could not answer,
"Why has he so mcuh of all I miss? Why has he the glory, and I the pain?" That this land our garden yet may flower
We work, we build, we play, we pray. But chained to childhood's blackest fears, anachronistic, filled with hate,
Are those who long in evil lay to destroy what the builders build. Oh! Teach them, God, before too late!



THEODORE D. HIATT
In Kenndey tribute

Suspended as we are this day, at sea between the wilderness of war and cultivated lands of peace,
Remembering President Kennedy we pledge again fortunes and life that his great work and our not cease.
We pledge ourselves as good men must to move the stones over which might fall the children grown to follow us.
This day of days, this man of men in Arlington lies buried, blessed. This day of days one song we sing.

Theodore D. Hiatt

Land Purchase Around Condor Sanctuary Eyed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Plans were announced yesterday to purchase 2,351 acres of "buffer" land around portions of the Sespe Condor Sanctuary in Southern California.

The 53,000-acre sanctuary near Ventura provides a home for the 50 to 60 remaining California condors, North America's largest and one of its rarest land birds.

The new purchases were announced by the California Condor Advisory Committee, made up of federal, state and private groups concerned with condors.

The largest plot is the 1,871-acre Hopper Ranch to be bought by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. The other portion is the 480-acre Green Cabin area, ultimately to be purchased by the National Forest Service.

SO WHERE'S THE TURKEY?

Paul Bosco (right) shows clearly in his bored face he thinks it's time for the story to be over and dinner to begin. The scene was a Thanksgiving lunch yesterday at Oakview School in the Dixie School District, where first and second graders had done most of the preparation. Chicken legs and corn turned out to be the piece de resistance.

Kalimos Calls Jury Report Unfair

Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, yesterday labeled as "unfortunate and unnecessary" a county grand jury report critical of auditorium management. (For the report story, see page 1.)

Kalimos, 56, said he felt the grand jury had skimmed over many of the facts that would explain why the two-year-old building was not being used to full capacity. "I don't think they are justified . . . " he said.

The auditorium manager came to Marin four years ago as manager of the now-defunct Fair-Marin, a group of business and civic leaders organized to put the memorial building on a sound financial footing.

When it was disbanded, after falling short of its goal, Kalimos was named by county supervisors to operate the new building.

He said yesterday grand jury criticism of his outside consulting work was unfair and a check of records would show he has always worked more than a 40-hour week for the county "because of the nature of the job."

Kalimos said he currently holds only one outside job, as a theatrical consultant with the new Pacific Northwest Dance in Seattle.

The "family affair" suggestions of nepotism in the grand jury report fail to mention that the soft-drink concessionaire (husband of Kalimos' secretary, Anna L. Johnson) was the lone bidder for the job though 22 bid invitations were mailed, Kalimos said.

The boxoffice concessionaire, Nancy Carter, wife of assistant auditorium manager Francis R. Carter, is in the process of selling her involvement, Kalimos added.

Kalimos was backed up by County Administrator John F. Barrows who said he had reviewed and approved Kalimos' outside employment.

The county administrator said he had ordered that Mrs. Carter drop the boxoffice concession months ago when her husband was hired as Kalimos' assistant. He confirmed Mrs. Carter is negotiating to sell the concession.

Kalimos added that criticism of the "dark nights" at the auditorium failed to take into consideration the times he was directed by the county administrator to "book out", meaning close the building.

He said he was ordered not to schedule events at the auditorium a number of times because of stage and parking-lot construction and conflicting uses at the fairgrounds.

The auditorium manager added that the building's operation has been without hint of fiscal scandle and has operated successfully despite ongoing building and grounds construction.

Crafts Fair, Flea Market Scheduled

A crafts fair, flea market and spaghetti dinner will be held at the First Congregational Church of San Rafael on Dec. 1.

The fair and flea market will run from 3 to 7 p.m. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

Selection Of Probate Chief Made

Marin's Superior Court judges announced yesterday that they have appointed attorney Noel D. Martin, 55, of Mill Valley as the courts' new probate commissioner.

He will succeed the county's first and only probate commissioner, E. Logan Nininger, who will retire next Feb. 6 from the post that pays $20,832 a year. Nininger is 57.

Presiding Judge E. Warren McGuire explained that the new commissioner, an attorney since 1958, also will serve the court by presiding of pretrial hearings on law and motion matters and may handle some domestic relations cases and "things of that routine nature."

Martin's main task, handling probate cases, isn't a five-days-a-week job, McGuire noted.

Martin was born in Paso Robles and was graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology in 1949 after World War II service in the Army Air Corp.

He moved in Marin County in 1949, then served in the Air Force during the Korean War. He obtained his law degree from the University of San Francisco in 1958. He is a member of the State Bar of California and is admitted to practice before the U.S. District Court for Northern California.

Martin is married and has two children.

Nininger first joined the county as a clerk in the county clerk's office probate section in 1960. He was promoted to the probate commissioner post at a salary of $7,200 a year when the job was created by the court on an experimental basis in 1967. He took almost $1,000 cut in salary to take the job.

Nininger is not an attorney and he is a Terra Linda resident.

He said yesterday he intends "to devote full time to my religion in some way" — he is a Christian Scientist — and he plans to become a fulltime practitioner.

A total of 42 attorneys from throughout California and other states applied for the probate commissioner job after the judges ordered it advertised. A screening committee consisting of the five judges, Nininger, Juvenile Commissioner Jack L. Blaine and two members of the Marin County Bar Association narrowed the field to nine, from which the judges made their final choice.

Seventy-five per cent of California's $120 million rice crop in 1972 was exported, mainly to Puerto Rico and South Korea.

Action In Larkspur On Curbing Centers

An ordinance giving Larkspur city officials more control over construction of a proposed regional shopping center was adopted last night by the city council.

Under the regulation large stores and shopping centers with floor areas of 100,000 square feet will be subjected to stricter review procedures than at present.

Harlan Barry, assistant city manager, said the ordinance will require a permit for large establishments in commercial zones.

Specifically, it will allow more review of the proposed Larkspur regional shopping center than is possible under existing ordinance.

Currently, only design review would be required for the shopping center, proposed for a 65-acre site between Corte Madera Creek and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The new ordinance would give the planning commission and city council power to review plans for the facility.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

IMPROVEMENTS — Voted to form an assessment district to finance $1.1 million worth of improvements to East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, from Highway 101 to the east city limits. The road, adjacent to the planned Larkspur ferry terminal, will be widened to four lanes. Landscaping and utility undergrounding are included in the project.

MARSH — Urged that Heerdt Marsh in Corte Madera be purchased by a non-profit agency or similar organization so it can be preserved from development.

PARKING — Approved 50 additional underground parking spaces for Larwin Multihousing, a 224-unit apartment development on Via Casitas.

POST OFFICE — Asked Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, to reopen a post office in Greenbrae which was closed yesterday. The facility, which had been located in a pharmacy, lost its lease.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 5 on amendments to the city's uniform fire, building, housing, plumbing and mechanical codes.

SMOKING — Agreed to forbid smoking in the council chambers.

NEW POST — Following a closed session, authorized the staff to recruit an administrative secretary for the city manager, a new position.

American, Bodyguards Are Slain

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Would-be kidnapers killed an American businessman and his three bodyguards with machine gun fire today while they were en route to work in the industrial city of Cordoba.

Police said the American, John Albert Swint, president of the Transax automobile parts company, was stopped by a group of 15 persons using four vehicles as he left a residential section of Cordoba, 420 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Officers said Swint's car was driven by a bodyguard-chauffeur and was followed by a car carrying two more bodyguards.

With more than 160 kidnappings reported in Argentina this year, most top foreign businessmen now travel with body guards.

Industrial sources said Swint was married and his wife was visiting in the United States.

Police said that Swint's car slowed down for a stalled truck, apparently a decoy, and was cut off by another truck. Two other cars blocked his and the bodyguards' vehicles and some 15 persons rushed Swint, according to police who talked to witnesses.

Call Made On European Ties

ROME (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador John Volpe says the United States and Europe must see to it that their alliance is never weakened because of disputes involving the Middle East conflict.

"If the Mideast situation could be used to separate the United States from its European allies, the consequences would be disastrous," Volpe said yesterday.

"I am not suggesting that the Mideast war caused any irreparable damage to the alliance ... but recent events should serve to reinforce the realization that revitalization of our Atlantic relations is essential and timely," he said.

A THANKSGIVING FEAST IS READIED

Senior citizens prepare a lavish spread of turkey and trimmings to be served at their Whistlestop gathering place in San Rafael to all those in Marin who would otherwise go hungry on Thanksgiving day. This preparation activity yesterday was repeated this morning at a somewhat more frantic pace as the midday meal hour approached, with anywhere from 150 to 220 guests expected. About 15 volunteer groups from St. Raphael's Catholic Church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church and the First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches of San Rafael helped round up and prepare the goodies.

College Board, Senate Argue District Policy

Marin Community College District trustees last night deferred action on several major items, adjourning early and putting almost half the agenda over to a meeting set for Nov. 28.

Board members and academic senate members debated for about an hour over proposed changes in the board policy of selecting senior administrative officers for the district and its two campuses, then deferred adoption. Supt.-President John A. Grasham opposed the changes, saying there was no need for them, according to Earleen Jones, district information officer.

Trustees also postponed adoption of the proposed "affirmative action" policy on hiring women and minority group members.

They delayed plans for a district corporation yard in district-owned former marshland behind the 1100 block of Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur. Board members wanted more information on alternative sites and what effect the proposed site would have on Larkspur business firms, Mrs. Jones said.

Marin Community College Board Also:

NEW MEMBER — Seated Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., elected Nov. 6, as a new trustee.

ARCHITECT — Named Trustees Gene Turtle and Kramer to a committee to screen candidates for the district architect post now open.

AUDIT — Received an annual report from Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants, on the status of the books of the district, the associated students, the federal loan program, education opportunity fund and work study program.

HIRINGS — Employed Peter James Schneider as custodian-receiving clerk at $723.50 per month; Ardena Ridge, Daniela Zvonar, Candace O'Brien, Alexandra Soeten and Edna Caudill as half-time typist clerks at $305 per month; John Algo, Diane R. Wright, Pamela Mize as fulltime typist clerks at $610 and Joan Maher as part-time typist clerk at $488 a month. Hired Murial Barr as student personnel assistant, part-time at $608 a month.

COURSES — Approved new credit courses in psychology and chemistry for Indian Valley College and art, weaving, stage design and vocational nursing for the Kentfield campus, and adult education courses at Indian Valley College in environmental planning, women's self-defense, photography, weight control, and workshops in communication and careers.

ENERGY CRISIS — Received a staff report that the colleges' thermostats have been lowered 2 degrees, and that steps are being taken to save power by turning off all possible lights, wearing heavier clothing, and study air conditioning for reduced use.

MEETINGS — Set 7:30 p.m. Nov. 28 in Science Center room 101 for completing last night's agenda and for a workshop on the capital outlay budget; 7 p.m. Dec. 5 in the same place for executive session to screen district architect candidates and 8 p.m. for a regular board meeting; 7:30 p.m. Dec. 12 in Office Center Room 160 for an adjourned board session and further architect screening; tentatively set Jan. 2 for a regular board meeting and Jan. 9 for a workshop on funding applications; tentatively set Jan. 23 for a workshop of the Indian Valley Colleges educational program.

ADJOURNMENT — At 11:15 p.m., to the Nov. 28 meeting. Trustee Martin Dean was absent.

Child Is Blamed For House Fire

A child playing with matches started a $7,000 fire yesterday in the bedroom of a Mill Valley apartment on the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary campus.

No one was injured in the blaze that began at 9 a.m. in one bedroom of the two bedroom apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Findley of 7B Forman Lane, according to firemen. The Alto Fire Department had the blaze under control 10 minutes after arrival but heavy smoke kept the firefighters at the scene until noon.

Smoke and heat damage is blamed for most of the damage to the furniture, clothing and personal items. Two connecting apartments suffered slight smoke damage.

Brooke Remains Firm On Nixon

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, the first Republican senator to call for the President's resignation, said Wednesday "nothing has happened" to change his mind.

"It has been my hope that the President would make full disclosure and would be able to turn things around," Brooke told newsmen following a meeting with Gov. Francis W. Sargent. "I think this would take something of a miracle."

In an apparent reference to the President's meetings with Republicans in an attempt to resolve questions about his knowledge of Watergate, Brooke added, "Nothing has happened to change my opinion that he should resign. "If he restores the confidence in the American people that he can govern, then I would change my mind. But that hasn't happened yet."

Americans Look Back To Fateful Day In Dallas

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Americans old enough to remember looked back today to the events of 10 years ago that took from them their president, John F. Kennedy.

"As we give thanks for the bounty and the goodness of our land ... let us also pause to reflect on President Kennedy's contributions to the life of this nation we love so dearly," President Nixon said in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation.

In Dallas on the eve of the assassination, about 200 persons carrying candles marched solemnly from the Texas Schoolbook Depository to Kennedy Memorial Plaza. Three-hundred others had gathered at the memorial on a bright day, much like the Friday afternoon on which Kennedy was slain.

"Today the world remembers, and Dallas remembers," Charles G. Cullum, a Dallas civic leader, said.

"We can honor his memory with deeds of human service and human compassion. We gather in humility and reverence. We remember the pain at the loss of so gifted a leader—the greatness of the Kennedy vision to call America to a new and higher purpose."

"Ten years have not blunted his accomplishments...They have not eased the shock," Dallas Mayor Wes Wise, a news reporter 10 years ago, said as he laid a wreath of white chrysanthemums and red carnations on the black marble memorial.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., remembered sadly the junior senator who was presiding over the Senate on Nov. 22, 1963, Edward M. Kennedy, being told that his brother had been shot.

"I remember what happened..." Randolph said in a Senate speech.

"I shall never forget that through the door on the left, the doorkeeper—a large man, he moved very quickly—stepped up to that desk, where Sen. Ted Kennedy was sitting and whispered the tragic news.

"Sen. Kennedy's face turned gray. He covered his face with his hands. Then he rushed out of the chamber..."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., remembered attending a luncheon in the Chilean embassy when he heard the news in a telephone call from the White House. He felt "shock and trauma," he told the Senate.

"I think he (Kennedy) will be remembered by Americans and by those abroad for courage and the vision of a better and kinder world," Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott said.

Shortly after dawn today, members of the Kennedy family knelt at the grave of the assassinated president in Arlington National Cemetery. The small group was led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and included his sister-in-law, Ethel, and a number of the Kennedy children. Later the Kennedys attended the memorial mass at Holy Trinity Church where the late president occasionaly worshipped.

State May Get $25 Million For Education

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State schools chief Wilson Riles says California could receive $25 million in education funds because of a federal court ruling against President Nixon's impoundment of the money.

However, Riles said in an interview yesterday that the money could be held up if continued appeals of the case are made by the President.

The funds involved in the impoundment would go for vocational and experimental education programs, to buy library books and audio-visual equipment, to help educate persons from "educataionally disadvantaged" backgrounds and to support adult extension classes.

Brown's Office Nearing End In Probe Of Spending By Kalmbach

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The Secretary of State's office reports that it is nearing a conclusion to an investigation into the use of as much as $2 million in once-secret political campaign funds by President Nixon's former personal attorney.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., a Democratic contender for governor, is conducting the probe involving the use of 1968 presidential campaign money by Herbert Kalmbach of Newport Beach, Nixon's attorney until several months ago.

Tom Quinn, deputy secretary of state, said yesterday in an interview that Kalmbach was "bending over backwards to be cooperative with us."

Quinn declared he expected a "resolution of the Kalmbach matter pretty shortly." He declined to predict exactly what the outcome of the investigation would be.

Brown's investigation centered on the use of between $1 million and $2 million funds left over from the 1968 campaign.

Quinn earlier said Kalmbach had paid $200,000 to $300,000 of the total to help a Democratic opponent of George Wallace in Alabama's Democratic gubernatorial primary election in 1970.

But he said it was "unclear" about how most of the money was used.

Quinn said his staff has since held a "number of meetings with Kalmbach and that he had supplied investigators with information about his activities.

But Quinn added that a "lot of records" are not in Kalmbach's possession. The secretary of state's aide said some are apparently missing and others are being held by Watergate investigators in Washington, D.C.

A RARE GIFT BEING SOLD BY COLLEGE

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Berkshire Community College is offering a unique Christmas gift: Education.

The director of continuing education, Gene A. Kamp, said the college is selling gift certificates good for a three-semester course in the college's evening division.

The price of the gift certificate is $79, Kamp said.

Mansion Is Not Off Ground Yet

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's new governor's mansion probably won't be ready for California's new governor, the state architect said yesterday.

State officials had hoped to have the million-dollar home completed by January 1975 when Gov. Ronald Reagan leaves office and a new governor takes the oath.

But State Architect John C. Worsley said, "It won't be done by the end of the year 1974. This had been our hope."

Only under the best of circumstances could the new executive residence on a bluff overlooking the American River be ready for the new chief executive to occupy in January 1975, he said in an interview.

Worsley said he expects preliminary architectual drawings to be completed by about Jan. 1.

A San Francisco firm has been hired to conduct an evironmental impact sutdy, also expected to be completed early in 1974.

The basic Early California concept of the home has been agreed on by Reagan and other state officials, Worsley said.

"We're talking about a building that will have adobe brick, a red tile roof, exposed wood, tile floors," he said.

It will be rambling one-story structure although there may be a second story on a hillside section of the home.

Delays have been caused by the need to revise preliminary plans as they are drawn and a controversy over the location of the proposed home, on an 11.9-acre site in suburban Carmichael.

Indian groups had opposed construction of the mansion on the bluff, contending it was an ancient Maidu Indian burial ground. State Archaeologist Francis A. Riddell directed a three-month exploration of the area. No graves were found.

In addition, there is a bill moving through the legislature that would order the mansion to be built in downtown Sacramento instead of the suburban American River site.

Original plans called for site preparation to begin on Oct. 1. But now, actual construction probably won't start until next June, Worsley said.

"We were hoping that we would be further along than we are at this time," he said.

Ever since early 1967, Reagan and his family have lived in a rented Tudor style home on a fashionable area of Sacramento about two miles from the Capitol. The house now is owned by 17 of his wealthy friends and political supporters who rent it to the state for $15,000 a year for the governor's use.

The owners have not indicated what they will do with the home, valued by the county assessor at $165,000, when Reagan leaves office.

Housing Promise Failure Charged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John Burton has accused the federal government of breaking its word in refusing to provide $15 million for the Hunters Point Redevelopment Project in San Francisco.

In a letter Monday to Secretary James T. Lynn of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Burton said, "Your recent assurances that funds will be made available through measures which have yet to be approved by the Congress does not satisfy our anxiety or lessen our distress that the federal government has broken its word."

PREMATURE TREAD WEAR-OUT

If a Montgomery Ward passenger tire wears down to the top of the tread wear indicators (to 1/16" tread depth) within the period of months or number of miles stated for a given quality of tire, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge determined by the months or miles of use, whichever serves as basis for the guarantee.

Premature tread wear-out due to malfunction of the suspension system is excluded.

All prorated charges will be based on actual selling price in effect at the time of adjustment at the retail store to which returned or the catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case, including Federal Excise Tax.

*Commercial use is defined as use on any vehicle for other than family or personal use.

- Due to the importance of proper vehicle maintenance in delivering stated mileage, Montgomery Ward will rotate tires purchased at retail or catalog stores having installation facilities free of charge, every 5,000 miles. Wheel alignment and wheel balance may be checked at that time.
- Montgomery Ward will repair nail punctures free of charge for the full term of the tread wear-out guarantee.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

A Whirlwind Tour Of South America

By MOLLY MARIN

Her interst in archeology gave added zest to the trip which Mrs. John Keopke took to South America. Peggy Keopke accompanied her husband, who is in the mining and shipping business, on the whirlwind 16-day tour, which was a business trip for him.

A visit to the tomb area at Nasca, Peru, was especially fascinating for its evidence of a pre-Inca civilization dating from 1600 to 1200 B.C. At Nasca the climate is so dry that relics are perfectly preserved. The dead were wrapped in alpaca fur with their possessions, including the finest pottery and fabric. Through the centuries grave robbers have violated the tombs, strewing skulls, bones and artifacts across the sand dunes, and giving the area an eerie aspect.

In Lima, Peru, the Mill Valley couple visited the Gold Museum, a priceless private collection of Pre-Inca gold hand made objects. Mrs. Keopke was impressed with entire walls covered with hand beaten gold leaf, cases of emeralds, pearls, gold beads, turquoise necklaces and other objects fashioned of gold. The ancient city of Macchu Pichu in the Andes was also a treat to the Marin visitors, who marveled at the excellent irrigation system and the great carved stones weighing 30 tons each, piled on top of one another at the historic site.

The couple spent one day in Santiago, Chile, staying at a hotel on the square near the Palace. There were bullet holes in the wall of their hotel room, and they could see where the Palace had been strafed during the recent military coup. They observed the 10 p.m. curfew, enforced by military patrols.

DR. AND MRS. Francis C. Yanni of Mill Valley have returned from a week in Acapulco, Mexico, where Dr. Yanni attended a dental seminar. During a side trip to Taxco, noted for its silver work, Mrs. Yanni did some Christmas shopping.

STINSON BEACH Community Chapel was the setting for the Oct. 27 wedding, uniting in marriage Emily (Jane) Miller of San Rafael and Andrew T. F. Houston of Mill Valley.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Miller of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Huston.

LOIS FARMER, who has lived in Mill Valley for three years and the Bay Area for 10, is being transferred to Anchorage, Alaska, for two years by her employer.

Mrs. Farmer is a secretary with a business machine concern. She will be accompanied by her son, Rob, 13, a student at the Mill Valley Middle School. The family pets, two dogs and two cats will also make the move north. Mrs. Farmer and Rob hope to take up cross-country skiing in Alaska, and Rob is enthusiastic about the fishing opportunities.

HONORED BY CHILDREN

Corte Maderans Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

By PAT BALMES

Married for 50 years, retired National Park ranger Raymond Bright and his wife, Emily, were honored recently by their children wtih parties in San Francisco, Tiburon and Seattle, Wash.

The Corte Madera couple were married in Seattle on Oct. 24, 1923, in the First Methodist Church.

Last week at their home, the Brights reminisced about their 20 years with the National Park Service at Mount Rainier National Park in Washington and Hawaii Volcanoes National Park on the island of Hawaii.

During the first 25 years of their marriage, Bright was a Washington public school teacher and principal, supplementing his income in the summers by "bucking wheat sacks," working as a forest service lookout and, one summer, as caretaker at Mount Rainier National Park. For the following 10 summers the school teacher and his family lived at the park, where he worked as temporary ranger.

WHILE BRIGHT was a summer ranger, the couple lived in a 16-by-20-foot tent with three of their five children. Once, when they returned after dark from a holiday, they found that a bear had ripped open the side of the tent, scratched and bitten the ice box and peeled and eaten oranges stored on top, Bright related.

Another time, Emily Bright was washing dishes in the tent when she saw a huge bear looking in the screen door. She cried, "Get!" she said, and it did.

Bright became a permanent ranger in 1951, in charge of buildings and forest fire control for six years. Then he was made the district ranger for the mountain's western slope, in charge of protecting the public by ski and road patrols, administering first aid and supervising search and rescue operations.

His family moved, then, into the oldest house in the park which was surrounded by 200-foot trees. In storms Mrs. Bright was afraid that a limb would fall on the house, he said.

Once they had 105 inches of snow which covered the whole house. He had to shovel a path twice daily to reach the school bus which his sons rode 30 miles each way to school, said Bright.

Mrs. Bright taught Sunday school and arranged Christmas music in the park. The closest town was six miles and consisted of a grocery store. "That was where you lived; the rangers were your family. Many we still write to," she said.

WHILE HE was district ranger, a Marine Corps airplane crashed in an inaccessible spot on top of Mount Rainier, killing 32 Marines. Their frozen bodies remain there in the wreckage, Bright said.

"We would go up on Memorial Day and put the flowers nearby that their parents had sent. We would drive as far as we could, then hike the rest of the way in the snow," Mrs. Bright explained.

One of the lost Marines' mothers came to the Brights' golden anniversary party in San Francisco.

At Hawaii Volcanoes National Park, Mrs. Bright's job was hospitality. Important visitors were turned over to the chief ranger, so she was constantly taking care of people and giving luncheons.

As chief ranger, Bright's job was to protect people 24 hours a day who came to see the active volcanoes, he said. He also was in charge of 20 horsemen and a helicopter when they hunted goats and pigs. Captain Cook had left a pair on each island in 1792. Now there are thousands on the big island alone, almost impossible to control, he said, adding that they rounded up 1,947 goats in one drive.

In 1967 Bright was called back to Seattle to do public relations work for the National Park Service and he retired in 1968.

The animals and isolation associated with park service life were familiar to Bright, who had grown up as the oldest of 10 children on a 60-cow dairy farm in Washington where "we only went to town once a year."

HE MET Emily when they sang and acted in a religious play "with a caste of thousands" held at University of Washington stadium. After they married, the Brights continued to sing for clubs and religious services.

"The reason we got together was that we sang," said Bright.

After their first two children were born, Bright became ill and had to borrow $50 a month to support his family that year. "Paying back that $600 was the hardest thing we ever did," he said.

During the year he renewed his teaching certificate and, after the return of his health, taught and became a principal until he entered the National Park Service in 1951.

The Brights have five children, Mrs. Frank Schultz of Tiburon, Mrs. Charles Peterson of Seattle, Raymond Bright Jr. of San Francisco, George

Less Than A Third Of Parents See Drugs As Major Problem

DEAR READERS:

Despite the enormity of the drug problem as headlined in the major cities of the country — and of the world, in fact — only 25 to 30 per cent of the vast marjority of American parents (based on our survey) considered narcotics as a Number 1 worry in raising their children.

One-fifth of all respondents felt marijuana should be legalized, but almost half termed penalties for private use too stiff. Twelve per cent revealed they had tried pot, a Texas mother adding, "I couldn't tell the difference between a roach and a Camel . . . a lot of effort for zilch!" From the West Coast came, "Hell no, I don't want pot legalized. I sell the stuff!"

Asked, "What would you do if you discovered illegal drugs in your child's room?" four-fifths of our correspondents said they would seek help from a counselor and (or) try to work the problem out for themselves, but an average 13 per cent (21 per cent among families earning less than $10,000 a year) insisted they would turn the "culprit" over to the police. Three per cent indicated they might try the drug with their children "to understand why he uses it," and a like number chose the cop-out "We'd throw the stuff away and say nothing." One man exploded, "I'd beat his ass off!"

Parents voted 60 per cent against uniformly lowering the legal liquor age to 18, but 60 per cent (not necessarily, but often, the same voters) said they allowed their kids moderate amounts of alcoholic beverages at home. In the east, where New York already permits legal drinking at 18, more parents favored the law, and nearly 70 per cent served children liquor privately.

The liberal attitudes of parents were further evidenced in answers to such questions as:

"If you discovered your child's friend was using drugs but was trying to quit, would you insist on a break with him or her?" Sixty-eight per cent answered "No," with many adding, "We'd do our best to help."

"If your daughter's friend had an abortion, would you insist she break off the friendship?" Eighty-two per cent answered with a resounding "No."

Early in our analysis of the computerized survey, however, we discovered that adults are often guilty of a trait they criticize in youth: they would rather fool themselves than face facts. Asked: "Do you have good give and take communication with your children?" and queried specifically as to whether they could talk easily to their teen-aged children on such subjects as sex, VD, drug abuse, birth control, leaving home, interracial dating and homosexuality, a whopping 87 per cent answered "yes."

But answers to the next question: "Do you think they want to discuss these things with you?" negated 41 per cent of the first responses — and indicated that their greatest worries were "Noncommunication" and "Rebellion against Authority."

It should be noted that several factors appear to influence liberal versus conservative thinking. Age, of course, is one: worry over teen sex practices and dress styles rose about 15 per cent between under-40 and over-50-year-olds.

Working wives showed up about 10 per cent more liberal than their stay-at-home sisters. They also reported better communication with their offspring.

High and low-income parents recorded the same concern for their youngsters but those earning under $10,000 a year were markedly more conservative, except in insistence on virginity before marriage. More low-income people had tried pot, but 31 per cent fewer than in the over-$30,000-a-year group wanted penalties for private use lowered.

Tomorrow we will discuss the most significant and conclusive results of this survey — the overall parental view of its relationship with the younger generation. — HELEN AND SUE

SURVEY RESPONSES SHOW

Marin Parents Liberal In Attitude On Alcohol

By HELEN BOTTEL

(Fourth of five articles)

How else do San Rafael area parents differ from respondents in other sections?

Sixty-four per cent of our Independent-Journal correspondents answering the survey wanted the legal drinking age lowered to 18, and 92 per cent said they allowed their teens small amounts of liquor in the home. This compares to a national average of only 41 and 60 per cent.

They also displayed their liberalism in reactions toward marijuana. Seventy per cent (vs. 43 per cent nationwide) favored lesser penalties for private use, and a number wanted Oregon-style decriminalization.

When asked, "Are you in favor of legalized pot?" the 78 per cent "No" reply was only slightly higher than average, but one-fifth of local survey participants admitted they had tried marijuana. (12 per cent was the national all-response figure, with adult pot experimentation sinking to five per cent among Southern readers.)

When asked, "What would you do if you discovered illegal drugs in your child's room?" most I-J respondents said they would try first to work the problem out for themselves, and seek help if needed from a counselor. Only one father chose "the police" as a way out of drug difficulties. A higher than average number (6 per cent) thought they might "try pot or pills with their children to see why they use it."

Marin County parents appeared to worry less about drug abuse than did most parts of the country. This might reaffirm reports that illegal drug use is tapering off in California.

Local parents, however, worried more than their national counterparts over teen rebellion against authority, though they rated "communication" somewhat better than the average.

DENIM originated in Nimes, France, but came into its own in San Francisco, where Levi Strauss made the fabric world famous. Denim is having a comeback as a major source of fabric in current fashions, both for men and women. Shown above is a dramatic dinner suit with top stitching on the denim jacket's collar and cuffs. For men in a more casual style (below) is a pair of indigo blue denim patch pocketed jeans with flared, cuffed legs.

Denim Back In France After Nearly A Century

By PHILIP W. WHITCOMB
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PARIS — From France's Roman City of Nimes to San Francisco and back isn't much over 10,000 miles. But it took denim nearly a century to make the joruney.

Denim, the stuff that blue jeans are made of, originated in Nimes, both the cloth and the name. In French, "from Nimes" is "de Nimes."

San Francisco got its twill-woven cotton serge, the kind every American has known from childhood, with blue warp woven on gray weft, "de Nimes," and shortened it to denimes and then denim.

Now it's back, not only in Nimes but all over France; not only in the 60 "Wild West" weekend and holiday camps scattered round the country, but everywhere — small towns and big cities, lycees and universitite.

UTILITY AND economy have had their effect, but two psychological factors have been more important: the romance of a semimythical Wild West, and the glamor of an American fashion.

Perhaps even the story of the Bavarian Jewish immigrant who built an empire out of denim is today better known in France than in America, where it has been more or less forgotten.

Most French popular magazines for young people have explained how Levi Strauss, arriving in California a year after the gold discovery, had made tent cloth into durable trousers for miners; how he had shifted in 1860 to "de Nimes"; in 1873 had bought Alkali Ike's brilliant patented idea of riveting the pockets instead of sewing them; and on his passing in 1902, never having married, left the business to four more Jewish immigrants from Bavaria, his nephews.

The French government's three television chains seem not to have got round yet to Levi's as a special topic, but Radio Luxembourg, broadcasting from across the frontier to its 20 million French listeners, treated the subject romantically, insisting that most of the 500 million pairs of Levi Strauss blue jeans already sold are probably still in use.

AS DENIM is coming back, so are the styles of the past. Pants, 1943 style, bear a striking resemblance to the ones worn today. This denim slack suit sold for $2.29 30 years ago. The slacks had front pleats and side buttons.

At the present rate of 100 million new pair per year the billion may not be far away.

LEVI STRAUSS had, and still has, an exclusive sales agent (Establissements Frenkel) but did not establish factories in France — it has 30 in the United States and other countries — until September 1971. There now are two, both at La Bassee in the Nord department, with about 600 employees.

With a total of 25,000 employees Levi Strauss will make world sales of over $600 million in 1973 through plants and centers in 70 countries. The French total has been estimated in French trade circles at about $42 million a year.

Levi Strauss is not alone in France. Bluebell and its Wrangler brand, with a main factory in Greensboro, N.C., and plants elsewhere in the United States, Germany, Belgium, Sweden, Italy and Portugal, will make sales of an estimated $10 million in France in 1973.

There are also a number of minor competitors in France and Europe, and such exotic variations as the improbable "white blue jeans" — actually sand color.

The net result has been a world economic phenomenon moving over a billion dollars a year from the pockets of young people and their parents all over the world into the pockets of workers who produce and distribute the cotton, the cloth and the clothing.

BUT LINKED with, and illuminating, this mundane economic fact is a glow of romance. The blue-jean wearer becomes a companion in a privileged and glamorous cross-national socity, instantly recognizable by his brothers — and sisters. Linked by blue denim.

Sound Beliefs Needed Today

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

One well-dressed woman said to another equally as well dressed and coiffed: "As soon as I found out what 'sign' she was under I knew we could never be friends."

One scruffily dressed teen-ager addressed her casually dressed but attentive boy friend: "When were you born? I hope it's the right 'sign.'"

Do your parents believe in astrology? Are you faced every day from those nearest and dearest to you with the belief that you will act and react certain ways because of your birth date? Do you suspect that your mother or your father or both have already determined your character (complete with faults) and that despite your best efforts to be yourself your parents don't see you as you are but as they presume you are "fated" to be?

IF YOU are around people who read horoscope announcements daily and who judge happenings on the basis of fate, and if you're not careful, you may begin looking for evidence that the "signs" are true predictors. And if you're a young person surrounded by adults who prejudge on the basis of some astrological guesswork, you need to be sure you don't start believing what is pure propaganda.

On the other hand, perhaps it's the parents who feel cornered by the amateur astrology practices of their children. It may be that your son or daughter has taken in, as authentic, some glib recitation about characteristics and procliviities of those born under this or that "sign" and resists your best efforts to help them develop as free-thinking individuals.

Should parents discover that their children are believing in chance and fate, they have the responsibility to help them see the fallacy of any such pseudo-"scientific" propaganda. Parents need to help their children develop a sound positive character based on their best and highest beliefs.

FOR SOME youngsters, a flirtation with horoscopes and astrological predictions is merely the result of natural curiosity. It may not necessarily harm young people to read what it is that those who believe in "signs" have to say; what harms is if they start to believe it.

If children show a more than usual interest in knowing more and more, parents might read one of the more popular books on the subject and then talk it over with the children.

What is tremendously useful is for parents to read and study the same material as their children and then from their depth of character and experience point out the fallacies in the suggestions and so-called predictions.

Surprisingly enough, those who work with young people find that even 10 and 11-year-olds have begun to take in some of the more popular propaganda. Teachers report that an occasional "Show and Tell" session in primary school will deal with information about the signs of the Zodiac.

WHEN THIS happens in a classroom where the teacher is a believer and a reader of her daily horoscope, the children often become entranced with following teacher's example. For the teacher who is a firm believer, it is, in her view, not a matter of sharing.

Parents not interested in having their children taught these beliefs must be sure that the teaching at home nullifies what is being suggested at school.

And unless parents are alert, and unless they talk over such things in a harmonious atmosphere with their children, they may find remedial action is necessary when that ounce of prevention would have done the job easily and thoroughly.

Bright of Walnut Creek and Capt. Michael Bright of Fort Bliss, Tex.

The Brights have 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Retired from the National Park Service at the mandatory age of 70, Bright was asked by his oldest son to help him at his San Francisco law firm so the couple moved to Corte Madera. He is writing a book about his life and experiences as a park ranger.

Bright also has a new interest, the Power Squadron, and is taking its boating courses.

Don't Thaw Out

Don't thaw turkey quarters before you cook them. Place a large sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil in a shallow roasting pan. Place a frozen turkey quarter, skin-side up, in the center of the foil. Brush with cooking oil, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bring the foil up over the top and seal with a double fold. Leave ends open but cupped to hold in the juices as the turkey cooks.

Mother Of 17 Says Farm Life Is Ideal

By JUDITH CAPAR

SPARTA, Wis. (UPI) — At 44, Annetta Benzing says she is like any other wife and mother who works to supplement the family income.

What she neglects to mention is that unlike most working mothers, she has 17 children.

With 11 boys, enough to field a football team, plus a half dozen girls ranging from age 7 to 23, Mrs. Benzing would seem to have little time for another job.

But, with the ease of someone who's told her family story hundreds of times before—and probably has—Mrs. Benzing laughs off any notion she has a harder time managing her home and job than other mothers.

"The average days are busy here," she said, "but of course the children do a lot for me so it's not difficult."

The Benzings, Annetta and Francis, 54, own a 320-acre dairy farm in western Wisconsin, and Mrs. Benzing works as a Tupperware manager.

"I WORK a full week — 40 hours —sometimes more. I'm involved in a unit of dealers and I put on a full schedule of parties each week, usually four to five," she said. "But the type of work I'm doing lets me pretty much set my own schedule."

That freedom is a must for her, Mrs. Benzing said, and it has worked out to her satisfaction and the family's benefit. The former beautician has held several jobs during her marriage, but none has paid off as well as the position with the direct sales outfit.

The key to the smooth operation of the family is planning. All the children have chores to do—the boys outside on the farm with their father and the girls in the home or garden.

Mrs. Benzing feels farm life is ideal for a family so large. "If you're going to have so many children, the farm is perfect," she said. "They have room to move around and play. It's exciting for them because there are so many things they can learn. It also keeps them busy during the summer."

The farm also helps keep the family food bill down.

MRS. BENZING says she hasn't really noticed food price increases. She does shopping only once a month, but having their own dairy products and beef is an advantage.

"The only advice I can give other housewives on budgeting food money is to buy in quantities and watch and price. You also have to consider that you want to give the family what they like," she said.

Only 11 children live at home now. Some of the boys are working or in the service and one daughter has graduated from college. Although Mrs. Benzing says it's sometimes sad there aren't as many table settings as there used to be, she brightens when she notes how much they love to return home.

The lesson the Benzings have tried to instill in their children is selflessness. "Our family has to share—school clothes, toys, things like giving each other help with schoolwork," she said.

The family tries to spend as much time together as possible, even though it sometimes means having to vacation in shifts and leave some of the children at home.

"I don't know if I would have so many again—from hindsight it's different," she said. "But I know I wouldn't give any of them up. We're happy and healthy and we have been able to provide."

Designers Show New Men's Styles

PARIS (UPI) — Hardy Amies is making "less aggressive" lapels. Pierre Cardin is putting men in clothes that fit like a second skin. The Swedes have rediscovered leather. And in Europe there is a new sex symbol for teen-age girls—tight jeans that emphasize a young man's rump.

The gossip in Paris concerns Yves St. Laurent's entry into the U.S. men's wear field and his snagging Don Robbie, the Middle West genius of men's design, from Cardin. St. Laurent already is making shirts for Manhattan. Next comes his clothing.

In London, John Taylor, editor of the fashion magazine Style and former editor of Tailor and Cutter, sums up current fashion developments in a few words: "In business clothes the look is English gentleman, as it is in America, and in leisure wear the look is American outdoors, as it is in America."

THE GREAT purveyor of the English gentleman's look in London is Austin Reed, Ltd., of Regent Street, and Barry Reed, the managing director, is pleased with what he is now seeing elsewhere: Men are beginning to wear sports jackets in England, Holland, Belgium, and other European countries where they were unheard of a year or so before. He attributes this in part to the splendid sports jackets he sells.

Amies, one of the first famous designers to go into men's wear, makes what he calls an "international look" and what his critics refer to as the "Savile Row look." But in a show of trendmaking clothes he stressed slightly narrower and "less aggressive" lapels, and suits more sporting than in the past with attention to pocket detail, stitching and welting. Hips are slim, trousers are pleated and cuffs are up to two inches wide.

The Cardin second skin clothing has to be seen to be believed. But people scoffed when he introduced big industrial zippers a few years ago and now you find them on everything. They scoffed at the slim and elegant silhouette he created for suits and then everybody copied them.

"MY DESIGNS are simple," he said of the new look. "They encourage bodily expressiveness. They are not only for the beautiful physique, but for any man who would dare to appreciate and understand his own body ... and its relationship to its environment."

So the message from Cardin is adoration of the male form and total bodily expressiveness. And how? Well, one outfit is in body-hugging herringbone ribbed, deep wine, impressionistic velvet worn open at the neck and chest, worn with knee-high soft leather boots. Others were supple fabrics with leather trim and his famous big zippers. They all look better if you have a 29-inch waist.

He still makes suits, of course.

Another development affecting the American market comes from Hart Schaffner & Marx in Chicago. It already has a stable of international designers including Nino Cerutti of Paris and now it has added the House of Christian Dior, with Marc Bohan doing the designing for a new line of suits, blazers, blazer suits, etc.

It gets pretty cold sometimes in Scandinavia and the big problem there over the years was keeping warm during those long winters. The Swedes take it a little further, though, and show a lot of handsome suits as well as cold weather leather goods.

On the new teen-age phenomenon rump consciousness, London newspapers devoted columns of learned discussion on the whys and wherefores. No one really seemed to know why but the greatest fad to hit Europe this summer was the array of tight fitting jeans. No hip pockets— they would spoil the line. It was generally decided the derriere had replaced everything else as a sex symbol. The tops were anything from flowered prints to plain denim, all open to the navel.

Suppose The First Thanksgiving Came In 1973

By MELVIN MADDOCKS

Holidays, let's face it, aren't what they used to be. The very idea of holiday has tended to become negative (a day we don't work) rather than positive (a day we celebrate).

More and more, holidays seem to be cover-up operations. We shoot off fireworks to cover up our embarrassment at the original impulse behind the Fourth of July. Patriotism? Really! We famously shower one another with presents to cover up the religious signification of what we call, by choice, Xmas. And Thanksgiving — Thanksgiving we bury under the "groaning board," turning it into a kind of eating orgy.

A LITTLE TIME-MACHINE game: What would have happened to Thanksgiving, 1621, if Gov. William B. Bradford, John Alden, and all the goodly company had been suddenly possessed — help us! — by the attitudes of 1973 Americans?

The scene is Governor Bradford's office, a few days before the first Thanksgiving. The governor, a photogenic man —sort of a Pilgrim version of Mayor John Lindsay and Sen. John Tunney — is in conference. On the governor's right, his special assistant John Alden sits elegantly, clipboard under one arm. He can be described as pseudo-hip, with long hair (but not too long) and gray flannel knickers. Does he or doesn't he polish his nails? Next to him, Myles Standish perches on the chair without a back. He wouldn't have it any other way. Standish has a flattened nose and close-cropped hair. He looks like George C. Scott's version of a Puritan: Cotton Mather crossed with General Patton.

The governor speaks:

"THE POLL IS IN from North Plymouth, and it's telling me: 'Go!' We're really onto something. Why didn't anybody think of this holiday business before?"

John Alden gives a tight little laugh. "Well, not quite everybody's thrilled, governor. I hate to go against Gallup, but he hasn't been talking to Squanto. Some of the Indians aren't too happy."

The governor is hurt. "What's the matter? We've invited 90 Indians, including Massassoit. Ninety! That's a lot of squash and sweet potatoes, I'm not kidding. Wait till you get your 1622 tax bill."

"I know," Alden says soothingly, "and I told Squanto. He still calls it tokenism. Without the Indians, he says, you'd never in a million years have figured how to fertilize corn with fish."

MYLES STANDISH scrapes his chair forward authoritatively, as if he were nailed to it. "Leave the Indians to me. I've got files on them. I've got files on that bunch at Merrymount, too. What you've got to worry about, governor, is the heartland — Middle Plymouth, I call it. Middle Plymouth is asking himself: 'Can my wife walk in safety around the palisades at night?'

"Are your tapes rolling, governor?" (Standish clears his throat and addresses himself to invisible microphones.) "I just want to go on record as saying: When you get this many young people together — I don't care what your excuse is — you're asking for a security problem."

The governor interrupts crossly. "Spare us your law-and-order speech, Myles. OK, I've offended the Indians, and I've offended Middle Plymouth. What else?"

Alden coughs quietly. "There are the women. They don't like getting assigned the kitchen. Priscilla wants to know: 'Why is it always the refreshment committee? When will women share in the policy making?' Things like that."

The governor is beginning to turn a little red. "I've got a question, too. Why don't you marry Priscilla and get it over with?"

Alden, with sulky dignity: "Marriage isn't my life-style, governor. I believe in commitment, but this contract business — that's just not my generation's way."

THE GOVERNOR throws up his hands. "All right. Now I've lost even the swinging singles vote. What do I do?"

There's a silence. Then Alden speaks.

"Well, we've talked it over — Squanto, Priscilla, Myles, and I. And, oh yes, the vegetarian militants who aren't too crazy about wild turkey on the menu. We're all for the holday. Governor, nobody's denying it — this is a smart move. Give the people diversion, a little bread-and-circuses. Take the heat off a few issues, like the candle shortage and the rising cost of square-buckle shoes. Sweeten up the headlines.

"The thing we're all against is calling it 'Thanksgiving.' Governor, you're just never going to sell it with 'gratitude.' Gratitude's not where it's at anymore. I get the feedback, and I tell you, every sentence begins with: 'The thing that's wrong with Plymouth is . . .' People feel angry. People feel fed up. People will protest all day, any day. But they just won't feel grateful. You can't make them."

THE GOVERNOR POUTS. "I simply thought it would be a nice idea — and Mrs. Bradford agreed with me — to have one day off. Don't you think I know everybody has grievances? Don't I spend most of my day figuring which 25 per cent are justified and which 75 per cent are sort of — you know — obligatory discontent? But I was naive enough to believe even the true grievers might like a day off. That leaves 364 days to be indignant. Why not just one day to count your blessings?"

Bradford, resigned, waves them back to sobriety. "All right, all right. I'm a politician. I know when I'm licked But how about just a minute at noon for silent prayer? Strictly nonsectarian."

The governor sighs. "OK. No Thanksgiving. But what will we call it then?"

Changed Picture In Middle East Could Include Glowing Future

A lot of things are different about the Middle East today. They are so different from the pattern of some 26 years that the experts and diplomats are incredulous.

All their assumptions are shaken. Suddenly anything can happen — perhaps even the building of a revitalized Middle East, world power and culture such as the Christian crusaders encountered more than 700 years ago.

First, let us look at what is true already.

PRIME MINISTER Golda Meir of Israel keeps referring to Israel's Arab neighbors as "neighbors". The word enemy has been standard for 26 years.

These same neighbors are getting ready to go to a conference, probably in Geneva, before the year is out, at which they will sit down at the same table with Israelis and talk directly with them.

Water, food, and medical supplies are flowing from Cairo to Suez, and from Suez across the canal to the entrapped Egyptian Third Army. That army still is alive and still sitting on a long stretch of the east bank of the Suez Canal.

TO THOSE WHOSE mental processes have been shaped by 26 years of relentless hostility between Arabs and Israelis, all of the above is incredible. This sort of thing hasn't happened. It couldn't happen.

And of course one must at this point remind oneself that the old hatreds can flare up easily enough at any moment over some perhaps trivial incident — and then all these new facts could vanish, sunk beneath the old hatreds.

Yet somehow it almost seems as though someone had pulled a drain plug and allowed the hatreds to start to drain away.

For 26 years the Israelis have assumed war to be an inevitable part of their existence. Now their military superiority is no longer unquestioned for the future. There is a groping for a new form of security.

And among the Arabs there is a new sense of self-respect. When they felt humiliated by disastrous defeat, as in 1967, they found themselves incapable of even entering the same room with Israelis, let alone sitting at the same peace conference table.

Now it's entirely different. Egyptian soldiers did cross the Suez Canal and did take and hold ground. And Syrian soldiers did take the offensive along the Golan Heights and briefly reoccupied some of their past territory. And when they were driven back they did not panic and run.

Arab performance in this last round of battle seems to have done for Arab self-respect what the 1967 war did for Israeli self-respect. Both have proved their manhood.

SO THE INCREDIBLE and the impossible have happened in the Middle East, and anything indeed can happen from here on out. And just where might all this lead?

Westerners tend to forget that once the Middle East was the heartland of the world's most sophisticated culture. To the Christian crusaders from the wilds of northern Europe, the Middle East was a teacher. The flowering of European culture dates from the return of those rude soldiers, bringing back the clothes and foods and customs from a far richer, more varied, more developed civilization.

Just suppose that the hatred is drained from Arab-Israel relations, and suppose that room is made for the Palestinian refugees to live somewhere inside Palestine on a sound economic level, and suppose that the energy and talent of the Israelis begins to spread around among the new Arab neighbors, and suppose that talent is wedded to the oil of the Arab lands — what then happens?

Some idea of the range of possibility is provided by the story of Western Europe's recovery in a mere 28 years.

In 1945 it was prostrate, exhausted, almost derelict. Today Western Europe is economically leading the parade of nations, politically beginning to pull together, and tomorrow perhaps the most influential segment of the world.

There is no reason to think that the Middle East could not forge ahead in a similar fashion from the moment the last of the hatred is drained away.

Energy Crisis Laid To Environmentalists

Do we have an energy shortage? Of course we do. Why not put the blame where it belongs — right on the shoulders of the environmentalists, principally the Sierra Club?

The Alaska pipeline would have been well on its way to completion by this time if the Sierra Club had not kept it in the courts for the past two or three years. The Pacific Gas and Electric Co. spent millions on nuclear power plant sites at Bodega and Mendocino only to abandon them due to the opposition of the environmentalists. And then there are millions of barrels of oil lying under the ocean in the Santa Barbara channel. Who are the opponents of drilling in that area? You guessed it. How much longer is the government going to listen to these groups?

Is Marin Marvelous Or Just Plain Selfish?

The two winters I've spent in Marin have produced so much rain I find it hard to understand why the Marin Municipal Water District claims there is a water shortage. Last year the entire county was flooded and it looks as if this year's rainfall can even surpass last year's efforts, so why isn't all this wet stuff being stored? Is there no way for the Water district to understand the need for more storage reservoirs? Or do they feel that rain water shouldn't be used for household needs?

If, and this is a large "if" in my mind, there really is a water shortage, what is the county doing to alleviate the problem? To a newcomer reading this paper it seems as if the Municipal Water Department, the planning commission and other so-called responsible bodies insist on retaining the status quo and a "water shortage". There is no way for Marin to be "Los Angelized" (where is the kook who dreamed up that label?) and I've never met anyone who would want to "Los Angelize" Marin even if it were possible. In fact all of us want to retain the natural beauty to be found here. But can't we at least share some of that beauty? Why the horror about adding a few hundred badly needed houses? Planned growth is possible and is vitally needed.

The water moratorium is a discriminatory weapon to prevent those of us who own small parcels of land from building on it. I wonder what would happen if we said, "Why should we pay taxes for land you won't allow us to use? You've made it worthless?" Is "Marvelous Marin" really marvelous or just plain selfish?

Council Move Not Related To Petition

In the early part of December the Fairfax Police Officers Association will begin circulating a petition within the Town of Fairfax to qualify for an initiative ballot measure. The initiative if passed would establish a fair method of arriving at a reasonable salary by using the average salary of Marin County police agencies as the basis for the salary of the Fairfax police officers.

This petition notice came coincidentally at the same time a motion was made by Councilman Gately (Nov. 12) to give all Fairfax employees a 2½ per cent pay raise because of the high cost of living.

The FPOA wants to make it clear to the public that to the best of our knowledge no town councilman knew anything about our intent to circulate this petition, so obviously Mr. Gately could not have had any ulterior motive in making his motion. Any intelligent person must recognize that he was attempting to give the employees some relief from the spiraling cost of living, and had no other motive.

The members of the FPOA would welcome the help of Fairfax voters who are willing to assist the police by circulating our petitions.

Building Roads While Urging Less Driving

Yesterday I was struck forcibly by two headlines appearing in two different newspapers. The first was: "A California Plan to Save Energy — Pleasure Driving Halt Urged." The second, from a local paper, stated that "(highway) 101 Widening Job Goes Out for Bid," and continued on to say the Division of Highways has called for bids to widen Highway 101 from six lanes to eight from Richardson Bay Bridge to north of Larkspur. "A total of $2,910,000 is available for the project."

In other words, build more lanes for more cars and at the same time worry about conserving gas. What irony! What a futile way to spend public monies! Nor have protests to the Division of Highways had an effect. The bureaucratic machine grinds on. The average citizen stands by dismayed and helpless, his only function to pay taxes to finance these endeavors.

Surely there must be a better way to use almost three million dollars? Or do we let this irrationality prevail?

Passing Blame For Energy Crisis Latest Washington Exercise

WASHINGTON — Passing the knife between the Democrats in Congress and the White House for responsibility for the energy crisis is the newest piece of gamesmanship. Each side is accusing the other of neglect, indifference, drift.

Democratic senators close to the developing crisis see a scenario roughly as follows: President Nixon bent on his re-election to a second term was determined to avoid rocking the ship of state in any way. While they were not present and therefore do not have first-hand knowledge, these senators believe a crucial decision was made at a meeting in the White House in midsummer in 1971.

THE PRESIDENT called in his principal advisers to lay down the law for 1972. The group included Sec. of Commerce Maurice H. Stans and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, both now under indictment on charges growing out of secret cash contributions to the Nixon campaign fund. The president began the discussion with this preamble.

"In 1960 I was defeated by a narrow squeak. In 1968 I was elected by a narrow squeak. I don't want a squeak in 1972. I want an overwhelming mandate and that is why I have called you here."

He told them he wanted a campaign chest of not less than $50 million. As it turned out the total raised by Mitchell, Stans and Co. was closer to $60 million. That was thanks in part to what one business executive charged was the "extortion" practiced by Stans.

The oil companies contributed many millions to the total. So did the motor manufacturers. To have moved with any real force on the energy crisis that was already visible would have outraged these big contributors. For example, a horsepower tax penalizing the gas guzzlers would have angered not only the motor moguls but the president's many friends who drive the guzzlers.

THE CONSEQUENCES of the Middle East war could hardly have been foreseen by either the White House or the Congress. The warning signs should have been evident, however, in the fulmination of the Arabs over American policy toward Israel. Whether anything could have been done even if the signs had been properly read is another matter. In any event, nothing was done.

Of the utmost urgency now is to find a way out of the energy crisis, not alone as it touches the American consumer but as the oil squeeze hits Western Europe and Japan. The rift in the NATO alliance is so serious, growing out of the Middle East conflict and the oil pinch, that some western diplomats feel it is beyond repair.

They are concerned, too, with loose talk about what drastic action can be taken to restore the flow of Arab oil. NATO ambassadors have heard at a middle level from American officials the possibility of American paratroop forces moving into the chief Arab oil suppliers.

In his energy message Nixon said production from the Navy's Elk Hills could be increased in 60 days to cut back shortages by eight per cent. That would be a beginning if a small beginning in meeting a crisis such as has rarely, if ever, threatened peacetime America.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

It's Now Up To Moretti To Bring Lower Taxes

By EARL G. WATERS

As the returns piled up on Proposition One, showing it was going down to defeat, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti promptly claimed it to be a great personal victory for him.

It is natural that he would feel the flush of success but it hardly qualifies him to be cast in the role of St. George. No dragon was slain.

True, Moretti had appointed himself as the leader of the opposition to the ballot proposal. In doing so he abused the taxpayers by using legislative employees in the political effort.

BUT THE DEFEAT of the initiative should be ascribed to two factors: the money and effort in opposition to the proposition contributed by public employee organizations, principally the teachers and state employees, and the tactical error of the proponents in submitting so complex a document.

The tendency of the voter to cast a "no" vote on ballot measures that he does not clearly understand has been demonstrated over and over. It is a theory, and perhaps not a bad one, that things are mixed up enough without making them worse by voting for something that is confusing.

And Reagan's initiative was confusing — not just to the average citizen but to many others, judging from the disagreements voiced by "tax experts" which marked the campaign.

THE BITTER IRONY of the election was that the proposal could have been stated simply in one single paragraph. If the proponents then wanted to elaborate on the plan it could have been done by qualifying additional ballot measures at the same time the petitions were being circulated for the prime measure.

Had this been the approach, it would have not been so easy for the opponents to frighten voters away from the plan. As it was they capitalized on the fact that the measure was complex. They did this by making claims that it would increase local government taxes and that it was a clever scheme to make the rich richer and the poor poorer.

But all that is water over the dam. What remains is the fact that nothing has been settled. The need for tax reform is just as great now as before the election. Before Moretti gets too carried away with his "victory," he should do some sober reflecting on what must lie ahead.

Two million voters turned out to support a tax limitation. Slightly more, 2.3 million, voted "no." But were they rejecting a reduction in taxes? Not if you believe Moretti's claims. He has contended all along that instead of lowering taxes, Proposition One would increase them at local levels.

HAD THE VOTERS been asked, "Do you believe taxes are too high?" there is little doubt of the result. Had the voters been asked "Do you believe government expenditures should be trimmed?" there would have been a resounding "yes."

In Washington, legislators had voted themselves salary raises. Within hours the people had circulated petitions placing the issue on the ballot. At the polls they rescinded the increases. In Idaho they recalled the legislators who authored a pay raise. In Sacramento the people, while rejecting Proposition One turned down a salary increase for city councilmen.

In refusing Proposition One the voters have not abandoned their desire for genuine tax reform. And having been active in opposing the plan advanced by the governor, Moretti now has responsibility to bring it about legislatively.

Shopping Center Can Be More Than Place To Make Purchases

One of the hardest things for an ex-Middle Westerner to understand about life in Marin County is intense citizen opposition to shopping centers.

One of the highlights of my teen-age life was my 17th summer, when the Randhurst Shopping Center opened in Mount Prospect, Ill.

Billed then as the largest shopping center in the world under one roof, it created enormous social changes in nearby suburbia.

Instead of traveling 30 miles to department stores, we had all the bounty of Carson Pirie Scott and Wieboldt's within walking distance, although few of us left our cars at home.

For everyone under 18, it became the equivalent of a homey New England village — a place to mingle with friends and to find summer and holiday jobs. The summer before I went away to college, I stocked shelves in a dime store by day and worked as a clerk in a department store by night.

WHEN RELATIVES came for a holiday dinner, we took them to Randhurst to see the Christmas decorations. A giant water tank outside the center was turned every year into a replica of a hot air balloon with Santa Claus riding in its basket.

Neighbors and friends who rarely would walk down the street to visit would meet and exchange gossip at Randhurst.

It was a prefabricated town, providing an instant sense of community for recently arrived suburbanites.

But Marin opponents of shopping centers shouldn't look down their noses at the Middle West. They'd be interested in visiting shopping centers, too, if they lived in tract houses in the middle of ex-cornfields where January temperatures hang around three or four degrees above zero and where the nearest culture is 35 miles away in downtown Chicago.

LAST WEEK the Mill Valley City Council held a closed session at Mayor Jean S. Barnard's home to look over applications from candidates for the post of city manager. At the close of the meeting the mayor and Councilman Robert E. Burton sat down at her Steinway and serenaded the rest of the council with solos and duets.

Mayor Barnard said she "had no idea Bob was such an accomplished pianist." Among his selections, she said, was Shubert's "Marche Militaire."

Police Will Answer Students' Questions

Redwood High School students will begin seeing police officers at school regularly next month, but the officers will not be on the Larkspur campus for law enforcement.

Beginning Dec. 7, officers from Corte Madera, Larkspur and Tiburon police departments will be on the campus each Friday to answer students' questions and speak in classes.

Police will have an office in the school's student center and will not be involved in any law enforcement on the campus, according to Paul V. Bosque, Redwood dean of students.

Bosque said if trouble develops on the campus an officer from off the campus will be called to investigate.

"We hope the spinoff will come that policemen are human beings and they can be talked to," Bosque said.

Corte Madera juvenile officer Charles E. Newman, Larkspur Sgt. Raymond L. De Leon and Tiburon patrolman Lawrence Lima will man the "police-school liaison office."

De Leon said the program is the first of its kind in the county. Officers have spoken in school classes for several years but have never had full-time offices on campus.

The program grew out of the three departments' wish to establish better relations with young people, according to De Leon.

The program will be tested through the spring semester and if successful may be expanded into other schools next fall, according to Newman.

"I can's see it being anything but a success. If you help one student a day you have been a success," Newman said.

Office space is proviced by the school and officers are on special assignment from their departments.

Finch To Take Test To Regain Medical License

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Former Dr. R. Bernard Finch, who served 12 years in a California prison for the murder of his wife, will take a test next month in an attempt to regain his medical license.

Even if he passes, however, there's a chance Finch's license will not be issued.

Cole County Circuit Court Judge Byron Kinder said Tuesday he could find nothing to indicate Finch's moral character was bad and upheld an earlier ruling that said Finch must be administered the test.

Kinder's order will be appealed to the Court of Appeals in Kansas City. The court, however, will not be able to issue a decision before the test is scheduled, Dec. 4-6, so Dr. Jerome Williams of St. Louis, president of the board that administers the test, said "We will abide by the court's decision."

Newsword Adventure

The word "pilgrim" goes back to long before the Puritan immigrants who settled at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in 1620. Pilgrimages to sacred religious sites were a common feature of the ancient world, and the English word for people undertaking such a journey has its root in ancient Latin. Peregrinus, the Latin word for foreigner or stranger, became pelegrinus in a later varient. This became pelegrin in Old French, which in turn became pelegrim in Middle English. Governor Bradford spoke of the Plymouth settlers as "pilgrims and strangers upon the earth." By the beginning of the 19th Century, they had come to be known as the Pilgrim Fathers.

DO YOU KNOW — What city was Muhammad's birthplace and now receives pilgrims?

Reagan's Thanksgiving Plea — A Strong Nation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has made peace the theme of his Thanksgiving Day message to Californians, saying everyone could be grateful "the fiber of our country remains strong."

Reagan planned to spend the holiday at his Pacific Palisades home. Through his office he issued the following message:

"As we pause on this special day to give thanks for our individual blessings, we may also thank God that our nation is at peace, that the fiber of our country remains strong, and that the chances for a lasting peace are enhanced by the spirit of Thanksgiving.

"When we as a people bow our heads and offer thanks to the Creator for the good that is ours, peace becomes more precious and our resolve is strengthened.

"We may be thankful that the spirit of Thanksgiving abounds today as it did in the hearts of the Pilgrims. They faced almost unbelievable hardships, but they would not be defeated because they believed in themselves and what they were doing. Yet, they were grateful to God for his guidance and benevolence.

"May it ever be so in our great country."

Doris Day Gets The Full House

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A superior court Judge gave Doris Day the other half of her house Tuesday.

Half ownership of the house was held by her late husband, Martin Melcher, who died in 1968. Melcher's creditors wanted her to have use of his interest only during her lifetime.

Superior Court Judge Steven S. Weisman declared the house a "probate homestead" preventing Melcher's creditors from laying claim to his interest, and giving Miss Day full title.

Serving Of Turkey Sliced This Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Because of increased costs, the armed services have cut back every serviceman's serving of turkey this Thanksgiving by 30 per cent.

In 1971, it cost the government $1 a meal to serve the traditional turkey and trimmings. Last year the price went to $1.33. This year, even at trimming the trimmings, the cost is estimated at $1.80 per man, according to figures supplied yesterday

Last year the agency prepared to serve each man 13½ ounces of turkey. According to this year's figures, however, the 2.2 million men in uniform can each expect only 10.5 ounces.

The services still figure they have big eaters and are allotting 1½ pounds of food to every man.

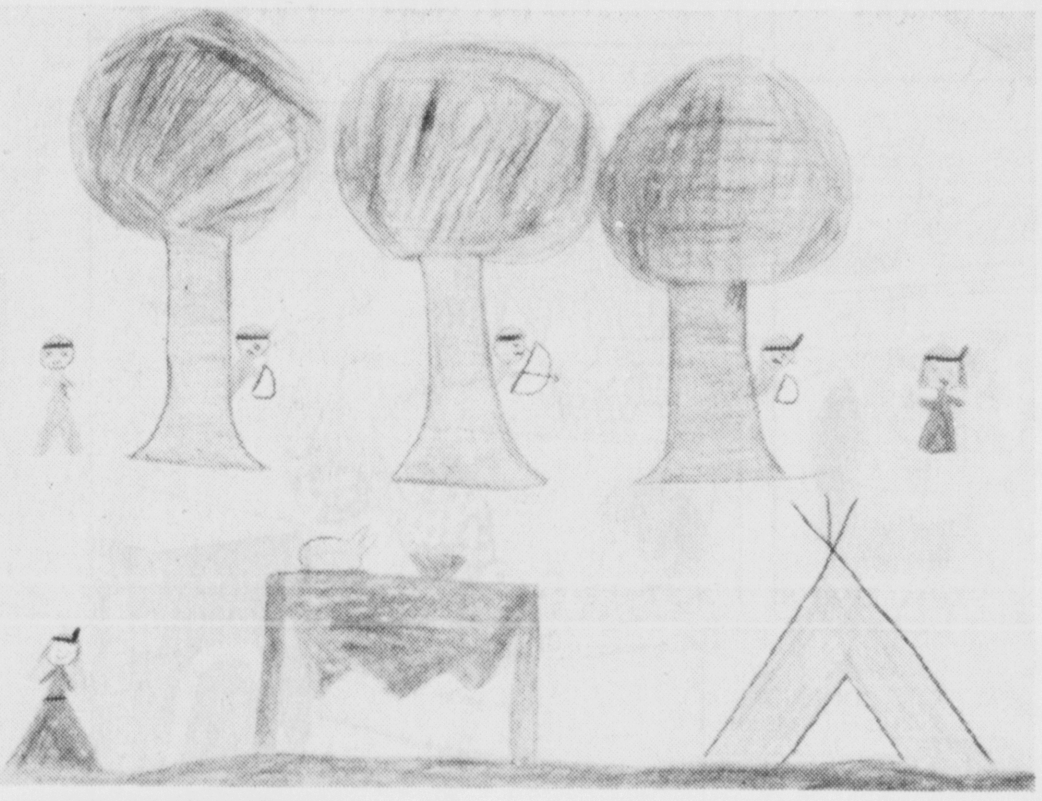
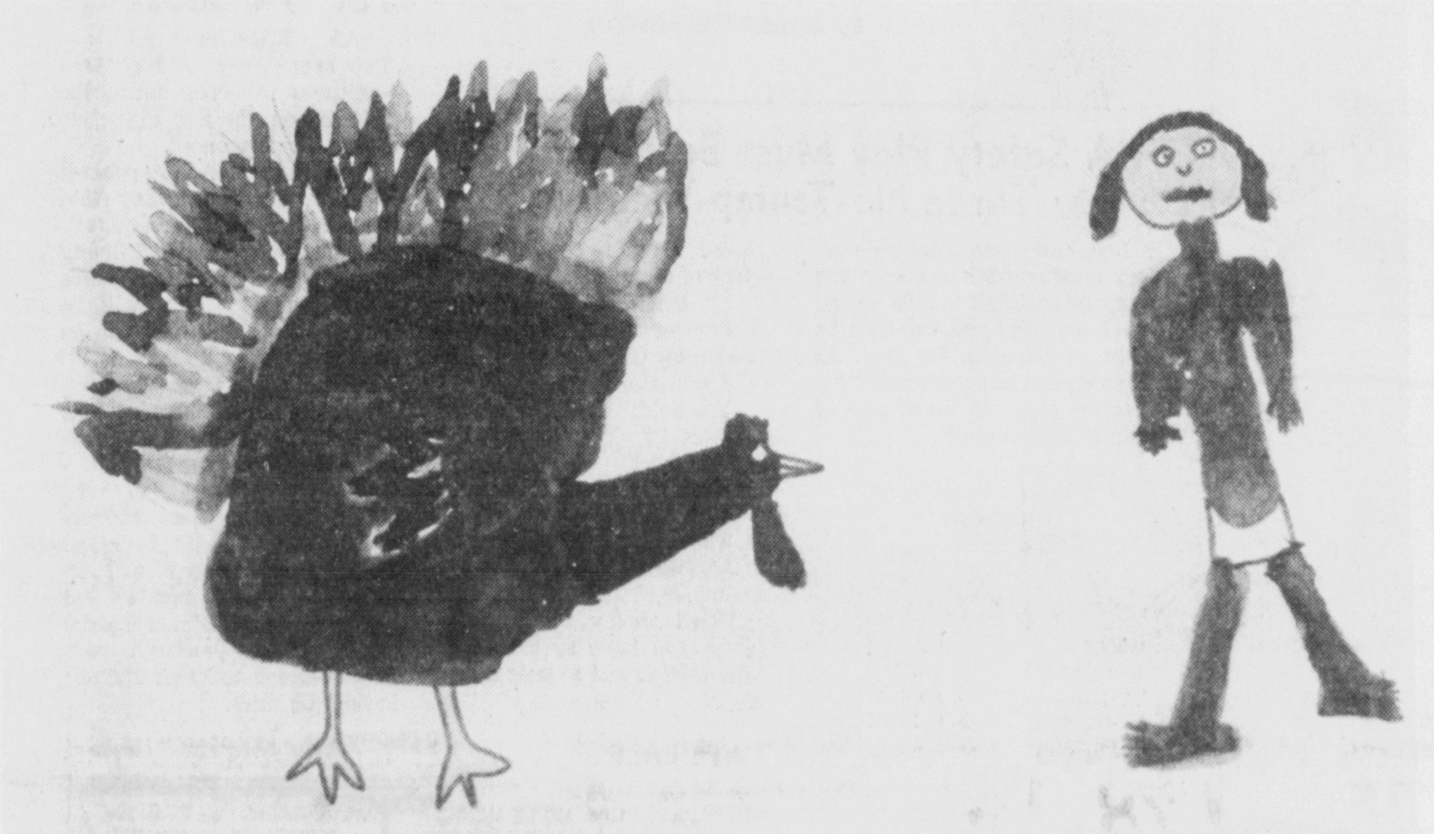
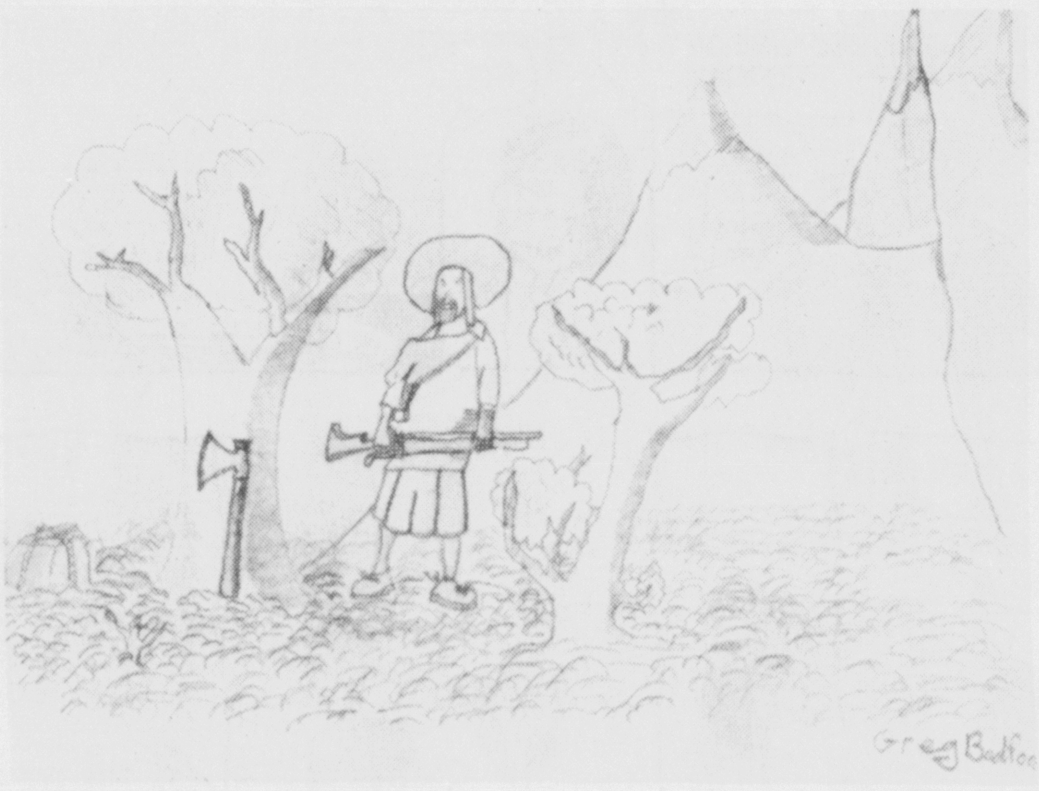
HISTORIC SHIP — Remember the Mayflower, the vessel which brought the Pilgrims (of Thanksgiving fame) to America? Paul Davainis, a third grader at the Larkspur-Corte Madera School, isn't old enough to recall the famous ship, but he used his imagination to recreate what it might have looked like, complete with two Pilgrims looking for land.



SOMEBODY'S MISSING — The first Thanksgiving feast, turkey and some salad, is on the table. But the Indians, pictured here in a drawing by Assunta Pacheco, a fourth grade student at Neil Cummins, are still hunting, perhaps trying to catch a few hors d'oeuvres for the meal. But where are the Pilgrims? Well, perhaps they haven't arrived yet, preferring to wait until the Indians have put down their bows and arrows.



HELLO, THERE — Nina Erwin, a fourth grader at Neil Cummins School, used her watercolor paints to depict an historic occasion — the first meeting of an Indian and a turkey. The bird seems interested in making friends, obviously not guessing what may be in store for him.



WHERE'S THE BIRD? — The Pilgrim father pictured here appears to be all ready to catch a turkey. He holds his blunderbuss and his axe is near at hand. But Greg Bedford, a Novato sixth grader who made the drawing didn't include a turkey in the scene. It may be that a whole flock of the birds is waiting just behind those scenic mountains in the background.

lived there. Then one fine Sunday night the minister had come by. And the minister said in a hurry that we must leave to somewhere else because the Kings men are coming. 'But how do you know that?' (the Pilgrims asked). 'I was riding my bike and I saw them coming here.' (the minister replied). "Come on, we must pack now.' So they left to American."—Krista Cooper, second grade, Dixie School, San Rafael.

"The Pilgrims were first in England, but the King wanted them to practice the King's religion. So they moved to Holland. But in Holland, their children were wearing wooden shoes. So they moved to America. They like it."—"Gail Rodich, first grade, Dixie School, San Rafael.

"When the Pilgrims were singing, the King's soldiers would bother the Pilgrims. And they couldn't stand it. So they moved away to another state. And they had fun."—Vicki Yarrow, second grade, Bernard Hoffman School, San Rafael.

"I like Thanksgiving. We celebrated long ago with the Indians. We are not having Indians (to dinner this year), but my grandmother is coming."—Kristine Matisek, first grade, Mary Silveira School, San Rafael.

Often children used poetry—and a good bit of poetic license—to tell their thoughts about the holiday:

"Thanksgiving Day is coming near
Everyone likes Thanksgiving Day

"Cranberries are red,
Violets are blue,
I hope your Thanksgiving
Is not suffered with the flu."—Trevor Giles, fifth grade, Neil Cummins.

"We all should be thankful for the food we eat,
It makes us grow tall, smart and neat.
We all should be thankful for the clothes we wear,
They are to keep us warm and mad when they tear.
We all should be thankful for our home warm and nice,
To go out in the cold makes us feel like ice!
Let's all get together and do what we can
To make this world better for beast and for man."—Lori Rogers, fifth grade, Larkspur-Corte Madera School, Larkspur.

"She caught me in the act,
Stealing the turkey's back,
She caught me in the act,
Putting it back on the rack.
She missed me in the act,
Trying to steal it back.
She taught me a lesson

Many youngsters focussed their thoughts on the turkey and a few were very sympathetic to the bird's plight on a day which is supposed to be a joyous occasion for all.

"I do not like Thanksgiving because they kill so many turkeys. How would you like to be a turkey and get killed?" Jeffrey Bogard, second grade, Bernard Hoffman School, San Rafael.

"Big fat turkey,
Sitting in the hay,
And he heard a car drive away.
He wished he could go,
But today
Was Thanksgiving Day." Richard Kohler, third grade, Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

"There once was a fat, plump turkey
Who ate three pounds of beef jerkey.
They cut him all up,
Found he'd eaten a pump
And thought his insides looked murkey."—Jeff Crampton, third grade, Neil Cummins.

"There was a turkey named Eddie,
He gave away his spaghetti,
He threw it away,
He starved the next day,
And that was the end of Eddie."—Andrea Kelley, third grade, Neil Cummins.

"The turkey is sad on Thanksgiving Day because he is going to be eaten. And he doesn't like it on Thursday, because he doesn't want to be eaten. The turkey is afraid because he doesn't like to be shot."—Tammy Guendner, third grade, Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

"Once upon a time, there was a town which had no turkeys. So this town did not have Thanksgiving. Most people called it a dumb town. So the people who lived in the town felt bad. The town was called Reddall town. One day a turkey wandered into Reddall town and the people didn't know what it was. So they called the doctors to ask them what it was. They said it was a turkey. The people of Reddall town were happy. They bred the turkey. Soon they had lots of turkeys. They let them go so every Thanksgiving they caught a turkey and ate it and Reddall town was never called dumb again."—Martha Stanek, second grade, Dixie School, San Rafael.

It was clear from many of the stories and poems that their authors were looking forward to the holiday with great eagerness.

"Thanksgiving is coming. Hip hip pray. Thanksgiving is coming! I am going skiing for Thanksgiving. Thanks to the Indians and Pilgrims and turkeys."—Jeff Woodhead, second grade, Granada School.

"I love Thanksgiving day, because we get to go to my grandmother's house and my mom and grandmother are GREAT cooks. Sometimes my grandmother takes me to the Farmers Market and she gives me an apple turnover. One day I saw Gobbel, your friendly neighborhood turkey. He was going shopping for his family."—Tracey Palmer, third grade, Granada School.

"The leaves are falling, the sky is gray,
But inside my home is warm and gay.
And, as we start to eat, my father ceased,
We had forgotten to say a prayer

Youngsters had an almost infinite variety of things to be thankful for. Meliss Jane Remis, a fourth grader at Neil Cummins, for example, was grateful this year "because the dog did not get run over."

Kindergarteners at Granada School showed their individuality in the things they are thankful for this year:

"Submarines and statues."—Matthew Lewin.

"Rain and food."—Nicole Fall.

"Light, cup, pencil and toilets."—Grant Kalinowski.

"Flowers and roses and carrots and grass and for Pilgrims and black clouds and a little bud blooming."—Joyce Bernhoft.

"My brother, my egg and a snowman."—Cheryl Snyder.

"Apples, pencils and a cat named Ming."—Sarah Gosling.

Smog Officials Asked To Rule Pollution Curbs In Conferences

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BENICIA — Bay Area smog officials were urged yesterday by Exxon Oil Co. to enforce pollution regulations through private "office conferences" and "administrative variances" instead of public prosecution in the courts.

"A cooperative relationship on such problems," according to the Exxon refinery's technical manager, Robert E. Lee, "should be more productive in cleaning the air than (efforts) expended in developing or combatting punitive actions."

He and other company officials made the suggestions at a meeting with the Air Pollution Control District's enforcement procedures committee and got mixed reactions.

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair, a member of the five-man committee, praised the proposed changes for handling minor matters. There is no reason for the district's hearing board to be burdened "with this type of garbage," he said.

A contrary opinion, however, came from Napa County Supervisor John Tuteur. He recalled the district staff used to exempt industry from regulations in past years, but the practice led to public criticism that the staff was "too heavily involved in listening just to industry's views."

Stating the staff had a tendency to "bend over backwards" to adcommodate industry, Tuteur said the result was "a tendency to be unfair to the taxpayers' side."

The third member present, Benicia Mayor James Lemos, sided with St. Clair. Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Mountain View City Councilman William R. Jelavich were absent.

The district's deputy director of enforcement, Thomas F. Brennan, noted the staff issued administrative variances until challenged about two years ago by a Berkeley attorney. To resume the practice presumably would take new state law.

Brennan said the staff had been issuing the variances on its own without realizing a code section allowing the practice had expired.

Lee argued the district's tough enforcement procedures that can lead to fines should be reserved for polluters who refuse to clean up their emissions.

He pointed to the refinery's investment to date of $15.4 million in air pollution controls. Adding $6 million spent on water pollution controls and another $10.4 million to be spent next year on more air pollution controls, the environmental protection tab will come to $26.4 million.

A Safety Play Must Be Found For Three No-Trump Victory

Sometimes you don't need every possible trick in a suit; you may be satisfied to give up one trick provided you can then be sure of winning the rest. In such cases you should look for a "safety play" to make sure of the tricks you need.

NEEDS DIAMONDS

South needs four diamond tricks to assure his game contract in no-trump. He can make almost any play in diamonds and still land on his feet if the suit breaks 3-2. The question is how he can make sure of four diamond trucks if the suit breaks 4-1.

The absolutely safe play is to begin by cashing dummy's king of diamonds. This protects South against a singleton queen.

If only small diamonds fall, South gets to his hand with the ace of hearts and leads a low diamond toward dummy. If West happens to have the rest of the diamonds, he can take his queen, but dummy's jack and South's ace will clear the suit without further loss.

EQUALLY SUCCESSFUL

This play is equally successful when East has the rest of the diamonds, as shown. West shows out, and dummy's jack is played. East takes the queen, but South can get to dummy with the king of hearts to lead a diamond for a finesse through the ten.

Incidentally, the correct play of the diamonds also dictates the correct play in spades. Declarer must win the first trick in dummy with the king of spades. Then he cashes the king of diamonds, leads a heart to the ace and returns a low diamond.

WEST'S ACTION

The reason is that West might have all of the missing diamonds at this stage. He would put up the queen and return a club to force out South's ace. South would therefore need the ace of spades to get back to his hand after taking dummy's jack of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- K 4 3
♥- J 9 5 2
♦- K J 3
♣- K 8 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no-trump.

Don't worry about hearts when you have such balanced distribution and so poor a heart suit.

He'll Work For Christians Again

He will work for Mrs. Donna Wuttken, who is a recreational therapy assistant at the Doctors' Hospital nursing complex.

In past years Rosen, who makes his living as a salesman, has filled in as a bartender, a disc jockey and a hospital attendant so Christians could be home with their families on Christmas Eve.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, Nov. 22, the 326th day of 1973 with 39 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

French statesman and military leader Charles de Gaulle was born Nov. 22, 1890.

On this day in history:

In 1960, the U.S. Navy launched the "Ethan Allen," at that time the most powerful nuclear submarine in the world.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas by Lee Harvey Oswald. Vice President Lyndon Johnson was sworn in as chief executive a short time later.

In 1972, a 22-year ban on American travel to communist China was lifted by President Richard Nixon.

A thought for the day: Union Civil War Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman said, "I am tired and sick of war. Its glory is all moonshine. It is those who neither fired a shot nor heard the shrieks and groans of the wounded who cry aloud for blood, more vengeance, more is desolation. War is hell."

Rare Massenet Opera Scheduled For '74 Season

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two operas new to Bay Area audiences will open during the 1974 season, the San Francisco Opera has announced.

Kurt Herbert Adler, general director, said yesterday that Massenet's "Esclarmonde", which because of its difficulty has only been performed once in the United States, will be sung by Joan Sutherland in an effort to attract nationwide attention of opera fans.

Verdi's "Luisa Miller" will be performed with the young Italian soprano Katia Ricciarelli.

Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" will be shown in an entirely new production with Leontyne Price "Don Giovanni" will appear with a cast new to San Francisco and "Tristan und Isolde" will be produced with Brigit Nilsson and Jess Thomas in the title roles.

A Dictionary Of Truck Driver Slang

DENVER (UPI) — The American Trucking Association has a dictionary of truck drivers' slang and here are a few examples:

Housing In Mill Valley Major Key

The single most serious problem facing Mill Valley today is the availability of housing for an economically mixed population, according to the Mill Valley Human Rights Committee.

That conclusion is central to a report which the committee has written this month and submitted to a citizens committee preparing a housing element for the new Mill Valley General Plan.

The human rights committee, under chairman Edith Freeman, said it finds "no necessary contradiction between the goals of land preservation and adequate housing for all . . ."

The committee said that 1,117 welfare recipients live in Mill Valley but asks "in what kinds of crowded unhealthy conditions are they eking out an existence?"

One of the natural beauties of Mill Valley is its diverse population of old and young; artists, professionals and business people; affluent and poor, according to the committee.

To maintain and increase this mixture, the committee recommended several methods:

Encourage building moderate and low income housing using private fund sources such as the Ford Foundation now that federal housing subsidies are drying up.

Scatter low and moderate income housing through the city instead of massing it in one spot.

Permit more "mother-in-law apartments" in garages and second stories of houses.

Control the future cost of moderate and low income units so that if resold their prices remain within reach of the people for whom they were designed.

If the general plan limits future growth, be sure that it assigns a high priority to having the less advantaged live in and move into Mill Valley.

Tainted Mushroom Fears Result In Food Recalls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said yesterday the Hormel Co., of Austin, Minn., is recalling products ranging from chicken chow mein to salisbury steak because they may contain tainted mushrooms.

The FDA said Hormel was supplied with mushrooms from more than one source, but one of them was Avondale Industries Inc., Avondale, Pa. The Avondale firm has been recalling its institutional-sized cans of mushrooms since September, when the FDA found botulin poison in one can.

As a precaution, the FDA said, Hormel is recalling four products made Between Dec. 15, 1971, and Sept. 30, 1972. All are large-sized batches made for hotels, restaurants and other institutional customers.

The four products are Hormel Chicken Chow Mein, Hormel Pork Chow Mein, Hormel Salisbury Steak with Mushroom Gravy," and Hormel Meatballs with Mushroom Gravy.

The company said the products were distributed nationally but it believed few if any are still unused. No figures were available on how many cases are involved, the FDA said.

Airport's Force Will Take Over Security Chores

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Anti-hijack chores at the International Airport will be taken over by the airport's own security force starting Dec. 2.

The job has been performed by federal marshals and customs agents since the new regulations went into effect Feb. 6 because former San Mateo County Sheriff Earl Whitmore refused to grant peace officer status to airport police.

Airports director William Dwyer told the Airports Commission Tuesday, however, "The new sheriff of San Mateo, John McDonald, has granted peace officer status to our airport police, so the problem is over."

A downtown Tiburon plant-in which was cancelled last weekend because of rain has been rescheduled for Saturday at 9 a.m. beginning in the city hall parking lot, according to Don S. Pickett, chairman of the city's beautification committee.

The committee, which plans to refurbish city planter boxes, will also hold a shoreline cleanup at noon on the same day beginning in Blackie's Pasture on Tiburon Boulevard near Trestle Glen Boulevard.

A RECORD

Seals Fall To Giacomin

NEW YORK (AP) — Steady Eddie Giacomin is in the Ranger record book but he knows it's just temporary.

"They say that records are made to be broken and they're right," said Giacomin after tying the club career record for shutouts with a 3-0 victory over California last night.

"It's nice to be a leader, but I know it won't last. I'm sure someday somebody will break my records. Who knows? Maybe next year some 20-year-old kid will come along for the Rangers like a house afire and before long, he'll have the record."

The 34-year-old Giacomin turned away 24 California shots to notch his 47th career shutout — tops among active National Hockey League goalies. It was his second straight whitewash and his third of the season, and tied him with Davey Kerr who also compiled 47 shutouts for New York from 1934-41.

"I thought it was going to be a long night at the start. I just didn't have that good feeling tonight like I did the other night," admitted Giacomin.

"We played a little sloppy near the end and I was just waiting for someone to get in close and score. I didn't really know I had it until the final buzzer."

Giacomin was tested several times by the Seals. Twice in the second period he made spectacular stops on Stan Weir from short range, and midway through the third period he barely deflected a slap shot by Ivan Boldirev on a power play.

"At one point in the third period I was down on the ice, looking around for the puck, and I found it lying on top of me," he said with a grin.

"Giacomin is just an outstanding goalkeeper," said New York coach Larry Popein. "When we fell down, he picked us up. He held them at bay and he was even starting plays out there."

New York got all the offense it needed from its revitalized GAG line — center Jean Ratelle and wingers Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield. Ratelle scored his eighth goal of the season early in the first period and got his ninth early in the second — both coming on deflections of shots by Dale Rolfe from the point.

New York could have done a lot more damage if young Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche hadn't had one of his better nights. Meloche stopped 33 Ranger shots, including several from point-blank range.

"This Meloche is an exceptional goal-keeper," said Popein. "I was very impressed with him. He moves extremely well and he stands right in there."

"Meloche always plays that way," said California coach Fred Glover. "He has to make 50 saves a night for us sometimes."

New York	1	2	0	— 3

First period—1. New York, Ratelle 8 (Rolfe, Gilbert) 1:24. Penalties: McAneeley 4:33, Neilson 10:09, Seiling 13:18, Murray 19:46.

Second period—2. New York, Gilbert 7 (Park, Sacharuk) 0:50; 3. New York, Ratelle 9 (Rolfe, Vickers) 5:10. Penalties: None.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties: Tkaczuk 10:13, Stemkowski 16:59.

Shots on goal by:

California	8	9	7	— 24
New York	11	15	7	— 33

Goaltenders—California, Meloche; New York, Giacomin.

MASKED BANDIT — New York Rangers' star goalie Ed Giacomin last night fell to the ice in New York while blocking a shot by California's Hilliard Graves (16). Seals' Stan Weir (21) and Stan Gilbertson closed in for possible rebound shots, but the standout masked goalie thwarted their efforts in the Rangers' 3-0 National Hockey League victory.

DESPITE TROUBLES

'We're Not 3-7 Club,' Nolan Says

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "We're not a 3-7 club," maintains Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers.

Expressing disappointment at the course of the 1973 season, Nolan says he will use both Joe Reed and Steve Spurrier at quarterback against the Green Bay Packers in Monday night's game at Candlestick Park.

"The job is still open between Joe and Steve," said Nolan. "Steve will play some in our remaining games. It's possible he may even play against the Packers.

Some observers said Spurrier has lost some of his enthusiasm in recent practice sessions because of his lack of playing time behind Reed.

With John Brodie retiring at the end of the season, Nolan says he will build the future 49ers around spurier and Reed without trading for another quarterback. But he indicated that other players shouldn't be too sure of their futures with the 49ers.

"I'm thinking about trades in other areas," said Nolan "but I'm not going to go into detail about them right now."

Oldest Pair Take Lead In World Cup Golf Play

MARBELLA, Spain (UPI) — Argentina's Fidel de Luca and Roberto de Vicenzo, the oldest pair in a field of 49 teams, today took the lead in the World Cup by shooting 69 and 68 respectively for a first-round aggregate of 137.

The defending champions, Hsieh Min-Nan and Lu LiangHuan of Taiwan, scored 71 and 67 for a first round total of 138 in the four-day, 72-hole tournament.

Lu's five-under-par 67 tied the record for the difficult, 6,905-yard Nueva Andalucia course and put him in the lead in individual standings.

Thailand and South Africa each scored 140—Thailand's Pradana Ngarmprom shooting 72 and his partner Sukree Onchum 68, and South Africa's Gary Player scoring 69 and Hugh Baiocchi 71.

The United States and Spain each totalled 142. Jack Nicklaus shot a 69 and Johnny Miller a 73, while Valentin Barrios carded a 69 for Spain and his partner Angel Gallardo a 73.

In individual standings, De Vicenzo and Onchum were tied for second at 68 among the field of 98. Nicklaus was tied at 69 with three other players— Barrios, Player and DeLuca.

Nicklaus and Miller were the pre-tournament favorites although strong challenges were expected from the Taiwan and South African teams.

Hsieh, who also won individual honors to add to the team title in last year's World Cup at Melbourne, attacked the flag all the way Wednesday to win the Professional Division of the Pro-Am tournament.

The short, shrewd Hsieh scored 67 to tie the record for the difficult 6,905-yard, par-72 Nueva Andalucia course. He had an eagle three on the par-five third hole and exploded out of a bunker for a birdie three on the par-four 14th.

Miller shot a 71, and Nicklaus, still pacing and charting the course on which he was playing only his second round, a 77.

"The course is in excellent condition but not conducive to low scoring," Nicklaus said.

Still, on the basis of performances this year, the U.S. pair was overwhelmingly rated favorites by golf officials assembled here. Miller, the current U.S. Open champ, appeared to be satisfied with his game, especially with his putting on the fast and tricky course designed by Robert Trent Jones.

One thing worrying officials was the weather, which has been unseasonably cool and wet. Today's forecast was for cloudy skies with possible rain and high winds.

With many players still trying to get acquainted with the course, Pro-Am results did not appear to be overly conclusive.

Still, adding up pros scores in the Pro-Am tournament produced some good hints as to the form of the teams.

South Africa's pair had the lowest score with Baiocchi shooting a 69 and Player a 71 for an aggregate of 140. Adding Hsieh's 67 to Lu's 74, Taiwans pros totalled 141 in the Pro-Am.

Japan's Toru Nakamura, at 22 the youngest player in the field, and his team-mate Isao Aoki both had 71s, which gave the runner-up team of the 1972 World Cup a theoretical 142 — the same aggregate as New Zealand's two pros, Simon Owen with 68 and Dennis Clark with 74.

Miller's 71 and Nicklaus' 77 added up to 148, eight strokes more than Baiocchi and Players' 140.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Gonsalves Appointed

Head basketball and baseball coach Dave Gonsalves yesterday was named director of athletics at Marin Catholic High School, according to Rev. Francis Lacey, the school's principal.

Gonsalves replaces Rev. John Heaney, who was appointed administrator of St. Rita's Parish in Fairfax. Rev. Heaney took over his new job Saturday, just after the football season concluded. He will continue to teach religion at the school until the end of the semester.

Gonsalves was selected over six other applicants for the athletic director position on the basis of "the job he has done in positions he has held at the school, both in the classroom and coaching, his length of time at the school, and the fact that he is more well known that most other applicants throughout the league," Rev. Lacey said.

"I'm sure he'll do a good job," he added. "We are sorry to lose Father Heaney, but when you're called, you go in our business."

Rev. Heaney, 46, conceded that the move probably would end his involvement in athletics except on the parish level. "It's been a happy point of my life," he said, "but there comes a time when you have to get out."

Rev. Heaney coached football, basketball, baseball and golf at Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco, and was head and assistant football coach at Marin Catholic, including assistant coach this year.

He was appointed athletic director in May, 1972, succeeding Gary Hughes, and was known for his efforts to return Marin Catholic to the Marin County Athletic League in football.

REV. JOHN HEANEY
A new position

Gonsalves, 30, said this morning he will continue in his coaching and social science teaching positions this year, "But I'll look over my position at the end of the year to see if I can handle the coaching and A.D. duties. If I can't, I can turn over some coaching duties. I'm teaching five classes now, but I'll be relieved in two classes when possible."

The University of San Francisco history graduate admitted he was surprised by Rev. Heaney's departure. "It was surprising in that it was right in the middle of the year. But I consider it a challenge; and we have some good, young coaches who can help us out here. They've already promised to give their support."

The social science instructor, in his seventh year at Marin Catholic, plans to remain with the Wildcats' program "as long as I can."

Regarding his new position, Gonsalves outlined two thoughts. "We'll be adding an equipment manager. Other schools have one, and we do need one." His second idea related to football. "We play six of the seven (Marin County Athletic) league teams next year; so we'll find out how we stand in football then," he concluded, referring to his school's position on possibly rejoining the MCAL in football.

Spurs, Pacers Play 30-Second Game

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — On Dec. 2 the San Antonio Spurs will play the Indiana Pacers in an American Basketball Association game. The contest will last only 30 seconds. The score will be 83-81 when the game begins and San Antonio will have the ball out of bounds.

This unprecedented arrangement was ordered yesterday by ABA Commissioner Mike Storen, the first time in the seven-year history of the ABA a protest was upheld by the commissioner's office.

The protest was lodged by the Spurs because of a game played Nov. 14 which Indiana won 84-83 with a three-point goal in the closing minutes of the game.

The Spurs contended they had 10 seconds to get the ball past midcourt from the time they put the ball in play at the 30 second mark and Storen upheld this claim yesterday.

Storen ordered the clock set at 30 seconds, the shot clock set at 26 seconds and that the Spurs be given 10 seconds to get the ball past midcourt. The game will be played prior to the regularly scheduled Spurs-Pacers game that night.

General Manager Jack Anderson said the Spurs has also signed free agent Chuck Terry, a second-year player from Long Beach State who was placed on waivers by the National Basketball Association's Milwaukee Bucks. Terry played only 32 minutes this season with the Bucks.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Penn State's Poor Plight: Not On TV

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Coach Joe Paterno's boys find themselves in a unique position this holiday weekend. The sixth ranked Nittany Lions, seeking their 11th straight victory Saturday against bitter rival Pittsburgh, are the only member of this week's Top 10 who will not appear on television.

To the delight of the American Broadcasting Company, which televises five games in the space of three days beginning today, all of the teams involved, with the exception of Air Force, are ranked among UPI's Top 10.

SCHEDULE

The college football fans' dream gets underway today at 1:20 p.m. EST with fifth ranked Notre Dame entertaining overmatched Air Force. At 6:30 p.m. EST, second ranked Alabama meets seventh ranked Louisiana State at Baton Rouge to decide the Southeastern Conference title.

Thanks to some pre-season smooth-talking by ABC-TV, Oklahoma and Nebraska were convinced to hold their traditional Thanksgiving Day clash one day later this year so fans lucky enough to get Friday off from work can witness the third ranked Sooners attempt to lock up the Big Eight title at the expense of the 10th-ranked Cornhuskers.

DOUBLEHEADER

Saturday's doubleheader, which will decide the representatives for the Rose Bowl and possibly the national champion as well, will kickoff with top ranked Ohio State taking on fourth ranked Michigan for the Big Ten crown followed by the battle between eighth ranked UCLA and ninth ranked Southern California for the Pacific Eight title.

Notre Dame, which has a New Year's Eve date with Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, boasted an 8-0 record and was conceded a four touchdown favorite over 6-3 Air Force.

Quarterback Tom Clements was expected to be recovered from an injury he suffered in Notre Dame's victory over Pittsburgh Nov. 11. The rest of the Irish backfield was Art Best, Eric Penick and Wayne Bullock, who had his best day against Pittsburgh with 167 yards and three touchdowns. The Falcons rely on the passing of quarterback Rich Haynie and the running of Chris Milodragovich, Mike Mark and Bill Berry.

MISMATCH

"I guess maybe if you look at it on paper, I don't guess there's any reason for us to play the game, because offensively and defensively and in the kicking game ... they outrank the Tigers in every phase," said McClendon.

STATISTICS

Alabama leads the Southeastern Conference in total offense, total defense, rushing offense and scoring. The Tide has a 387 yards per game rushing average, over 500 yards per game in total offense and has averaged 44.2 points per game.

Eleventh-ranked Texas is also in action today as the Longhorns, 18-point favorites, look to lock up another Southwest Conference title at the expense of Texas A&M.

NEVERS TRIBUTE TUESDAY

There will be a special tribute for Ernie Nevers of Tiburon when the American Sports Club of San Francisco holds a Pro Football Hall of Fame night Tuesday at Hyatt Hotel on Union Square.

Other honorees include Hall of Famers Jack Christiansen, Stanford football coach, and former 49er stars Hugh McElhenny, Joe Perry, Y. A. Tittle and Leo Nomellini.

Entertainment also will be provided by a part of Stanford's marching band, Red Garter Band, and the Niner Nuggets.

Tickets for the dinner cost $10 and reservations must be made with the American Sports Club at 345 Stockton Street, San Francisco. Cocktails start at 6:30, followed by the dinner at 8 o'clock.

No QB Change Set By Raiders' Madden

OAKLAND (UPI) — Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders doesn't plan to change quarterbacks against the San Diego Chargers on Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum.

Ken Stabler will open at quarterback with Marv Hubbard and Charlie Smith at running back. And John Vella may start at right tackle in place of Bob Brown, who injured his right ankle two weeks ago against Pittsburgh. Brown worked out for the first time yesterday but admitted he was still hurting.

The Raiders have scored only one touchdown in losing their last two games to Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Despite this, Oakland still leads the American Football Conference in total offense.

"The problems in the last two games have been different," said Madden. "Against Pittsburgh, we moved the ball well but kept turning it over. Against Cleveland, we didn't make the mistakes but we couldn't get the yards. We converted only one of 15 third-down situations."

Faculty In Donkey Cage Win

Bill Ingram's layup with 24 seconds left gave the Drake High School faculty and San Anselmo Police Department a 44-42 donkey basketball win over he Fairfax Police last night before some 1,200 cheering fans.

"You can't do much but make layups when playing on donkeys," said Pete Hayward, head basketball coach and Drake Lettermen Club advisor, referring to the frosh football coach's winning shot.

Will Curley maneuvered his rubber horseshoe-clad donkey well enough to muster a game high of 10 points. Some $600 was raised for the Lettermen Club, according to Hayward.

St. Anselms defeated St. Rita's, 28-21, in a Catholic Youth Organization preliminary game.

Stanford Steals 'Big Game' Axe

STANFORD (AP) — Not that it'll matter much when California and Stanford take to the gridiron Saturday, but Stanford has stolen the traditional "Big Game" axe.

The axe belonged to the Bears by virtue of a Cal victory in last year's traditional meeting, but Stanford managed Tuesday to pull off the eighth heist in the 74-year history of the 50-pound axe. The last theft was Cal's in 1966.

Howard Payne Takes Post-Season Offer

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI) — Lone Star Conference runnerup Howard Payne accepted an invitation yesterday to play a post-season football game in Mexico City Saturday.

The Yellow Jackets, who finished with an 8-3 record, will play an All-Star team from the Nationale University of Mexico's three colleges.

Petaluma Wants Hornets As Prey

While insects are not traditional American holiday fare, Petaluma High School's football team is looking forward to putting away some Hornets in a post-Thanksgiving meal tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on Santa Rosa's Bailey Field.

The Hornets in question are those from Novato High School, who earned the right to meet the Trojans in the second annual Top of the Bay Bowl by shutting out five straight Marin County Athletic League opponents to win the MCAL championship.

For the Trojans, who won their second consecutive North Bay League title and compiled a 9-0 season record, it will be a repeat appearance in the bowl. Last year, they battled Terra Linda High School to a 7-7 tie.

"We're mentally more ready to play this game than we were last year," commented Petaluma coach Tony Kehl, who was voted Coach of the Year in the NBL for the second straight year.

While Novato runs a different offense and defense than Terra Linda, and thus poses different problems, the Trojans will field essentially the same lineup and formations as in last year's game.

Petaluma basically uses a pro-set offense, led by All-League quarterback Tim Wallmark. When Wallmark passes (which he did for over 1,000 yards in league), he can throw to All-League split end Rich Schroeder, flanker Gary Busby and tight end Steve Hernandez.

Leading the Trojans' ground game is Mike Maselli, who was named NBL Back of the Year for the second time in a row. Maselli is doubly dangerous as he is a sure-handed receiver. Don White is a big fullback who complements the running of Maselli with power up the middle.

Making all the holes for Maselli, White and company is an offensive line which Kehl calls outstanding. Anchoring it are All-League selections Ron Simmons and Dave Bordessa, along with Mike Swaney (honorable mention), Jack Ryno and center Stan Highstreet.

The Petaluma defense is not nearly as spectacular as Novato's, at least not statistically, with just one shutout (7-0) against Drake High School; ironically, Drake was the only MCAL school to beat the Hornets (20-14 on Oct. 13).

Nevertheless, the Trojans have been tough to score upon, as their 7.9 point per game yeild will attest to. The most points anyone scored on Petaluma all season was 14 by Vallejo High School.

The Trojans placed three players on the All-League defensive team: end Jim Judd, linebacker Highstreet and safety John Alejos. Named to the honorable mention squad were linebackers Gordy Ross and Craig Getty and lineman Andy Mossi, 240-pound tackle.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — San Rafael's Sharon Walsh yesterday lost to Los Angeles' Kris Kemmer, 6-1, 6-4, in the third round of the South African Open Tennis Tournament.

Bowl Games Lose Luster

By BILL MADDEN

Even with an 0-10 record his team might have been invited.

'Tis the season, of course, where bowl promoters across the country, bubbling over with enthusiasm, are scrambling about to fill their post-season "classics" with what they call "good attractions." Translated, that means the teams which will bring in the most fans and make the most money for everybody involved.

This explains partly why the official "bid date" set down by the National Collegiate Athletic Association is completely ignored by both the colleges and the bowl promoters. After all, nobody ever made a big buck by watching his competitors hire off all the best people.

So if the premature leaks of the Sugar and Orange Bowl bids surprised you, they really shouldn't have. But what transpired between Orlando and Gainesville, Fla. early this week had to raise eyebrows from even the most cynical of college bowl-watchers.

In a nutshell here's what happened to the Tangerine Bowl, which is supposedly played in Orlando, Fla. unbeaten Miami of Ohio, winner of the mid-America conference (which has committed itself to the Tangerine Bowl) was officially extended its bid on Monday. Then, the Tangerine Bowl people, fearful of taking a financial bath at Orlando's 19,000-seat stadium, extended a bid to the local favorite, the University of Florida (record 5-4).

U. of Florida officials agreed to go but with one condition — the site had to be changed to a bigger stadium that could house the large group of fans they would supply.

"Why not move it to our own 65,000-seat stadium here in Gainesville?" the Florida folks suggested.

"Fine," said the Tangerine Bowl committee. And so Miami of Ohio, which had hoped for at least a nationally-ranked bowl opponent to prove the validity of its 10-0 record will in effect play another "home" game on Florida's schedule with nothing to gain (prestige-wise) and almost everything to lose.

"This will definitely make it difficult for us," Miami athletic director Richard Shrider admitted. "We used regular turf all year long and expected to play this game on Orlando's regular turf. But at Gainesville, they have an artificial surface.

"The decision was made and we have to live with it though. But I think maybe they could have waited another week." (Florida still has two games remaining and could conceivably come into the game with five or even six losses).

Auburn (6-4 with Alabama still left to play), Tennessee (6-3 with two games to play), Missouri (7-3 with Kansas on the road still remaining on its schedule) and Kansas (6-3-1) all will be going to bowls this year which, if nothing else, strips that tiresome phrase "post season classic" of some of its lustre.

"As long as the colleges and the bowl people flagrantly ignore the bid date set down by us, they might as well just remove that foolish rule from the books," said Art Bergstrom, who heads up the NCAA's extra events committee.

"Last year we had a team (Iowa State) that wound up in a bowl with a 5-6 record. After they got their bid, they lost three straight games and then went to the bowl and lost that too."

"I always thought a bowl game was a reward for an outstanding season."

Bergstrom pointed out that the NCAA has no specific guidelines for how the bowls should be run except if "they cease to be an attraction — and if that were the case you'd hear 'em complain plenty about not making money."

Of course, what keeps all of these annual events — be it the rose or the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl — going are the television contracts. Only the Tangerine Bowl does not enjoy this luxury, which explains why a larger stadium filled with enthusiastic Florida fans did not deter the promoters from slipping Miami of Ohio a fast one.

"As far as I'm concerned, they might just as well issue all the bowl bids on Sept. 1," said Bergstrom, "and if a team goes 0-11, well, that's just tough."

Why not? At least that would give coaches like Frank Lauterbur one more chance at saving their jobs.

PREP NOTES

Interesting Marin Grid Race Has Three Winners

By LEW CODDINGTON

A very interesting football season it was, indeed. There were three winners, which is two more than can normally be expected.

Redwood High School stayed at the top, Novato got there, and Drake came so close that a feeling of buoyant exuberance probably will spill over into next season.

It was a season of tense, closely-fought, low-scoring games. The lowest scoring all, of course, was done by offenses trying to move against Novato, which racked up shutouts in its last five games.

If Novato led the league in defense, though, Redwood led in sang-froid. When cut, the Giants bled ice water. Though they had as many as nine players going both ways, they were much tougher in the fourth quarter than at any other time, coming from behind to win or sitting on narrow leads.

Redwood won league games by 6-0, 6-3, 26-22, 7-0 and 7-6. Lost in the general uproar about Novato's superlative defensive achievement is that Redwood has the best record in Marin, 8-2, despite severe graduation losses. The team's two-year record is 16-3, with back-to-back Marin County Athletic League co-championships.

Ironically, the Giants went to the Top of the Bay Bowl in neither year. Each time, they lost to the team which tied them for the title, 19-7 to Terra Linda last year and 12-0 to Novato this season.

Redwood's 7-6 victory was over Drake, and if the Pirates had succeeded on a two-point conversion try, they would have been 5-1 instead of 4-2, and would have gone to the Bowl. That's quite an improvement from 1-5 a year ago.

Drake's 20-14 victory over Novato back on Oct. 13 looks more amazing in retrospect than it did at the time — and it was amazing enough then. Remember the name of Matt Elliott. With 6:43 left in that game, he caught a 40-yard pass from Terry Fahey for the last touchdown scored against Novato.

Since then, the Hornets have gone 246 minutes and 43 seconds without allowing anybody inside their 18-yard-line. In five games, they have given up 27 first downs, 167 rushing yards in 113 tries, and 31 pass completions in 86 attempts with 11 interceptions. That's less than two yards a carry, and one out of every nine passes picked off.

BLANK — There were 10 shutouts posed in the MCAL this year in 21 games. Novato had five, Redwood two, Drake one, and Tamalpais and Terra Linda shut each other out. Teams scored under 10 points 22 times, more than half.

COMPARISON — MCAL teams finished with a 13-10 record against out-of-county rivals.

RECOMMENDATION — Redwood water polo coach Dennis Untermann came back shaking his head, bedazzled by the calibre of play at the south end of the Peninsula, as his Giants were eliminated from the Northern California Invitational in two games Saturday.

The chief reason for the difference, he says, is that those teams stay together and practice all year round, not just during the water polo season.

PREDICTION — My crystal ball, as usual, is filled with haze, clouds and other forms of pollution, but I dimly perceive that Novato will defeat Petaluma by one touchdown, in tomorrow's Top of the Bay Bowl.

REMINDER — Basketball season begins next Tuesday for Marin prep teams.

Wizard Wilt

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain was the all-time leader in six key categories while playing in the National Basketball Association — most field goals made, 12,681; most field goals attempted, 23,497; scoring average, 30.1; most minutes played, 47,859; most free throws attempted, 11,862, and most rebounds, 23,924.

IN BIG EIGHT FOOTBALL

5 More Backs Near 1,000 Yards

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Oklahoma sophomore sensation Joe Washington and Kansas State's Isaac Jackson eclipsed the 1,000-yard mark as rushers last week and as many as five more Big Eight runners could clear the magic figure before the season ends.

Washington has the league's best average, both per carry and per game. The Port Arthur, Tex., product has gained 1,006 yards in only 140 carries. That's 7.2 yards per carry and 111.8 yards per game.

Jackson became the top single-season rusher in Kansas State history last week and now has 1,048 yards for the season, an average of 104.8 per game. The senior from Macon, Ga., topped the previous school record of 1,028 yards by Cornelius Davis in 1966.

Should Clark and Steve Davis both join Washington as 1,000-yard rushers, it would be the first time in NCAA history one team has produced three backs who gained more than 1,000 yards.

Oklahoma, incidentally, is the only team ever to produce two 1,000-yard runners in one season before. That occurred in 1952 (Billy Vessels and Buck McPhail) and 1971 (Greg Pruitt and Jack Mildren).

David Jaynes of Kansas leads the Big Eight in passing and total offense. The Jayhawk senior from Bonner Springs, Kan., has completed 155 of 294 attempts for 1,958 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Jaynes has a minus 224 yards rushing, however, bringing his total offense production down to 1,734 yards. There's a threeway battle being waged for the total offense title. jaynes is averaging 173.4 yards per game, Steve davis of oklahoma is next with 166.6 and David Humm of Nebraska stands at 160.2.

Kansas' Emmett Edwards has the receiving championship locked up with 44 catches for 742 yards. He has 14 more catches and 239 yards more than runnerup Henry Childs of Kansas State.

Tony Davis, Nebraska's sophomore tailback, has taken the socring lead, thanks to a three-touchdown game against Kansas State. Davis has 78 points, six more than Steve Davis of Oklahoma. Oklahoma's Davis, however, has two more games, while Tony has only one.

Rookies Key Wins In ABA

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was youngsters' night in the American Basketball Association last night.

New faces played key roles in all four winning performances.

Reserves Jim O'Brien and Ron Thomas keyed a 48-point outburst in the final quarter as the Kentucky Colonels clobbered the Virginia Squires 145-115. O'Brien hit 8-of-9 shots and all four free throws to finish with a career-high 20 points. Thomas had 14 to back Dan Issel, who had 29, and Louis Dampier, who had 21. George Gervin led the Squires with 31 points.

Rookie Billy Schaefer hit a career high 18 points in the second half as he helped the New York Nets to a 105-92 triumph over the Utah Stars. Schaefer, who has seen little action this season, got a chance when rookie Larry Kenon ran into foul trouble.

Julius Erving had 28 points, 19 rebounds and six assists and John Roche added 19 points for New York while Willie Wise's 13 points were tops for Utah.

Rookie Charlie Edge hit 10 points and took down eight rebounds in the last quarter as the Memphis Tams upended the Indiana Pacers 108-99. Edge and Johnny Neumann, who led Memphis with 28 points, sparked a rally that pulled the Tams from a three-point deficit after three quarters. George McGinnis and Don Freeman had 24 each for the Pacers.

Dwight Lamar's 36 point carried the San Diego Conquistadors to a 139-125 victory over Carolina, the Cougars' worst defeat of the season. Backing up Lamar for San Diego were Stew Johnson with 24 points and Chuck Williams with 16. Billy Cunningham led Carolina with 22 points.

Surprises In Sailing Heat

HONG KONG (UPI) — The third heat of the 505 world sailing championships in Lamma Channel off Hong Kong produced some surprises today.

Australia's Mark Bethwaite seized on the one mistake by heat two winner Larry Marks of England to plane "Torrente" into the lead and eventually win by one minute 30 seconds under variable wind. Marks skippered "Granny Smith".

On the last lap America's J. Brauch, who sailed "Lemon Douche" into third position yesterday, slipped back to seventh place at the finish allowing first heat winner Peter White of England to put "Paralytic" into third place.

Australian supporters were jubilant when R. Dalgeish, who was back in eighth position, correctly read a wind shift and maneuvered "Big Boy" into fourth.

World champion Nicholas Loday of France ran out of luck today when his "Nienot Ni" hit a mark while in 13th position and on rebounding fouled Hong Kong champion C. Nater on "G". Loday lost his ninth position finish to D. Farrant of England on "Miss 9" when he was disqualified on Nater's protest.

There were four protests today and two non-starters.

There Is No Place Like Home In WHA

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

There's no place like home as far as the Winnipeg Jets are concerned.

The Jets increased their unbeaten streak at home to eight games this season when they whipped the Cleveland Crusaders 6-2 last night to maintain second place in the World Hockey Association's Western Division.

The victory was the seventh for the Jets at Winnipeg this season against one tie and was fashioned mainly on Chris Bordeleau's three goals, his seventh, eighth and ninth of the campaign.

In the only other WHA contest, Houston topped New England 4-1 to move into a tie with Minnessota for third place in the West, only one point behind Winnipeg and nine behind first place Edmonton.

Houston's Joe Szura, sidelined because of surgery, made his home ice debut this season a successful one when his first goal of the campaign snapped a 1-1 tie and led the Aeros past the Whalers. Szura also picked up an assist on a goal by Goride Howe that increased Houston's lead to 3-1.

Basketball Uniforms Too Sharp-Looking

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts, in its first year of basketball competition, has some sharp-looking uniforms — too sharp, in fact for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts was called for seven technical fouls because of its uniforms Wednesday night in its game against Texas Wesleyan here.

The NAIA passed a rule three years ago saying that uniforms may have only two colors and that numbers cannot be shadowed. OCLA's uniforms are blue, gold and white, one color too many.

Under the rule, every time OCLA coach John Hudson inserted a player in his lineup, the team was called for a technical foul. He used seven players and every time a new one entered the line-up, Texas Wesleyan was given a free throw.

Nate Double

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Nate Archibald of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings became the first player in the National Basketball Association to lead the league in scoring average and assists average during the same season when he fashioned 34.0 and 11.4 totals for the 1972-73.

Warriors Have Busy Road Trip

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors will hardly have a chance to digest their Thanksgiving dinner.

Starting tonight in Atlanta, they will play three games in three nights. Tomorrow night, they tackle the Philadelphia 76ers at Hershey, Pa., and then meet the Knicks in New York Saturday night.

Coming off a surprise 108-105 win over Milwaukee, the Warriors will try to collar Lou Hudson and Pete Maravich, who make the Hawks go. Maravich tops the National Basketball Association in scoring with a 29.2 average.

In the first meeting of the season between the Warriors and Hawks, Atlanta escaped with a 125-116 win.

Intrasquad Game At Sonoma State

Sonoma State College's 1973 basketball team will be unveiled Tuesday night at 7:30 on the Rohnert Park campus with the intrasquad "blue-white" game.

The format of the game hasn't been decided yet. It will be either a match between the varsity team and the junior varsity squad, or a game with two equal teams composed of varsity, junior varsity and freshmen players.

The game will be a pre-season warm-up for the Cossacks, who open their schedule Friday, Nov. 30, with the "Coca-Cola" Classic at Sonoma State.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Better Be-Leaf It

By LEE TREVINO

When the fall fallout hits a golf course, meaning leaves, you get some odd lies. It's like playing in Sherwood Forest, and hitting a ball off a layer of leaves requires some care.

Don't ground your club, bub. You're hooked with a penalty if that ball moves as a result of carelessness.

Shooting out of leaves is comparable to playing out of a fairway trap. Just take more club and give it an easier motion.

For example, if you estimate it's a 6-iron to the green from a leafy lie, choke down on a 5-iron. It'll give you a nice feeling of firmness.

The ball, in effect, is suspended in air, riding on the leaves. To sweep it off the leaves is a delicate shot, so just hit down on the ball. Your club ain't gonna hang on the leaves.

It's really not a hard or tricky shot. But it demands some attention at address because a careless club can make the leaves move.

Then the ball moves. And that'll cost you. You'd better to-leaf it.

SKI SCENE

The Controversy Of Squaw Valley

By CHARLIE COANE

Squaw Valley, which vaulted into world-wide prominence after hosting the 1960 Winter Olympic Games, certainly has had its share of controversy during the past few seasons. There are a number of skiers who just don't like to ski at Squaw.

"Too crowded," "Don't like the lifts," "Too much hassle," are the most common complaints against the Lake Tahoe ski resort which has more lifts than any area in the world. But Squaw also has an avid following and many Bay Area skiers won't ski anywhere else but Squaw. Whatever your personal feelings are toward Squaw, certainly no one will deny that the area has some of the finest runs found anywhere.

Squaw does not have a reputation as being an area particularly good for beginners — yet some of the finest beginner and intermediate slopes anywhere are found above the Gold Coast restaurant area, and those beginner runs are usually not crowded. The experts will find all they want, too, with the various faces of KT-22 and runs off the Red Dog and Headwall chairs.

To a new arrival, Squaw can present an imposing sight — with a cable car, gondola and chairlifts seemingly going everywhere. But, skiers who know the resort well will tell you it's the best place to go on a crowded weekend. This has some validity but you have to know where to go and when.

Last year, Squaw enjoyed its best season ever: ". . . business was up about 15 to 20 per cent," reports P.R. chief Hans Von Nolde. This season will not see any great changes at Squaw, but there are a number of noteworthy improvements. But, first the bad news. An even $10 is the tab now — and I guess its just a sign of the times. One thing that is sure to be noticed by many will be the doubling of restroom facilities in the Gold Coast restaurant. The Gondola now has 25 per cent more cars which, theoretically, will help solve a crowded situation.

A lot of skiers have said that the chairs on the Headwall lift slanted down, giving the feeling of sliding out. Apparently, the Squaw decision-makers felt the same way since those chairs have been redesigned. Cornice III and Exhibition chairs and towers have had some work done on them, and the beginner lift at East Broadway will now move faster. Some clearing of new trails will also be noticed, and more lifts will run during midweek.

Squaw will continue to offer free skiing to younsgers 12 and under when they are accompanied by a parent who buys a ticket.

And for hockey fans, the Reno Aces will play 18 to 20 games in the Squaw Valley Ice Arena, mostly on weekends.

A's Finley Fires Announcer Woods?

OAKLAND (AP) — Jim Woods, play by play announcer for the Oakland A;s for the past two years, says he has been fired by owner Charles O. Finley for not being "his type of announcer."

Finley fired him 15 days ago, Woods said Tuesday.

"I don't understand it," the crest-fallen announcer said. "I don't think I deserved it. I was always loyal to the man. I never criticized the man.

"He said he liked me personally, but said I wasn't his type of announcer. I said maybe it was because I was trained by Mel Allen when we were together with the Yankees, and eastern announcers are low-key . . ."

Woods said he and Finley parted on "very friendly" terms.

The next person to handle the A's games with Monte Moore will be his seventh partner. No successor had been chosen, Woods said.

Kings' Coach Cousy Resigns In NBA Action

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The press guide for the Kansas City-Omaha Kings describes Coach Bob Cousy as follows:

"Bob Cousy has always been a winner and expects his players to be the same."

With his team headed for its fifth straight losing season under his direction, Cousy, a standout player with the Boston Celtics for 13 years, finally called it quits last night when he revealed he was resigning as coach of the Kings. Cousy made his surprise announcement immediately after Kansas City-Omaha lost to Philadelphia 103-90 for the Kings' 14th loss in 20 games.

The 44-year-old Cousy, obviously frustrated and disappointed at his team's showing, said, "There comes a time in life when there's more to life than winning and losing and playing in basketball."

In four full seasons with Cousy as coach, the Kings had compiled a record of 135-193.

The loss to Philadelphia was the Kings' second in as many nights to the 76ers and dropped them 9½ games off the pace in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

Tom Van Arsdale scored 28 points and teammate Fred Carter chipped in with 26 to lead the 76ers while Nate Williams paced the Kings with 22.

In the only other NBA games, Detroit beat Phoenix 107-104 and Los Angeles downed Capital 106-97.

Bob Lanier's 29 points and 25 more by Don Adams led Detroit past Phoenix as the Suns dropped their 11th straight game on the road and suffered their 15th loss in 19 games. Lanier tallied 11 of his points in the final quarter and accounted for eight of the Pistons' last 10 points.

Charlie Scott and Neil Walk each scored 32 points for the Suns.

Los Angeles' Elmore Smith, who was benched early in the last quarter after picking up his fifth personal foul, returned late in the game to score five straight points and block two shots as the Lakers got by the Bullets.

Soccer Tourney In Marin

Youth soccer has been growing so rapidly in Marin that you can't tell the champions without a tournament anymore, so one will be held tomorrow through Sunday at four sites throughout the county.

There will be eight teams competing in each of three divisions — boys third and fourth grades, boys fifth-sixth and boys seventh-eighth.

Winner in each division will receive a perpetual trophy in memory of the late Frank Woods, a San Rafael resident who was "one of the initiators of the youth program in California," according to Bob Braghetta, tournament director and founder of the Marin Youth Soccer Association.

Play in the single-elimination tournament will begin tomorrow, generally at 3 p.m. Semifinals will be at various times Saturday morning and finals will be held Sunday: third-fourth at Wolfe Grade School at noon, fifth-sixth at Terra Linda High School at 2 p.m.; and seventh-eighth at Terra Linda at 3 p.m.

"It's a start," said Braghetta. "It's amazing how, in this short period of time (three years) this program has developed to this point."

Tomorrow's schedule of first-round games:

THIRD-FOURTH

At Ross School — Wolfe Grade vs. Kentfield, 2 p.m.; Greenbrae vs. Mill Valley, 1 p.m.; Ross "A" vs. San Anselmo, 3 p.m.; Ross "B" vs. Terra Linda, 4 p.m.

FIFTH-SIXTH

At Terra Linda High — Fairfax vs. San Anselmo, 3 p.m.; Wolfe Grade vs. Kentfield, 3 p.m.; Mill Valley vs. Marinwood, 4 p.m.; Greenbrae vs. Ross, 4 p.m.

SEVENTH-EIGHTH

At Marin Country Day School — Ross 7th vs. Ross 8th, 3 p.m.; Fairfax vs. Kentfield, 4 p.m. At Tamalpais High — Terra Linda vs. Del Mar, 2:30 p.m.; Marin Country Day School vs. Mill Valley, 3:30 p.m.

WEEKEND START

Tars To Open Cage Season

By RON LENT

Perhaps College of Marin will sing a rendition of "Getting To Know You" when the defending Camino Norte Conference basketball champions begin nonconference play tomorrow night at 8 o'clock against Moffett Field in Mountain View.

The song from the Richard Rodgers and the late Oscar Hammerstein musical, "The King and I," is poignant when considering the Tars' predicament. "We're in the let's-get-acquainted stage as we go into pre-season," began John Panagakis, the coach who guided the Tars to a 13-1 loop mark and a 27-5 overall record, including a trip to the state tournament last March in Ventura.

"Once the league starts, we'll be right with the leaders. But right now, we've got to work awful hard. We don't have much height, and we do have a lot of new faces." Additionally, the Tars will be fastbreaking more this year to take advantage of team quickness and compensate for height shortcomings.

When confronting the Naval air station team, the 13-man Tar delegation will likely open with veteran starters Wil Garner (forward) and Len Smith (guard) plus newcomers Harry Norman, a 6-foot-5 center-forward, Raymond Williams, a 5-11 guard, and John Channell, a 6-4 forward.

Forward-guard John Peloza, Fort Bragg High School's leading scorer and rebounder last year at center, guard Hoza Wright, a good shooter from San Marin, forward Jarred McFerrin, a versatile performer from Tamalpais, and forward Bill Donnellan, a University of San Francisco frosh team player two years ago, are expected to see a lot of action this year.

Rounding out the six-sophomore, seven-freshmen squad are veteran guards Rich Hagler and George Swift, center Bob Drake, a transferee from San Francisco State, and forward Guy Perry from San Rafael High, the team's tallest player at 6-6.

"We only have four sophomores who know the system (Smith, Garner, Hagler and Swift), we we'll just be trying to get used to playing with each other and learn our system." Panagakis leans to a pattern offense accompanied this season by a fast break.

With much running anticipated, Panagakis and his assistant Jim Webster will be seeking to mobilize a unit capable of surviving the expected CNC challenge from potent De Anza of Cupertino. "From all our reports," Panagakis continued, "We have heard they're real strong. Contra Costa will be right in there. Canada (Redwood City) has five kids over 6-6. Alameda is an unknown quantity (in its first year in the conference), but we have been told they're pretty good."

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock the Tars host Diablo Valley College of Concord in Kentfield.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Utilities Suffer From Bearishness

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We own stock in 16 utility companies. Recent market trends are causing us to have misgivings as we have large losses in all but two stocks. Fortunately there has been no drop in dividend income which at our age is our primary concern. What is your opinion of the future for utilities? — R.S.

A. Utilities, as a group, as you have noted, have been hard-pressed in the stock market. Considering the numerous obstacles the industry has to overcome, price recovery will probably continue to lag that of the industrial sector. Demand for power shows no signs of abating, forcing the electric utilities into huge capital spending programs to increase generating capacity. In fact, the companies in your portfolio allocated 13 per cent more capital to plant expansion this year than was spent in 1972, and 1974 plans call for an ever greater jump in capital expenditures.

While part of the outlays for expansion may be attributed to upgrading generating capacity, inflation and spiraling interest rates are also major contributors to costs.

Here again, utilities are on the "horns of a dilemma" — whether to use debt or equity financing. With bonds, interest costs are excessive and debt/equity ratios out of porportion; yet common stock offerings dilute earnings. That utilities have chosen the debt route is apparent in your portfolio — 33 per cent of these companies' capitalizations are equity, while debt accounts for 67 per cent. Inherent in such unbalanced capitalizations is an increase in fixed charges which reduces coverage, often resulting in lowered bond ratings. This in turn raises interest costs for new financing.

Relief from this insidious spiral, in the form of rate increase, is being granted by many utility regulatory commissions. Not only are the more enlightened groups allowing higher electric rates but some have raised the ceiling for return on equity. In combination, these modified policies may ease the way for this beleaguered industry.

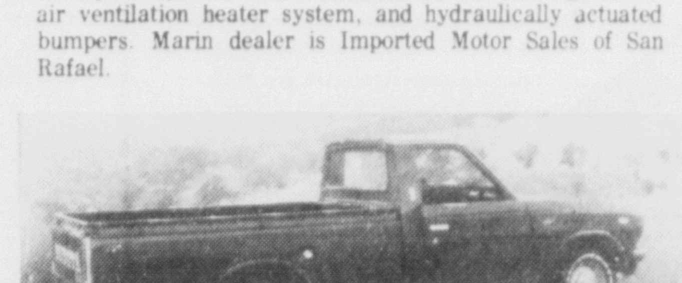
1974 OPEL STATION WAGON

Optional sport wheels and rallye striping highlight the smart styling of the functional new Opel 1900 station wagon. Other features include a hatchback cargo door, front and rear stabilizer bars and unitized body-frame construction. Opels are distributed in the United States by Buick Motor Division. Marin dealer is Don Collins Buick.

1974 SUBARU WAGON

The Subaru DL station wagon, which placed first in the Environmental Protection Agency's 2,500-pound class with 22.7 miles per gallon, is featuring a new one-piece rear door and redesigned rear seat fold-down for easier loading and greater capacity. The front-wheel drive station wagon is equipped with four wheel independent suspension system, a four-speed synchromesh transmission, flow through fresh-air ventilation heater system, and hydraulically actuated bumpers. Marin dealer is Imported Motor Sales of San Rafael.



STRETCHED MINIPICKUP

The Toyota Long Bed 2000 is a one-of-a-kind in the import pickup class because of its longer cargo compartment. Like the standard half-ton pickup, it has a 120-cubic-inch, 97 horsepower engine which is the largest in the mini-truck field. Toyota half-tons can be fitted with an automatic transmission-bucket seat combination. The 1974 versions have a larger cab and repositioned foot pedals to provide up to four inches of increased leg room. Local dealers are Dexter Toyota in San Rafael and Novato Toyota.

VOLVO LUXURY SEDAN

Improved protection in Volvo's bumper system, elimination of side vent windows to reduce noise, and a heated driver's seat for chilly mornings are some of the changes made for 1974 by Volvo in its 164 luxury sedan. Volvo's door arches are now made from steel and welded to the door for improved body strength in the event of rollovers. Also standard for 1974 is a double-collapsing steering column and a warning light to indicate failure of a low beam, rear light or stop light. Local dealer is Annex British Cars of San Rafael.

New Suspension Control Device

All cars are leaning the wrong way when they go around a turn, according to Jerry Hannan of Imported Motor Sales in San Rafael and Shamrock Motors in Mill Valley.

Hannan has perfected a new suspension control device called the Hannan System, which prevents a car from leaning out and actually leans the car into the turn, and has installed it in a 1974 Peugeot for display at the Import Car Show now being held at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium and Brooks Hall. The Import Car Show will continue through Sunday (Nov. 25) from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Hannan explained that his new system, patented and developed over a 10-year period, works in this way:

The Hannan Peugeot is equipped with an air pressure device that is sensitive to lateral "G" forces when the car is cornering. Four double-acting air springs raise the car on the outside while simultaneously lowering the car on the inside when the vehicle is rounding a curve.

"The system adjusts for the expected body roll, thereby eliminating the car's tendency to sway," said Hannan. "It keeps the weight squarely on all four wheels, gently tilting the car into the turn, thus maintaining superior control for the driver and comfort for his passengers."

Hannan maintains that his system can also take the monster out of motor homes that formerly bucked and swayed along the freeways and also reduces tire wear.

Natural Gas Reserves Dip

NEW YORK (UPI) — Proved reserves of natural gas in the 50 United States dropped during 1972 for the fourth time in the last five years, the American Gas Association reported.

At year-end in 1972, reserves were estimated at 266.1 trillion cubic feet, a decline of 4.6 per cent from 278.8 trillion cubic feet at the close of 1971, the Association said.

In 1970, reserves posted a gain as the result of 26 trillion cubic feet of new gas found in Alaska's North Slope, it added.

Solution To Juvenile Delinquency

NEW YORK (UPI) —Juvenile delinquency and drugs are dangerous problems in America and only businessmen can solve them, a chain store magnate says.

Amnon Barness, chairman of Daylin, Inc., a 700-store chain based in Beverly Hills, said recently that the Watergate affairs, the Middle East, Vietnam and even inflation cannot menace the nation's future more than juvenile crime and drug addiction.

"National and local government are failing to solve the problems or even attack them vigorously," he said in an interview. "So are the educators and the clergy. That leaves it up to business."

Barness, who came to the United States from Israel in 1947, is trying to do something. His company has created a movement in the past year called JOE—Juvenile Opportunities Endeavor. JOE puts Daylin employees and their wives to work helping young people. The wives do more than token work.

"There's a bonus in that for Daylin," Barness said. "It brings the wives closer to the company and gives them a new mission in society."

His prime reason for believing business can accomplish more than government, the church and educators have been able to in recent years is that "a business sponsored movement is entirely voluntary and generates enthusiasm among those who are working and those being helped. Volunteers don't limit their hours the way professional social workers must, and they gain the confidence of the young people who need help more easily."

Money to finance JOE's operations is raised by the workers in the company. Eventually JOE boxes will be installed in all the company's stores to gather contributions from the public.

Many of JOE's activities sound unassuming—staging picnics and brief encampments for impoverished children, running clothes closets to provide good used garments for distribution to juveniles on probation, supplying cookies and other snacks to juvenile institutions and many athletic programs.

There are some more sophisticated efforts. In San Antonio JOE maintains a Salvation Home for girls and also one for boys. At Griffin, in the Atlanta area, JOE operates a treatment center for juveniles. And JOE cooperates with VISTA, a government agency engaged in finding job opportunities for juveniles. In Los Angeles County, JOE has more than a score of Daylin people working directly with juveniles on probation, thus easing the load of professional probation officers.

The work directly with juvenile probationers is done in cooperation with the National Council on Crime and Delinquency's Volunteers in Probation.

Butz Plans To Unify Farm Offices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture secretary Earl L. Butz yesterday announced plans to consolidate many of his department's thousand of local offices into one-stop county or area "Agricultural Service Centers."

Butz said the plan will affect about 7,800 county or multi-county offices of four agriculture agencies that deal directly with farmers and other rural residents on matters including crop supports, housing credit and conservation.

The agencies are the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS); Farmers Home Administration (FHA); Soil Conservation Service (SCS), and Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

In some cases, Butz indicated, the consolidation may mean only that local offices of all four agencies operating now in the same county seat would move under one roof. In other cases, he said offices might be consolidated into a single area service center covering several counties.

"It's time we brought our field delivery system forward into the 1970s," Butz said. He said that since the government has asked farmers to go all out in food production next year, it should give them the most efficient service possible.

Thomas To Be Soloist For Opener

Jess Thomas, named the "leading heldentenor in the world" by critics, will appear as guest solosist with the opening season concert of the Marin Symphony Orchestra at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Thomas began his 1973-74 season with the San Francisco Opera where he sang the title roles in "Peter Grimes" and "Tannhaeuser." He will travel to Europe to perform three Wagnerian roles at the Metropolitan Opera and later appear in recital and concert with American orchestras including the Philadelphia Orchestra and a recital at Washington's Kennedy Center.

The Marin Symphony concert, conducted by Sandor Salgo, will include music from Beethoven's "Fidelio" and Wagner's "Lohengrin," "Siegfried Idyll," "Die Walkure" and "Die Meistersinger."

Tickets are available at the Marin Box Office and season tickets are available through the Marin Symphony Association, second floor, Crocker Bank, San Rafael.

Agnew Banquet Sponsors Fined

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — A $2,000 fine has been levied against the "Salute to Ted Agnew Committee" for filing a bogus financial report on a 1972 Republican fundraising banquet for the former vice president.

Committee member Alexander Lankler, former Maryland Republican Party chairman, told newsmen "I have no idea where the money will come from."

The committee was fined Tuesday after pleading guilty to accepting a $50,000 loan from the Committee to Re-Elect the President (CRP) and reporting to state election officials that the money was donated by 32 individuals.

Guide Book On Ways To Cut Energy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Consumer Affairs Department yesterday published an "energy savings guide book" which provides 135 tips to citizens on how they can cut their consumption of energy.

The department said if consumers follow only seven of the tips they could cut their consumption costs by over $450 during the next year.

The book can be purchased for 25 cents from the department, headquartered in Sacramento.

Install insulation in homes — $67.

Install weather stripping around all exterior windows and doors — $29.

Daylight Savings Measure Stalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Year-round Daylight Saving Time, requested by President Nixon as a tool in the energy conservation struggle, is being held up by a Republican attempt to boost the minimum wage, according to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The Daylight Saving Time bill had been scheduled to go to the floor Nov. 27, but Mansfield said an amendment proposed by Sens. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, will keep it from being considered.

In addition, "Sam's Story," a film by Fairfax filmmaker Glenn Carroll that was written and directed by Burt, will also be screened.

Closed Talks On Energy Defended

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke today defended the practice of having the state's Energy Planning Council meet behind closed doors with no advance public notice.

Reinecke, chairman of the council, was questioned about the practice when he held a news conference to discuss an unannounced 2½ hour meeting of the council earlier in the day.

Reinecke said, "Many of the decisions have to be made in executive session."

He declared questions before the council involved litigation and administration matters.

But he said he would ask his staff to provide advance notice of the meetings and declared some of them may be open to the public and newsmen.

Newsmen have repeatedly asked to be notified of the meetings in advance. The lieutenant governor said the next meeting is tentatively scheduled for Dec. 5.

Its recommendations are made to the cabinet and Reagan.

In recent weeks, it has called for reduction of the state speed limit to 50 miles an hour, relaxation of clean air standards and resumption of offshore drilling.

France Eyes Role Of Paris As A Future World Center

By RICHARD NENNEMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

PHILADELPHIA — Move the French government from Paris to Orleans? Bestow citizenship rights on foreigners living in Paris? What's more, elevate the English language to full equality with French?

One of the above may sound more preposterous than another, but all three proposals are among those that have been made by a University of Pennsylvania team doing a research project on the future of Paris.

And they just might be some of the elements by which the French would prove that end runs are not reserved to football stars. For by a series of steps, including the above, Paris may be restored to an international preeminence which some admirers claim it is gradually losing.

The scope of the recommendations of Prof. Hasan Ozbekhan and Howard Perlmutter would be enough to raise eyebrows when applied to any capital city. But when they are openly discussed with the French government as part of a solution to the future of Paris as an international city, they may seem harder to believe. For, so goes the common knowledge, such is the degree of French pride in things French.

Perhaps the common knowledge is wrong.

For the French also have a passion for logic. And in this case, having studied the future of France and its regions for several years, the French began to worry that they were overlooking the changes occurring right under their noses in Paris.

Superficially, these were items such as ugly high-rise construction, growing traffic congestion, and the continuing magnetic influence Paris was exercising on the rest of the country, drawing increasing numbers to the Paris region.

More fundamentally, it was a question of Paris remaining viable in its historic role as an international city. Or as Dr. Perlmutter explains, "To be a world city, you have to be dealing with world problems."

The Wharton study began in a conversation Dr. Ozbekhan had with Jerome Monod, head of a part of the French Planning Ministry. In a nutshell, Monod told Dr. Ozbekhan that France had been getting a lot of planning attention, but that despite a lot of building going on in Paris, no one had a clear idea of what the city's future would be.

Its international reputation was being threatened by the rise of Brussels to preeminence as the Common Market's center, along with the growing importance of Zurich and Frankfurt as financial centers. London was light-years ahead of Paris as a financial center, and in recent years it has become culturally more alive and diverse than the French capital.

The job of the Wharton team was to study the future of Paris in terms of the whole world. Dr. Ozbekhan describes Paris as the center of a nested system, with the larger "nests" being France, the rest of Europe, and the world.

And, as part of the world, he draws a special circle to represent the developing countries, for which he thinks Paris should have a special concern.

The Wharton team came up with basically a two-part solution: Paris would create conditions that would woo the multinational corporation (MNC) of the year 2000 and would create a special relationship with the "third world."

Dr. Perlmutter had long envisioned that the world of the 21st century will have a handful of truly global cities. These will be the major business centers of the world, and those living in them will need a kind of access and freedom they do not at present have anywhere.

Dr. Perlmutter envisions a Paris without passports, a Paris in which the French bureaucracy has moved its functions down to Orleans, 60 miles southwest and one of the historic centers of France.

Paris itself would be self-governed, and foreigners would have equal rights within Paris to Frenchmen. English, which has become the common business language of the world, would be equal with French.

The multinational corporation to which Paris would open its doors would be a worldwide corporation in a larger sense than most are today.

That is, by the year 2000 it can be expected that corporations will be more truly worldwide, their production will be more scattered, and their headquarters operations will be more nearly like think tanks. For this, one need not offer the world's largest financial center.

Rather, a truly international city with a cultural ambience attractive to people from every continent, together with the most sophisticated financial communications network and computer information systems could do much to reestablish the international reputation of Paris.

Dr. Perlmutter does not say that Paris need necessarily become a headquarters city for the MNCs. It can be a regional center. It can be an information center for a company. It can be a research-and-development center.

Corporate expansion into the Paris area need not include even more skyscraper intrusion into the old city, but can be located in the suburbs and countryside outside the city.

The second way the study suggests is for Paris to consciously help the developing world fulfill its aspirations. The study calls on Paris to begin a University of Development, where the problems of development would be studied. This would eventually grow into a University of the World.

Paris as host to the MNC's and to third-world problems would not be dealing with two unrelated groups. In fact, Dr. Perlmutter sees the MNCs and representatives of the developing countries gathering in Paris in GISCs, which stands for global industrial system constellations.

Each constellation would include several MNCs and several third-world countries, studying the problems of world development together. There would be a cross-fertilization, in which the MNCs would become better educated on what the needs and development problems of the third world are, and the developing countries would then benefit more from the activities of the MNCs.

The project would take the rest of the century to execute. Its authors both say they are impressed with the degree of support French officialdom has given their report, and now they are engaged in suggesting actual implementation steps for it.

My Good Friends:

This is your friendly janitor speaking: I just want you to know that I'm thinking of you. Of course, there are times when I think of you more than others; but right now, on this particular occasion, I want you to know that I'm thinking of you in THANKFUL terms!

Frankly, I never knew much about the Thanksgiving Turkey until I came over here 20 years ago. Before that, I was the turkey. And when I first came to America I felt a little like the Pilgrims must have felt 353 years ago at Plymouth Rock - (you see, I have read my history books) . . . The only difference was that I was afraid I might be considered the Indian instead of the Pilgrim.

Anyway, America has been very good to me and I'm most thankful to all of you on this wonderful Thanksgiving Day when we can all be thankful Americans together!

Naturally, I want to thank in particular —
. . . Home Owners
. . . Supply Buyers
. . . Apartment Owners, And
. . . Commercial Firms —

For your wholehearted patronage and your very considerate cooperation with my men!

HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO EVERYONE

Santa Will Arrive At Village Tomorrow

Santa Claus touches down at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Strawberry's Town & Country Village. Following brief ceremonies, free color pictures of children with Santa will be offered at Gibraltar Savings and Loan until noon. Free gifts will be available for everyone.

The Village's Santa Claus will be visiting many hospitals, schools, and many community activities during the Christmas season.

Santa Claus now travels in a myriad of ways. The tradition began in Holland following the 80 year war with Spain. St. Nickolas in a wagon drawn by a white horse brought gifts to the poor people on Feast Day, Dec. 6.

Anxious Dutch children placed their shoes outside along with hay and carrots for his horse. St. Nickolas had a long white beard, wore a bishop's red cap and a red robe.

The Dutch tradition followed to New Amsterdam and New York in the New World. In Lapaland a legendary tiny elf driving a sleigh drawn by eight tiny reindeer brought gifts to children during the Christmas season. This addition also came to New York.

Dr. Clement C. Moore brought the tradition to us as we know it today with his poem, "A Visit From St. Nickolas." It was written for his children. Thomas Nast, the famous political cartoonist, first pictured St. Nick as Dr. Moore described him.

In other lands children receive gifts from Christkindl in Switzerland, the Magi in Spain, and Befona in Italy who distributes toys to happy children via broomstick.

The eight tiny reindeer have given way to mules, burros, trains, dogs, fire trucks, boats, tugs and canoes. Helicopters, hot air balloons, and even parachutes aid Santa on his rounds.

White his mode of travel changes with our progress, Santa Claus remains the symbol of gift giving and the real spirit of Christmas. Old friends and new friends wait every year to welcome his arrival.

She recently supervised the remodeling of Imports, adding several new departments such as the coffee servers and vases in the display area. New Manager For Waterbed Outlet

Peter M. Sterner was recently introduced to the Marin business community as the new manager of Decorator Waterbeds in Strawberry Town & Country Village.

Decorator Waterbeds' parent company, Strong Plus, developers and manufacturers of water mattress containers and accessory products on the market today, began in Los Altos in 1970, with its owner Gary Strong introducing waterbeds to the South Bay Area and finally to Marin.

Sterner, reports that preparations are under way for the Christmas rush. New pillow chairs, natural wood waterbed frames, coordinated materials for personal decorating of pillow chairs and waterbed spreads are all being stocked now. Sterner suggests that a waterbed might be just the personal gift surprise for your loved one for Christmas.

Sterner, born in Germany, now resides in San Rafael with his family. He has four children, Catherine and Michael both 12, Lizzy, 10, and Ewell, 9.

After finishing his education in general education and speech at San Francisco State College, Sterner served aboard the destroyer Arcadia during the Korean War. Upon discharge in 1956 he went to work as the manager for the Kingston Trio on a national and international level.

From 1958 to present, he has had a wide range of business experience, including company manager for the smash hit, musical stage play, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," and recently publicity and promotional work with Charles Schulz, cartoonist.

Texas Farm Trend

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Despite urbanizing trends, agriculture remains a major sector of the Texas economy— partly becuase of a phenomenal increase in irrigation farming over the past 40 years. Latest statistics compiled by the Texas Water Development Board indicate the number of acres of land under irrigation in the state has jumped from a modest amount in the 1930s to 6.9 million acres in the 1930s to 6.9 million acres in 1958 and 8.4 million in 1969.

Having a difficult time deciding what she wants most in her Christmas stocking, Betty Heyman of Gigi, Inc., discusses it with Leo Bell, who suggests a diamond dinner ring with matching bracelet. Center Will Remain Open In The Evenings

The pleasure of shopping under covered walkways which protect from rain or inclement weather is one of the natural benefits of Strawberry. But there's something even more pleasing at Christmastime — the Village becomes transformed into a wonderful storyland of Yuletide tales, according to village officials.

They are told through the colorful picturebook windows of the many shops in the Village at Christmastime. It becomes a gaily decorated trip through a myriad of gift ideas.

A visit to Strawberry for a holiday shopping chore can be made every evening beginning tomorrow through Christmas. Many shops will be open on Sundays for shopping conveniences.

A GIFT OF SOUND KEEPS ON GIVING

Tuning in the best sound possible in Town & Country Village TV is store owner, Peter Straube, of Strawberry's Town & Country Village. Based on his outstanding sales performance and service reputation, he recently was the guest of Sony Co. for a 10 day excursion to Japan. Town & Country Village TV and Stereo was one of 14 dealerships in the United States chosen for this honor. Attentive to his stereo demonstration is Sonja Morais, new manager of Motherhood Maternity, a neighboring store.

Holiday Good Time To Sew Up A Storm

The holiday season is such a warm, joyous time of the year. It's filled with happy, busy days that make you feel good all over. And, when you have that holiday spirit, it's the right time to sew up some easy fashions.

The festive fashions for '73 have a super movie-star glamour. This season, the emphasis is on the nostalgic mood of the 40's and 50's. Holiday outfits are casually styled and comfy to wear.

Quick, simple to sew garments are just great for the active, fun-filled holidays. With time at a premium and a dozen different things to do before Christmas, here are some quick, easy tips to make your holiday sewing carefree:

1. Make a detailed list of everything you need before going to the fabrics store. Don't get caught empty-handed without the right thread or machine needles when you start your holiday sewing projects.

2. Select patterns with a minimum of buttons, zippers, and pleats. Keep the style simple — jazz up the fashion by using exciting fabrics like taffeta, satin and velvet.

3. Be careful when laying out patterns — velvets and certain knits must be laid out following "with nap" instructions.

4. Avoid time-consuming pinning by using "Scotch" Pinless Pattern Holder. Simply spray this handy homesewing helper on the back of a pattern and place it on the fabric.

5. Use iron-ons to save sewing steps. Interfacings, hems and seam bindings can easily be attached with just the heat of an iron and a fusible web for joining fabrics — no stitches are needed.

6. Have your ironing board open at all times. You'll want to use your iron to press seams, darts, pleats and sleeves as you sew for a professional-looking fashion.

7. Attach a paper bag to the side of your sewing machine. It's a great way to catch discarded scraps and bits of thread.

8. If you're really pressed for time, consider applying just some snappy trim to a dress that's already in the closet.

9. Take advantage of the various newer stitches that sewing machines offer now.

10. And before you wear any of your beautiful new festive fashions, protect them against holiday mishaps with "Scotchgard" Fabric Protector.

Raggedy Ann, Andy Change Size, Style

There's more to Raggedy Ann than Andy this year but it has nothing to do with the women's lib movement.

More than a dozen adaptations of the floppy pair are available this year, with several more "Ann 'n' Andy" products.

For the purists, the red-haired twins come in five different sizes — from 7½ to 38½ inches. The tiniest are called "embraceables" since they come with their arms around each other. They're still the familiar "rag dolls" which have been America's favorites for over 50 years. From the smiling faces, tousled yarn hair and shoe-button eyes to the striped legs and traditional outfits, they're authentic.

Raggedy Ann first appeared in a book of short stories written and illustrated by Johnny Gruelle in 1919. She reappeared with her brother, Andy, the following year in another book. Both were collections of brief, around-the-house adventures. Before long, the rag doll was created to publicize the books. The rest is history.

The lovable pair have been updated with versions that talk and play music.

The cuddly couple takes on other forms besides dolls. There are Ann and Andy sleeping bags, suited for children 4 to 10 years old. The smiling heads make soft pillows and the bodies are cotton-stuffed and quilted for cozy napping and TV-watching.

Furniture has even captured the popular look thanks to Raggedy Ann and Andy table and chair sets, rockers and bench/toy chests. Designed to fold, the chairs make sitting fun — like sitting in Ann and Andy's laps.

Turn Pine Cone Into Holiday Tree

A giant pine cone can be turned into the world's smallest Christmas tree. Just mount an 8 to 12 inch pine cone on a piece of plastic foam, decorate as you would a tree but with sequins and glitter glued on the cone edges.

Top off with a star. In the practical side, use a pine oil cleaner to banish crushed candy cane, spilled food, and turkey grease from the holiday scene.

Yule Trees Have A Long History

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first known Christmas trees in America were erected by German settlers in their roughhewn homes in Pennsylvania—Penn's Woods.

Historians say the families of Germanic origin had indoor holiday trees as early as 1746.

The original trees were pines cut from nearby woods. The custom of decorating the tree with candles and ornaments was imported.

Through the years, until the invention of electric tree lights, candles continued to be a mainstay on Christmas trees. This led to many tragedies. Christmas home fires claimed lives as well as abodes.

From its simple start in 1746 on American soil, the Christmas tree has conquered cities, hamlets, and the nation. Some communities have so many Christmas trees outdoors each yule that they are known as Christmas tree cities or towns.

One of these, Westport, Conn., is hometown for many of the nation's prominent writers, artists, cartoonists and comic strip inventors. There, hundreds of trees line the main bridge, the river, main streets, shopping plazas. and, as in most American communities, the public display is augmented by displays on lawns of homes. Many families throughout America, in fact, have two trees—one inside, one outside.

Two-thirds of the "live" Christmas trees are Scotch pine. Douglas fir is second most popular with the 35 million families preferring natural trees. The bill for these last Christmas was was a little over $210 million retail, with an average price of $6. Artificial trees, convenient and ecologically preferable by some, last year were trimmed in some five million homes. About $75 million was spent for these trees.

There probably aren't any American cities where a huge community tree won't be lighted with great ceremony this Christmas season—most right after Thanksgiving, but some town Christmas trimmings even before that.

High school choirs, brass quartets and string combos embellish these ceremonies, filling the ears with the familiar Christmas carols and songs. Such sounds continue throughout the Christmas season—which in some communities extends beyond New Year's Day.

The official Christmas tree for the nation, on the White House lawn, this year for the first time will be a "live" one. It is a spruce, complete with roots instead of one cut down as in past years. It was transplanted in October to get a good start for its official and historic role. Historic? yes, being the first rooted national Christmas tree.

The planted national tree instead of one chopped down and stood up with supports, is a tribute to nature lovers and ecologists. For years they have deplored the annual habit of cutting a huge, beautiful tree, one of nature's wonders—in effect, killing it—each Christmas season.

Martin Luther some 400 years ago started the indoor Christmas tree custom. He was German. Hence, the natural tendency of German immigrants to America to carry the custom across the ocean.

The legend holds that one beaitufully clear cold Christmas eve Luther turned his eyes skyward in contemplation. He saw that thousands of stars seemed to be clinging to the branches of the lofty pines by the wayside.

What ran through his mind was a vision of sorts and this thought: Share this inspiring scene with his family. That night a majestic tree, shimmering with star-bright candles was Luther's gift to his kin. It turned out, as worldwide custom today indicates, to be a gift to the world.

Other beginnings of holiday rituals, from trees to Santa; Christmas ornaments go back to the 10th Century. An Arabian geographer, Georg Jacob, brought the people of Europe the tale that on the night of the Lord's birth, all the trees burst forth with ripened fruits and blossoming flowers. The story spread until it was believed that this miracle had come to pass in memory of the birth of Christ. The legend led to the tree ornament.

Handing stockings by the fireplace or someplace for surprise gifts is a custom traced to New Amsterdam — later New York. The Dutch settlers brought their Old World Customs. Ever a people to play, they chose a burgher to dress as St. Nicholas and had him distribute toys and sweets to the village children. He also filled stockings hung by the fireplace. With him was a helper called Black Peter who would leave ashes for "bad" kids. The childrren shortened the name Nicholas to Ni'Klaus or Claus. The Spanish influence in the Netherlands changed saint to "Santa" — hence Santa Claus.

Mistletoe dates to the ancient Druids who populated Britain and Gaul before the time of Christ. The Druids practiced mystic ceremonies deep within the forest. Atop giant oaks they found a growing plant which drew its only life from the air—mistletoe. They said it was sent from heaven and designated purity and love. They encouraged kissing under the mistletoe and used it in marriage ceremonies. To this day, stand under mistletoe and you're liable to get bussed.

The original St. Nicholas, inspiration for the contemporary version of Santa Claus, was Archbishop of Myra in Asia Minor during the fourth century. This kindly cleric devoted his life to helping the poor.

The Christmas crib. The first popularization of the crib is said to have occurred in Greccio, Italy, in 1224. St Francis of Assisi celebrated Mass at a specially constructed manger. Attending were an ox and an ass. Giotti, in what is now a famous painting, did a representation of the scene in oils. The manger scene is a part of Christmas in American churches, in the homes of Christians and in many commercial and community displays.

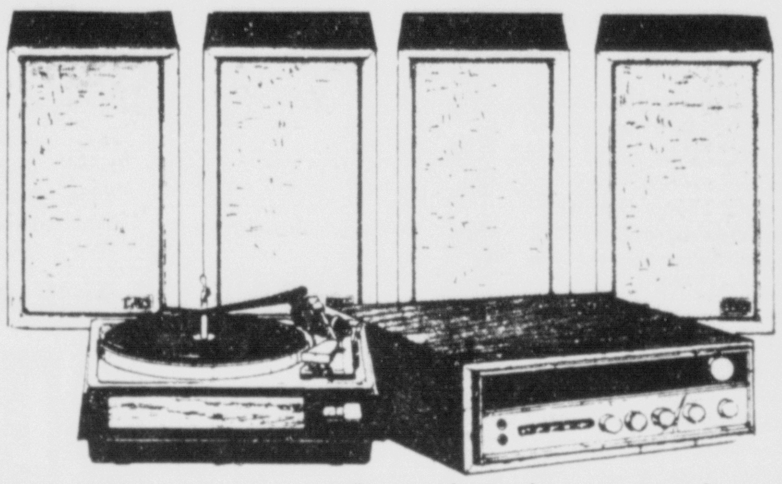
THIS CHRISTMAS YOU AND YOUR FAMILY CAN ENJOY THE SUPERB SOUND OF TRUE 4-CHANNEL (QUAD.) STEREO. HERE IS A FANTASTIC COMPONENT SYSTEM THAT WE OFFER FOR JUST $349.00 COMPLETE

HARMAN-KARDON 4-CHANNEL SOUND SYSTEM AT A $181.00 SAVINGS



"Quadra-who?" That was our first reaction to Quadraphonic 4-channel sound. Our second reaction was "Fantastic!" But what is quadraphonic sound? Simply, it's sound from four separate sound tracks played through four individual speaker systems.

Not just separate speakers. Separate Sound. Now. Have the drums on your right. Guitar on the left. Brass section over your right shoulder. Organ over your left. You are no longer on the outside listening in. Close our eyes and you're "Fourth row center." At Carnegie Hall. The Boston Pops. Woodstock. You hear music rebound from every corner of the concert hall. The pulsing beat of rock music as it blends with rustling trees, birds and people at an outdoor rock festival. Sound rushes, surges and swirls around you from all directions. Taking you anywhere you want to go. Quadraphonic. You don't just listen to it. You experience it. And it's fantastic.

Harman-Kardon's 50 + AM/FM receiver plays stereo, "enhanced" stereo using four channel. And they employ a unique "Bridging" circuit that more than doubles the power in each channel when switching from four channel to two-channel. Both your stereo and four-channel records will be well taken care of by the BSR 310X which provides you with everything in the way of record and needle saving devices. The 310X comes with a base, dust cover and Shure M75ECS magnetic cartridge.

The monitors make them ideal for a four-channel system if your listening room is of modest dimensions, there's nothing small about their clean, wide range sound.

To purchase these separately you should pay:

Christmas Cards Nostalgic This Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Christmas card designers, falling in line with the nostalgia trend, have taken a long look his year at Chrietmases Past when jolly St. Nick, sugarplum confections, roaring fires, sleighs and ice skates were the chief symbols of the season.

Card companies still are offering religious cards (down to 22 per cent of the market), New York skyscraper scenes, Chinese watercolors, peace symbols and abstract designs, but the emphasis is definitely on the Currier & Ives theme: "Home for Christmas." Last year's ecological theme got lost in the card shuffle.

One manufacturer ascribed the nostalgia trend to "our new sense of heritage as we approach the American Bicentennial". The industry sensed the trend two years ago when the 1973 lines were being planned and zeroed in on it with a vengeance.

Nostalgia cards range from the beautiful (Charlotte Sternberg's Currier-like painting "Home for the Holiday" for the American Artists Group) to the kitsch (American Greetings' reissue of its 1912 Kewpie doll cards). In excellent taste are the Metropolitan Museum's box of 19th Century wood engravings titled "An Old Fashioned Christmas."

And if you really want to turn back the time machine, you can seal your nostalgia cards with Hallmark's sealing wax, although many of this company's envelopes are self sealing. Pretty envelope lining papers— the kind grandma used to favor for her billets-doux—are back, too.

The 18th Century custom of scenting letters has been translated into scented cards by Hallmark, which offers three nose-pleasers of the season—pine, bayberry and ginger. Naturally the card matches—a Christmas tree, a candle, and a ginger cookie Santa.

One of the most enchanting Victorian cards is Norcross' self-mailer foldup which shows a family Yule scene, 30 to the pack. Its verse is equally charming: "Let the toasts pass —One to another—Neighbor to Neighbor—Brother to Brother". Looart's Winslow Homer woodblock print of hoop-skirted girls skating is another winner.

"We shouldn't be surprised by the emphasis on nostalgia," said Madeleine Robinson, a Rust Craft executive. "Last year peace and ecology were stressed because we were still at war and we were deeply worried about ecology when the 1972 lines were planned. But the trend in everyday greeting cards ever since has been nostalgia and it's climaxing this Christmas."

Miss Robinson also noted the trend toward photographic cards, such as Rust Craft's soft-focus "Christmas tenderness" line epitomized by a child looking expectantly through an icy windowpane, and a terseness of greetings and verse ("For you—Christmas wonder, Christmas joy" and "Christmas is love").

"The premium is on new writing approaches," said Hallmark vice president George Parker. "Eight out of every 10 of our sentiments this year are new. The writing has been updated to keep pace with the remarkable rhythms of the time to better fit the changing fashions in language."

In line with the 19th Century feel, some companies—notably Norcross and Charm Craft—are counting heavily on the tactile attractiveness of flocked velvet papers to increase their sales. Day glo colors on pearlized paper are making their debut this year. Increased use of expensive, high gloss papers is noticeable in cards of all the leading companies.

Martin Dash, marketing director of the American Artists Group said "the new fascination with coated paper" has emerged "at the expense of glitter and baubles", which definitely are out in 1973, except in cheaper lines which rely on eye impact rather than design. Norcross gets a shiny effect by overlaying its snow scenes with red and green acetate sheets.

Dash estimates that Christmas card sales this year will be about the same as 1972 when 2.5 billion cards costing $400 million were sold in the United States. Although inflation has not hurt card sales, some quality cards are being used as substitutes for gifts for distant relatives and friends, Dash said.

Some of the more expensive fine arts cards, such as the New York Museum of Modern Art's watercolor of radishes by Jim Dine, are suitable for framing. So, too, are Regency's embossed cards including a crewel work Biblical scene that has the look of real yarn on linen.

UNICEF cards, one of the America's most popular lines because it aids the U.N. Children's Fund, has come up with more religious cards than usual including a delightful shepherd's scene painted by a 12-year old American boy, a Peruvian folk art tryptich of the Nativity, and a large reproduction of Benozzo Gozzoli's 15th Century manger scene.

For those who have moved since last Christmas, Holly Tree has printed a gay and practical card. It shows a Victorian house on wheels with a flag on the cupola proclaiming "We've moved." Inside are holiday greetings from the new address.

Why didn't anyone think of this sooner?

Christmas Decorations Hazard For Puppy Who Likes To Chew

Deck your halls with boughs of holly, but make sure they're out of Bowser's biting range. Holly berries can poison a dog. Mistletoe can kiss him off too.

If there's going to be a puppy under your tree this year, make plans for a very wary Christmas. Until he grows a bit, chewing is baby Bowser's favorite sport, and you can bet your bottom Christmas tree ornaments that he'll sample everything in sight during the Yuletide season. In fact, Christmas is an especially hazardous time for puppies, according to Bob Bartos, Director of Friskies Research Kennels.

Glass ornaments, tinsel, and figures in your under-the-tree creche (a holy terrier in Pennsylvania wolfed down one Wise Man, Joseph and half an angel before anyone noticed) are just the kind of thing a puppy gulps now and regrets later. Exposed extension cords, which he loves to get his teeth into, may give him the shock of his life. Soft rubber, as found in many children's toys, tears easily and can stick to puppy's insides. Wooden and plastic toys can be chewed into splinters.

Your safest course is to clear the decks of all swallowable objects when puppy has the run of the house.

In spite of the fact that canine sales shoot up 50 per-cent at Yuletide, Christmas day is not the best time to introduce a new puppy to your household, advises Bartos, author of (the paperback manual) "All About Puppies." Christmas morning chaos can be terrifying to the little fellow, and if his first day in new and strange surroundings is an exhausting and frightening experience, you could end up with a nervous pup on your hands.

If a puppy heads your family gift list, why not choose one ahead of time and make arrangements to pick him up after Christmas, when all is calm? You can still make his imminnent arrival an exciting surprise on Christmas morning. Hang an extra stocking filled with a new collar, leash, doggy toys, and a stuffed dog peeking out. This is one way to make Christmas last longer. Puppy might last longer, too!

HOCKEY ACTION — A gift to provide fun for the whole family is a new air hockey game, where a puck traveling on a bed of air supplies realistic speed and action bank shots. Powered by a one-fifth horsepower motor, the high-speed, four-player game provides all the thrills of professional hockey.

New Games Offered This Year Are Out Of Kid Stuff Category

Playing games isn't "kid stuff" anymore.

For years children have monopolized the family gameboards while parents coached from the sidelines. Now parents are not only facing their youngsters across that same board, they're playing games of their own . . . especially mind-boggling ones like chess, backgammon and other sophisticated games that involve a higher degree of difficulty than children's games.

"A return to the home environment for entertainment has brought on a tremendous popularity in adult games," according to a national merchandise manager. "The excitement of movies in the ;20s, '30s, and '40s, and TV in the '50s and '60s has given way to many different pursuits — one of which is adult games," he said.

Old favorites such as Monopoly and chess are offered in rich woods, leathers and pile carpeting, making them displayable items as well as complements to the home decor.

The retail chain provides the chess buff with his choice of 15 different varieties of the "thinker's" game, ranging from a pocket-size model to a set of Florentine designed pieces of cast metal with a leather-trimmed board. And the Monopoly expert can make the game part of his decorating scheme with a large shag rug that has a vinyl playing area.

A puck traveling on a bed of air supplies realistic speed and action bank shots in a new, high-speed Air Hockey game. Powered by a one-fifth h.p. motor, the exciting, four-player game provides professional hockey fun for the entire family.

No matter what the name of the game may be, it's one of the unique forms of entertainment for the '70s.

PET PRESENT — Careful selection, proper planning and responsible care are items to consider if you're thinking of giving your children a pet for Christmas.

Holiday Pets Can Bring Family Joy

If you are planning to give your children a pet for Christmas, the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) has a few suggestions which can make the gift a joy for the entire family.

Decide what size pet you can accommodate in your house or apartment, allowing enough room for the animal to sleep, eat, play and exercise. Be sure to select a pet that will fit into your family's style of living.

Exotic animals such as monkeys, skunks, jungle cats and certain reptiles rarely make good pets. They are usually expensive and difficult to care for.

Pets cost money. Be prepared for the day-to-day expenses of food, health care and other essentials. "Free" pets from animal shelters also involve some expense. Any animal you bring into your home should be thoroughly examined by a veterinarian and vaccinated against infectious diseases. Depending upon local laws, your pet may also require a license.

Like any member of the family, a pet needs medical attention. Regular visits to the veterinarian will help keep your pet happy and healthy.

It is a good idea to have your pet spayed or neutered as soon as your veterinarian says the animal is ready. Spaying will free you from the burden of trying to find homes for kittens and puppies — an increasingly difficult problem.

You probably will find that the operation also makes your pet healthier and a better companion. Neutered animals are less likely to roam or "spot" furniture and carpets.

Your new pet will be with you for a long time. Careful selection, proper planning and responsible care can make pet ownership a wonderful experience for the whole family.

Tree Decorating Starts The Holidays

The traditional Christmas tree is most often the starting point for holiday decorating. Many historians give Martin Luther credit for introducing the decorated evergreen to Christmas celebrations. Evergreens were abundant in his native Germany, and it's said that during a walk on a snowy Christmas Eve, Luther became enchanted with the beauty of the trees and the star filled sky. He cut a small fir for his home and decorated it with candles to simulate stars.

Surprise Your Host With Gift

Going to be a house guest for the holidays this year? If your hosts are the kind who entertain often, a charming gift for their playroom or bar can be novel but practical at the same time.

A whole variety of such gifts is available to start putting ideas into your head. For example, a ceramic frog pitcher with a green handle, black eyes and pleasant smile, holds a quart of water or whatever. What may seem to be an old-fashioned ice box is really an ice bucket, and guaranteed to break the ice with first arrivals at the party.

Or choose a fine-blended Scotch called Famous Grouse, the first 90-proof Scotch in this country, and a joy to on-the-rocks drinkers who prefer a flavorful drink that won't water down with ice or mixers. Another suggestion is the lesser-proof but very popular Campari, a garnet-toned refresher usually quaffed with soda, and a main ingredient in Negronis and Americanos. A sophisticated soda siphon accompanying provides a fresh bubbley complement to these drinks and looks super-sophisticated on the bar.

Jewelry Is Always Hit Under The Holiday Tree

It's the gifting season and once again Santa is busy making his rounds, looking for the bright, the spectacular, the right ways to say Merry Christmas. Since Santa is such an acknowledged authority, the Jewelry Industry Council wants to point out that most of Santa's special people receive precious packages from the jewelry store.

Sure to gladden female hearts is the glitter and glow that dazzles with diamonds, rubies, sapphires or emeralds, shimmers with silver, glories in gold, warms with all the splendid colors of semi-precious stones. A pin, a bracelet, a ring, a sumptuous necklace: these are the ways to jewel her Yule.

Particularly exceptional gifting is the jewelry set all asparkle with small diamonds. Santa knows the radiance of love's stone celebrates the season and fulfills its dreams best. He also knows small diamond designs aren't limited to a privileged few Santas. Everyone who loves the diamond can give love's stone to his or her love this very Christmas. And because small diamonds do carry affordable price tags, Santa ties and tags them several ways for under-the-tree time: a free-form pendant; graceful, branching ring; traditional pin and earrings.

What about a gift of fashion that combines the sheen and thrilling variety of gold and its textures with the holiday lights display of colored stones . . . and keeps Santa's budget jolly, too? That's what gold filled jewelry does and naturally Santa quickly loads his sleigh with all the gold filled goodies he finds at the jewelry store. And that's a lot.

Ropes in all lengths and motifs and mixes of colored stone beads; classical lockets in jumbo size; Victorian pendants; rigid neckwires to dangle such suspendables as an ivory heart, a modern mobile. Button earrings clip on for gold filled style making. Bangle bracelets line up in a wonderland of looks meant to go to the elbow. Rings can be dainty and Victorian, modern and polished or textured, showy with lots of stones on display.

Cuff links with matching tie tac, belt buckle, pocket accessories will give that favored man a gold filled Christmas to enjoy.

Guidelines For Giving A Holiday Party

Entertaining friends and relatives is always a special part of the holidays, but it can also be expensive, especially with today's higher food prices.

When planning a shopping trip to the supermarket, it's wise to keep a few guidelines in mind — not just for the holidays, but all year 'round:

Plan menus carefully and completely in advance. For holiday guests, be sure to include party foods and beverages.

Prepare a shopping list and try to stick to it.

Determine how much money you have to spend and stay within your budget.

When practical, shop around to find the best prices, but don't burn up your food saving in gasoline.

Don't shop when you're hungry — everything will look good and you'll buy items you don't need.

Spacious, reliable cold storage is an important part of any smart shopping plan. You can save money (and time, too) by purchasing foods in quantity when the prices are favorable . . . if you have enough refrigerator space.

Coldspot refrigerators are built to cooperate with you — their spacious interiors and special convenience features allow you to organize your food purchases more efficiently. Movable Spacemaster half shelves, for example, hold 40 pounds each and can be adjusted to accommodate most foods, even a whole turkey.

Extra-deep door shelves also hold more items. They're wide enough for six-packs and half-gallon milk cartons, and can be adjusted for tall bottles.

Transparent humidrawers — high-humidity crispers with special tight-fitting seals — keep foods fresh days longer. Produce, prepared salads, desserts, hors d'oeuvres, and leftovers remain moist and table-ready for days without any wrapping — another money savings.

The roomy freezer compartment (in some models it is 5.7 cu. ft.) is a big help in storing food "specials" and leftovers. To preserve fresh quality and nutritive value in frozen foods, the freezer has a separate cold control that allows you to maintain zero degree temperature.

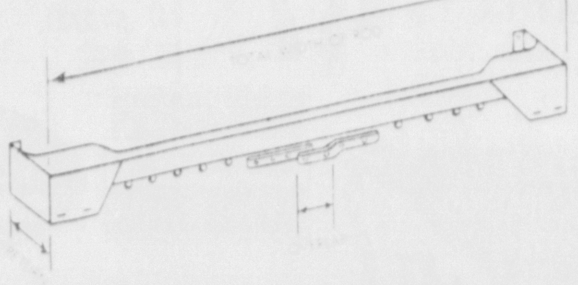
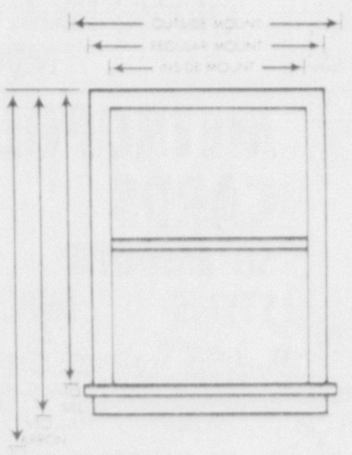
two weeks only

If your creativity is limited only by your budget, then this offer is one you can't afford to miss! Bring in your measurements and make your fabric selection from over 400 quality fabrics . . . completely lined for the unlined price. To give you an example of your savings, fabric from group 4 made into draperies measuring 120 x 95 inches: the lined price $240.65, the unlined price $185.15 — saving you a total of $55.50. Please allow six weeks for delivery. Matching bedspreads and fabric available.

All Sloane stores, 2nd floor San Francisco.





HOW TO MEASURE

Measure the total width of the rod, then measure the return to the wall and the center overlap. Draperies should reach the window sill, apron or floor — not in between. When measuring for floor length draperies, allow for structural changes by measuring each side and center of your window and give us the shortest of these.

Foreign Language Cards A Hit

By VERONICA A. RAGATZ
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Go into most any card shop these days and you will probably discover a display of foreign-language greeting cards. It may not be large — but it's there. And sales are on the rise, domestically and abroad.

Not very long ago about the only place you could find a card in a language other than English was in local neighborhood shops in large ethnic communities. German, Polish, Italian, or Spanish were the most prevalent languages, depending on where in the United States you lived.

Today, however, companies such as Hallmark Cards, Inc., and American Greeting Corp. have added a number of basic foreign-language cards to their selections.

The only company that specializes in foreign-language cards appears to be Success Greeting Card Co. Inc., of Brooklyn, N.Y.

According to Arthur E. Kahn, president of Success, the company began marketing its cards "20 to 25 years ago when Hallmakr had cornered the market in all the stores, but nobody made language cards."

Today the company offers selections in more than 30 languages, including French, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Polish, Ukrainian, Hungarian, Romanian, Gaelic, Serbian, Greek, Turkish, Arabic, Japanese, and Chinese. Cards are also available in Braille.

Where do they sell their cards?

"We go where the people are," says Kahn. "There are Cubans in Miami; Mexicans in Los Angeles; Portuguese in New Bedford, Mass.; Poles in Ohio; German Mennonites in Winnipeg, Man.; Ukrainians in New York and Canada, French-speaking people in New Orleans and upper New England; and so on.

"Our salesmen are constantly on the move. They visit the different ethnic areas to find out what people want and need. New orders are coming in every day!"

The largest demand in foreign-language cards, for all companies, is at Christmas. Easter greetings generally run second, followed by everyday, birthday, congratulations, Mother's or Father's Day, get-well, sympathy, or friendship cards. In many cases, it varies with the nationality.

Spanish is by far the most popular language, due to he large number of Latin Americans living in the United States. In addition to general seasonal cards one can often find cards designed specifically for husbands or wives, brothers, sisters, boy or girl friends, godparents, grandparents, nieces, nephews, and in-laws.

The Success firm also offers communion, engagement, anniversary, christening, and saint's-day cards, along with baby shower and thank-you notes. There are cards for teachers, cards for graduation, even cards for pinata parties.

There appear to be three main reasons for the popularity of foreign-language cards in this country today:

The large number of immigrants who have come here, yet maintain their own cultural identity and have active contact with their homeland.

An increase in the number of Americans who go abroad and who have friends in other countries.

An interest in quality and styling that are unusual or different.

But American card companies also are selling cards abroad in foreign languages. Both American and Hallmark have a number of local branches or subsidiaries overseas.

American is particularly active in Latin America, while Hallmark sells in about 100 countries around the world. It either owns overseas companies outright or contracts with local businesses to use the Hallmakr name and designs.

Hallmark prints cards overseas in Afrikaans, Danish, Dutch, English, Finnish, Flemish, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, Portuguese, Spanish, and Swedish.

Sales representatives note, however, that nearly every country has its own special requests for special occasions.

It has been found, for instance, that in Japan, school-entrance cards are much in demand, while in France New Year's cards are particularly popular.

SPARE SLEEPER — The perfect answer for sleeping holiday guests is a dual purpose sofa bed — a seat during the day and a queen-size bed at night.

Sofa Bed Can Serve Double Duty

The clan is coming to the house for Thanksgiving. Aunt Mary and Uncle Joe will stop by for a day or so on their way to visit their children for Christmas and frankly the budget won't stand for the addition planned for Fall.

Take a look at the living room sofa. It's worn, replacement had been considered and the only problem seemed to be going out to find a piece which would be contemporary but still blend with the old traditional inherited pieces

At any rate, one piece could solve several problems. A handsome sofa, the "Lourdes," with rolled arms at tuxedo height, covered in a luxurious velvet plaid in shades of warm brown is elegantly traditional. It is a sofa bed with a queen size mattress, ideal for visiting firemen.

Chain Saw An Outdoorsman's Gift

The problem of "what to give the man who has everything" is compounded when the recipient is an outdoorsman. After a collection of fishing tackle, guns and cmaping equipment is acquired, the selection of a gift becomes complicated.

For those with an outdoors man on their Christmas list, help comes from one of America's best known sportsmen — Gene Tenace of the Oakland Athletics.

First basemen Tenace, of course, was the player who helped bring Oakland its first professional sports championship when be belted four home runs during the 1972 World Series.

Early this year, Tenace made a nationwide tour to appeal for responsible care of the outdoors by every sportsman. He is a leading proponent of the campaign by the Department of the Interior to "Clean up America for our 200th anniversary."

And according to Gene, his favorite Christmas gift last year was a McCulloch Mini Mac chain saw.

It was a case of "be sure to open before Christmas" for Gene, who received the chain saw in time to cut the family Christmas tree at a Christman tree farm near his hometown of Lucasville, Ohio.

And before the baseball season began, Tenace used his saw while hunting in California's Sacramento delta area and vacationing at a cabin in the High Sierra wilderness.

At the mountain camp, his chain saw kept him in a full supply of firewood and provided him with an instant hobby. Gene learned to make camp furniture by carving fallen trees and stumps into chairs, table tops and a rifle rack.

Gene believed his rustic furniture might lead to a lifelong hobby. "I won't always be able to swing a bat, but I'll probably always be able to use a lightweight chain saw," he said.

Tenace also referred to the use of chain saws during his appeal for outdoor cleanup: "I do a lot of hunting and camping and it's amazing what I see — dead trees choking out young growth and debris damaging streams and rivers.

"We all have to take the responsibility for our own part of the outdoors," Tenace stressed.

Gene's gift saw was McCulloch's Mini Mac 1 chain saw, which includes a 10-inch bar and chain and was the first super lightweight saw (6.9 pounds less bar and chain) to have a manufacturer's suggested retail price of less than $100.

Yule Scent

Good Gifts Needn't Be Expensive

Even though she's suffering from a pinch in the pocketbook, Mrs. or Miss Santa can still gift her guy generously, with several presents, all of the kind he'll use with pride and pleasure.

With a touch of imagination, the price problems of a long Christmas list turn into a wealth of nifty, thrifty gifts. That's because this Yuletide, as always, thoughtful little gifts can express a lot of love. And many of them are price-tagged $6 or less.

For example, slipper socks and bow ties can be great ways to gift him from (almost) head to toe. Back in the fashion limelight, bow ties complement his well-dressed, up-to-date look. On the other hand — or foot — slipper socks show concern for his comfort. After ski or after snow shoveling, he can slip them on and pad around the house, cozily.

Still in the $6-and-under category, masculine colognes and after-shaves offer a sparkling variety of gifted ideas plus the extra fillip of novel bottle designs as refreshing as the skin bracing fragrances they contain.

Promising to be among the Christmas shoppers' favorites are two miniature glass milk bottles, each with a different wake-up fragrance, complete with their own carrier for under three dollars.

For a special Christmas knight, there's a special "Knight" bottle from The Mennen Co. filled with 10 ounces of Wild Moss Skin Bracer. If he's a chess buff or a bottle collector, so much the better. The bottle is a faithful replica of a hand-carved chess piece and a limited edition series, with just 144,000 bottles available. Each bears an individual collector's serial number, and the price is just over four dollars.

Or, how about giving him "Trouble" for Christmas? "Trouble" after-shave or cologne, that is! Gift sets provide a plus, in that the packages are reusable with a no-trouble price, six dollars. For instance, 4 oz. bottles of cologne and after-shave come in a giant pair of bright red dice which can double as display cubes for snapshots or as desk/dresser caddies for pencils, cufflinks, odds and ends.

What's more, gift shoppers can pre-sample its bold, unusual and long-lasting fragrance because every package has a "Scratch & Sniff" price label. Just scratch it with a fingernail and the actual scent is released.

"Scratch & Sniff" makes gift sampling easy, but otherwise there's no need to scratch around for the nifty, thrifty and gifty. Ideas abound.

Felt-tipped pens, for example. At well under six dollars, they're handy for doodling or serious note-taking, and he should have a handful of them.

Or, gift-wrap him in a muffler. Mufflers are the kind of thing a man can always use and, seemingly, can always lose. Replenish his supply with Christmas-cheerful colors, plaids, prints, wools, synthetics, blends.

For Youngsters

Pre-teeners, non-Santa believers, enjoy more sophisticated little gifts. Film for a camera (ready to be discovered under the tree), pen sets, transistor radios and batteries, scented candles, hip rings and pendants and embroidered patches turn Christmas morn on for them.

One more thing. Remember to save a little money for mistletoe. He'll certainly want to kiss such a clever, and generous giver.

for the BOSS

MODEST PRICES — The shopper with a long list and a pinched pocketbook will find Mennen's mimics a real lifesaver. Replicas of everything from milk bottles to chess pieces are filled with fragrant after-shave lotions and colognes at $6 and under.

Do-It-Yourselfers Can Make Own Christmas Cards

HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI) — Happy with clutter up to your knees, fingers stuck with glue and splashed with paint or ink? You're ripe for making your own Christmas cards.

It's creative, it's different, it probably won't save money. But very satisfying—even if you have to put the cards in the oven to dry the week before Christmas because ink or paint is wet—day after day after day.

The points I make are based on experience—years of going right up to the mailing deadline with wet cards or with cards that came apart because too little glue was used.

I have had cards that leak through the envelope, cards (actually Xeroxed letters) that turned out lumpy in the envelopes.

Whatever, it's pure joy getting the homemade Christmas greetings into the mailbox on time. That means getting them there at the latest, Dec. 24. The postmark must be before Dec. 25.

Homemade cards come in three main types. One, the photo. Two, the letter reporting on family happenings. Three, the art card—painted, block printed, pasted, made of felt or even a needlepoint design.

Easiest is the photo card. The biggest problem here: getting the family to agree on a picture. Scenery, people or pets, you've got to get a picture that suits. And then you've got to get enough copies in time. Early November is none too soon to make the selection. Families with little children sometimes dress all in the same outfits—nightgowns and nightcaps and slippers. They gather round the fireplace and each holds a candle. You can vary the costumes but make it something in the holiday mood. Next go to a photo store or an art supply place and get suitable folders for the pictures.

For the Christmas letter or annual report, you'll need an evening or two of brain-picking. Each family member must come up with highlights or his or her life during the past year—acquiring a turtle or getting over the chickenpox, winning a race or losing a tooth. Promotions are okay to mention. But skip any demotions.

Everything in the report ought to be positive. This kind of "card" probably is the least expensive. Once you get it typed—just have it Xeroxed or have copies made some other way. Then affix Christmas stickers here and there to impart a holiday touch. If someone in the family is artistic, a cartoon enhances this type homemade greeting. The letter card has limitations. You can't send it to everyone on the list. The most appreciative recipients usually are relatives, grade school friends and really close acquaintances.

For help with an art card it's best to first visit an art supply store. Your cranium will fill with visions of grandiose productions as you look over easy-does paints, linoleum block printing equipment— rollers, press, ink, papers, cutting tools. After looking, go home and think. Before settling on the design of a card figure the time to produce and the cost. Before going ahead be sure—you can afford the price and the time.

At our house we make linoleum block prints, a Christmas custom that started when our son learned the technique in grade school. We all pitch in on the design, submitting ideas. Some too complicated, are discarded. Last year it all was very last minute—started three weeks before Christmas. We settled on a stylized drawing of the word "Joy."

Each card, hand printed, involves inking the block—a process that cannot be speeded up. It takes from five to 10 minutes at least to print each card. Then each one must be dried. There have been years when we had the cards hanging on lines all over the house until the drying was completed. Ovens are used as a last resort.

If you think linoleum block printing is an art form for your homemade card that art supply store will have available a booklet of simple instruction. The basic block must be carved with tools that are a cross between a surgeon's and a jeweler's tools. Practice makes the carving perfect.

Persons with a bit of artistic talent—and most have some—can practice with felt tip pens or fast-drying water-based paints, trying to come up with a cheerful holiday design. It may be a stylized tree, a candy cane, an avant garde bell. If you are such a person, practice. When you come up with a design that's pretty, easy to duplicate without too much expenditure, ask the family—does this get your vote for our homemade Christmas card this year?

Keep trying 'til you come up with a design that pleases. While you're making it, put all to work addressing envelopes or writing the message inside each card with a felt-tip pen.

What should you say? Well, there's Merry Christmas, Happy New Year.

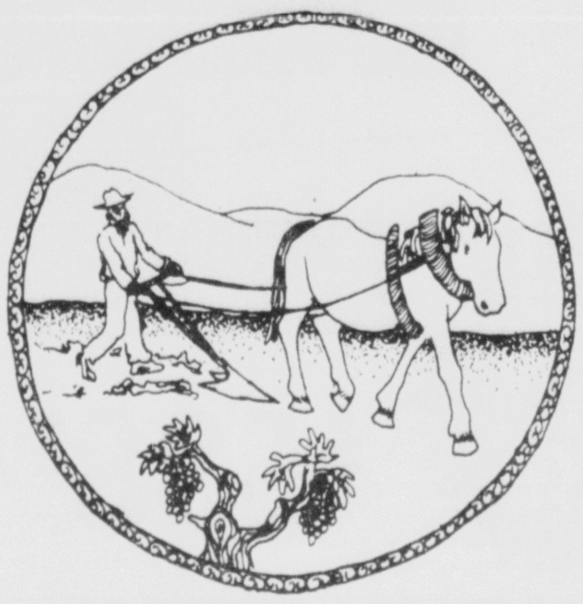
A GIFT OF CIVILIZATION



THIS YEAR, GIVE WINE

We are not quite sure of the exact date man first made wine, but artifacts and primitive paintings indicate that it was part of our life more than 5000 years ago.

A Doll For Him? A Football For Her?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — No matter how much feminists preach and implore, the toy makers of America don't seem to have gotten the message.

The toy makers, for the most part, are still sexist—at least in their catalogues. A review of the new ones from major toy makers shows girls playing with dolls and boys playing with planes, footballs and other "boy" toys.

As every good feminist knows, such sex-stereotyping in the playworld leads to sexism in the adult world. Persons brought up on such playthings, for example, will tend to think in the grown-up world there are definite roles for males and definite roles for females and never the twain shall cross.

The toy makers really wouldn't mind if image-makers among the feminists went away. They have enough trouble these days bringing almost completely safe toys. Considering what children do to toys in their world of play, that's a big job. It might be impossible.

I don't know what a mom or dad would do if little son asked Santa for a doll with hair "long enough to brush and curl, complete with a wardrobe for every occasion—from bikini to ballgown." Enlightened parents, faced with such a situation, are not supposed to blink.

Or—if daughter wants a football outfit or a new baseball bat, parents aren't supposed to blink either.

For all the "little persons" in your house here's a rundown on the new dolls.

"Real little girls' expressions go from grinning glee to a forelorn frown in a matter of seconds—all reflected in a cute, pert, sassy and sweet face," says the Mattel announcement on Saucy.

"Like real 'little girls,' a wink, blink, smile, frown, yawn, pout and grin are just a few of the expressions that can appear on the face of Saucy, the most expressionable doll ever."

The facial expression of Saucy involve both eye and mouth movements that are "comparable to the real expressions of little girls" everywhere, say the Mattel people.

Now the face of this doll comes alive as the child moves the doll's left arm. With each turn, her face will reflect moods from happy to sad. To make the little person playing with her giggle, Saucy will cross her eyes. That's what the Mattel people point out.

There also are bean dolls. These apparently are unisex. They are called Bitty Bean, Puppet Punky and Puffen. Soft, cuddly, washable. A child's hand inserted in Punky or Puffen can give the puppets lifelike animation—male or female. The bean dolls are described as "great friends in time of need and they love to be loved." Maybe every adult should have one?

Shindana Toys, a division of Operation Bootstrap in Los Angeles, Calif., is a "now" toy company that has a dual purpose. From its conception in the minds of black men who wanted to rebuild after the Watts riots of half a decade ago, it has been superb in the development of toys that help children grow in imagination. The first dolls were the first authentic ones for black children.

The newest Shindana talking doll repeats the company's motto—"Learn, Baby, Learn." Shindana translates "competitor." Says something else about the company. Profits from Shindana go into a child development center.

The Shindana dolls include:

—Rhonda. "This loveable black rag doll is colorfully dressed in the latest fashion—a big apple hat, mod dress and knee socks. (Shindana also hasn't worked sex-stereotyping out of its doll line and at the Toy Fair described Rhonda as "22 inches of love for a little girl.")

—Talking Tamu says "Cool it, baby" and "I'm proud."

Scented Candles Make Good Gifts

It might be a good idea to stock up on several pair of tapered candles as well as the "chunky" kind to meet those unexpected moments. No worry, either, about what to do with any that may be left over.

Curls Are Great For Christmas

What could be prettier for the holidays than a head full of soft, feminine curls? And whether your hair is short, medium or long, curly is definitely the way to look for the special days ahead this festive season.

In order to show off those curls to best advantage, however, your hair will have to be in good condition. So start following a program tailored for your particular type of hair. Choose a special shampoo — one for dry hair, oiliness, normal hair, dandruff or color treated hair — then follow up with individualized conditioning.

You don't have to go to great expense to give yourself good conditioning treatments. Some of the best conditioners of all are made from things you can buy in the supermarket. If your hair is dry, for example, there's nothing that will perk it up better than a warm olive oil treatment. Dip a piece of cotton in some warm oil and apply it to your scalp. Then wrap a steaming hot towel around your head. After 15 minutes, shampoo thoroughly.

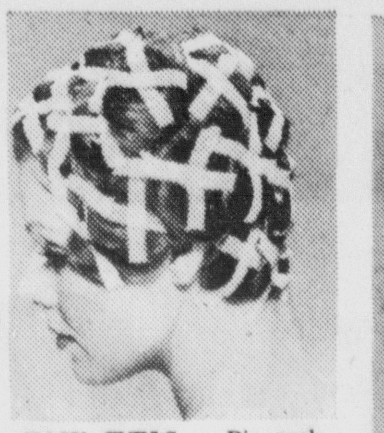
If oily hair is your problem, wrap your brush in some cheesecloth and give your head a good brushing. The cloth will pick up much of the oil and dirt. Follow this with a thorough shampooing. A couple of teaspoons of vinegar added to the final rinse will help give your hair shine without any oiliness.

If your hair is normal, an avocado makes the perfect shampoo - conditioner for you. Using half a peeled avocado and a little water, mash thoroughly until you achieve a creamy mixture. Then work this into your scalp and hair. You can make sure that all your hair benefits from the conditioning avocado by combing the substance through with a wide-toothed comb. After ten minutes, rinse thoroughly with clear water. No shampoo is necessary as the mixture cleans as well as conditions.

Once your hair is properly shampooed and conditioned, put some style into it with pin curls, a setting technique that's really quite easy to do. After applying some setting lotion, simply wind sections of hair around your fingers, secure and you're set.

Want tight curls? Use one finger for the winding. For a looser look, wind the hair around two or three fingers. An easy and pretty way to do "pin" curls is with pinked Scotch Hair Set Tape. It's porous, so hair dries quickly, and it's kind to both hair and skin.

Once the hair is dry, give it a thorough brushing. The curls will fall in more naturally that way. Comb into place, spray lightly with a hair spray, and you're ready to have a beautiful holiday!



EASY CURLS — Pin curls with tape are making a big comeback because they are such an easy, gentle way to achieve a soft, curly look that's kind to both hair and skin.

Fresh Idea

Heirloom Silver Can Be Refinished As Rare Gift

Heirloom silver is oftimes the most prized possession of the household. There's the pitcher that was Great Grandmother's wedding present, a few pieces of flatware from Grandfather's homesteading days.

An offbeat Christmas gift could be to have the heirloom silver refinished by a professional jeweler. It won't diminish the sentimental value, and it will enhance the beauty.

Talking Stereo Viewers Are Fun, Educational Too

One prime example of just such an educational gift is the Talking View-Master electronic/lighted stereo viewer. With it, children can listen to a synchronized recording while enjoying the realism of full-color, three dimensional photographs of science or travel adventures or their favorite cartoon characters, GAF makes it.

The stereo viewing mechanism of the electronic/lighted sound viewer is the same as that of the time-proven standard View-Master viewer, except that the visual image is illuminated internally by two type "C" batteries to insure constant brightness.

The electronic/lighted sound model is also just as easy to use as the standard viewer. Children merely have to push the scene lever, press the sound bar, and the popular stereo pictures describe the scene being viewed. The audio dimension emanates from a tiny record fixed permanently to the back of the ⅜-D reel with the sound projected through a speaker in the front of the viewer. Modern electronic circuitry in the speaker system adds high-fidelity, while a volume control raises or lowers the sound level.

Packaged in an attractive permanent storage cannister, the electronic/lighted sound viewer is bright blue in color and can also be used to view standard View-Master reels without sound.

Boys And Girls Go For Toys That Have Action

Kusan's Johnny Pick-Up does just that, as well as being part toy and part mother's helper! Squeeze the handle and the sturdy arms pick up objects weighing up to two pounds.

Johnny Pick-Up, for ages two to five, is made of high impact plastic and rolls on large, durable plastic wheels. The handle is factory assembled too.

Very imaginative, very practical and very safe, it has no sharp points or harmful features.

New Riding Toys Can Be Year-Round Delight

Among new riding toys is the Mr. Potato Head. Fashioned after the popular Mr. Potato Head, the four-wheel toy has a removable saddle with storage space for removable facial features. Mr. Potato Head will carry 65 pounds.

The newest in spring-powered rocking horses has the authentic look of corral. The horses are attached to simulated wood corral posts and beams molded of unbreakable polyethylene plastic.

Also ridable and from Hi-Ho Products of Sharpsburg, Pa., are tiny tug, circus wagon, tot train, and the li'l fire truck. For toddlers, these move from here to there on casters.

All sorts of wooden riding horses are available from Toby Toys of America, Sacramento, Calif. The number one favorite is the wood rocking horse with adorable, hand-painted features that give Toby Toys happy faces. Parents love the horses almost as much as the kids do.

If snow's expected, the Santa presents include snow scoots. These are oval shaped and have rudders to enable the rider to steer to left or right by pull of a rope. The scoot is made of plastic and manufactured by Funopoly of Jackson Heights, N.Y.

Also interesting for snow time are coasting sheets. These are 18-inch-by-42-inch sheets of durable polyethylene with hand holds. You sit on one, hold the front part up like a toboggan and whiz down the slope.

The AMF Wheel Goods unit at Olney, Ill., is in with a "wee hot seat." This is a junior version of the 1972 classic, especially engineered for toddlers and tots from two to four years of age. The wee hot seat features a high-impact molded plastic bucket seat and twin strut chopper handlebars.

The newest thing on wheels for smallsters is an all-terrain truck. From Garton Toy Co. in Sheboygan, Wis., the truck looks like a tricycle in front. In the back is a cargo-carrying wagon, complete with four huge wheels.

In the sidewalk bike class are such things as sonda scramblers and lady sondas. These are play versions of Honda bikes. Actually they are scooters with seats. Training wheels aft keep rider from tipping.

For the do-it-yourselfers there is a you-ride-it racer kit—wire spoke wheels and all the other parts.

For the not so steady among adults wanting pedal power there is the adult tricycle complete with carrying basket at the rear. For young moms and dads, senior citizens, lazy riders and folks who just never learned to ride a two wheeler.

FRIENDLY FEELING

A gift whose glow gives a warm friendly feeling during the holiday season — and ever after — is an outdoor wall lantern to hang near the front door. Ideal for modern homes or apartment townhouses, the styling will blend with almost any decor.

A Newsletter Can Spark Up Your Christmas Card

Add a fresh touch to holiday greetings. When Christmas cards are being written to distant friends and relatives, slip a little something extra into the envelope. Enclose a family newsletter.

It's fun for the whole family to gather together happy events of the past year. This includes the addition of a newborn, a first grandchild, that long-awaited trip that was taken, marriages, graduations, promotions, awards and interesting future plans.

Friends will look forward to an "across-the-miles" synopsis that keeps them abreast of the family's turn of events.

They will be able to print as many copies as you need. They should be in a position to do your "Family Letter" on green or Christmas red paper to heighten the festive holiday effect of the news-greeting.

Yule Car Pools

Avoid parking problems and shop with friends. Chances are most of your friends will be patronizing the same shopping areas as you, so why not start a shopping car-pool.

Toys For Adults Abound This Year

Children may not be the only ones to get toys for Christmas, if a new Christmas catalog is any indication.

Not only is the "wish book" full of dolls and train sets, but also a varied selection of adult toys and hobby kits.

The most unusual toy for adults is a Pachinko pinball machine, attractive enough to keep on display in a den or recreation room. It's a genuine, completely reconditioned, upright machine from the famous Pachinko Arcades of Tokyo's Ginza strip. Instead of the conventional five or six steel balls, the game has hundreds of smaller ones — the better you play, the longer you can play.

Distinctive chess sets, which span almost two pages in Ward's 443-page book, range in design, size and price to make an impressive collection. For the hearty, chess can be a triple threat with a three-dimensional board. King Arthur, Florentine, Roman, Napolean, Gothic and Staunton may sound like classic architectural styles, but each represents a chess collector's series.

Equally as challenging as chess, but a bit more contemporary, are computer games which pit man against machine. Sports can be simulated electronically — you're the quarterback selecting the right play based on the game situation. The computer matches wits (or tries to- and the results flash instantly on the board.

Do-it-yourselfers have novel statue and barn art kits to help novice painters turn paster or wood objects into works of art. The statue kit creates conversation pieces out of plaster casts of W. C. Fields, Oliver Hardy, Stan Laurel and Charlie Chaplin. With the barn art kit, rough-hewn wood panels (included) become traditional wall hangings.

FROM TOKYO — Direct from Tokyo's glittering Ginza strip comes this Pachinko game, a pinball machine that is actually an authentic, reconditioned machine far more exciting than the American pinball machines.

New designs in needlepoint, crewel and afghans are as much fun to make as they are to display or give as gifts. The three afghan kits offer colorful fiesta, ripple and patchwork designs, while the five needlepoint and 13 crewel kits come alive with flowers, birds, fish and street scenes.

Who said toys were for kids?

Some Ideas For Outdoor Friends

Christmas is a time to give — even to the feathered friends that delight everyone through the year. They can be remembered during the holidays with suet trees.

Mount little evergreens in stands and tie suet to them along with home made decorations. Place them on the lawn and birds will flock for the Christmas meals.

But, remember if some unexpected squirrels invite themselves for a nibble, it's Christmas for them, too!

Excellent Ideas For Gourmet Cook

Any gourmet cooks on your Christmas gifts list? If so, there is a whole exciting world of accessories to gift even the most discriminating chefs.

Among useful items are: professional-type Wok sets, for preparing oriental dishes; a two-way break-maker kettle; souffle dishes; noodle makers; and a folding omelet pan.

Useful and decorative kitchen aids comprise other items from which to select presents. Among these are metal pan racks, a hanging peddlers' scale and multi-piece wood or metal kitchen tool sets.

Yule Cards A Bonus To Stamp Collectors

Then, the stamps should be placed on absorbent paper for drying.

It may even interest the youngsters enough to decide to start stamp collecting as a hobby for themselves.

Material Gift For Needleworker

What to give the people who like to do it themselves, the gal who sews all her own clothes, the young man who tools his own leather belts and sandals.

No matter what they do, they need the material to do it with, and they'd be delighted to find these necessities under their trees on Christmas morning.

Kits for needle point, petit point, or gros point are available for everything from a dainty evening bag to a room-size rug.

If mother loves to make clothes, give her a hint by wrapping a pattern and material together for something she can make for you.

Macrame kits, things to embroider, jewelry kits, all will be welcomed by the do-it-yourselfer.

And don't forget — it's not just women who are plying needles; men have joined the ranks of stitchers who are making beautiful things for beautiful people.

An Electric Shaver Is A Smooth Gift

An electric shaver is sure to smooth the way to holiday fun, and the lucky guy who receives a great Ronson 1000XL probably won't even wait to unwrap his other gifts before he starts running its stainless steel micro-thin shaving screen over his manly cheeks.

He's in for a revelation as the 1000XL's 36 precision honed stainless steel blades give him the closest shave in the fastest time with the lightest touch he's ever experienced.

Toyland Trip Pays Off In Right Choice

With so many new dolls, toys and games being offered this Christmas, parents and children can use all the help available to select the right gifts for giving and receiving.

One of the best ways to answer any toy question is for Mom, Dad and the kids to visit the "Toyland." There, all of the toys are on display; many sample models are available for demonstrations and "testing."

This permits the children to actually see if the toy performs as he thinks and if the doll does what she hopes.

Christmas Gift Guide

Gather 'Round The Fireplace For Big Feed

The techniques for charcoal cookery in the fireplace are simple and let you enjoy the delicious flavor of foods cooked over charcoal briquets all year around. Special charcoal grills are manufactured for use in the fireplace . . . for instance, one by Structo. The grill and firebox or pan are attached to a pole that adjusts to fit in the fireplace opening. But any of the smaller grills that will fit in your fireplace may be used including hibachis, the smaller models of the kettle cookers and the portable grills.

Fireplace chefs would do well to note a few tips from the experts at the Charcoal Briquet Institute. Adequate ventilation is a must for all charcoal grilling, so make sure the fireplace flue or draft is open and the smoke goes up the chimney. To light the briquets, use either a liquid or solid starter or an electric type starter. Never use gasoline or kerosene. After lighting the charcoal never remove it from the fireplace. When you're finished grilling either let the coals burn out in the grill firebox or empty the live coals out in the fireplace to use as a base for starting a wood fire.

For the fireside Christmas dinner, try a turkey breast, a nice change from a whole turkey. Most turkey breasts are found in the frozen meat section of the supermarket and range in size from three to 10 pounds. For the larger 8-10 pound breast, simply fillet it or remove it from the breast bone on either side.

The boned breast is wrapped in bacon and grilled very slowly over a bed of coals. The key to juicy, tender turkey breast is to grill it slowly. If there is room, while the turkey is cooking, do double duty with the lighted briquets and cook the squash too. Place the whole squash right on the coals and let them cook, turning often, and the flavor is simply delicious.

GRILLED TURKEY BREAST

(Makes 8 to 10 Servings)

1 turkey breast, about 8 pounds
Salt and pepper
½ pound sliced bacon

Cut through skin along both sides of the breast bone and remove breast meat. Follow contour of carcass, taking off as much meat as possible in two large pieces. (Simmer bone in water with seasonings and use for soup stock, gravies, etc.)

Sprinkle each piece of turkey with salt and pepper. Wrap bacon strips around each piece and secure bacon with skewers.

Grill about eight inches from low coals for one hour. Turn occasionally with tongs. Turkey is done when lightly browned and tender. Check for doneness by cutting a small slit in largest part of meat.

Note: Turkey breasts vary in size from about three pounds to 12 pounds. For a small turkey breast (under four pounds) crack breast bone, flatten meat and grill in one piece. Time will vary with the size and thickness of the breast. If using a large frozen turkey breast which has been thawed, cook both breast pieces. Leftover cooked turkey may be served cold for sandwiches, used in casseroles or wrapped tightly and refrozen.

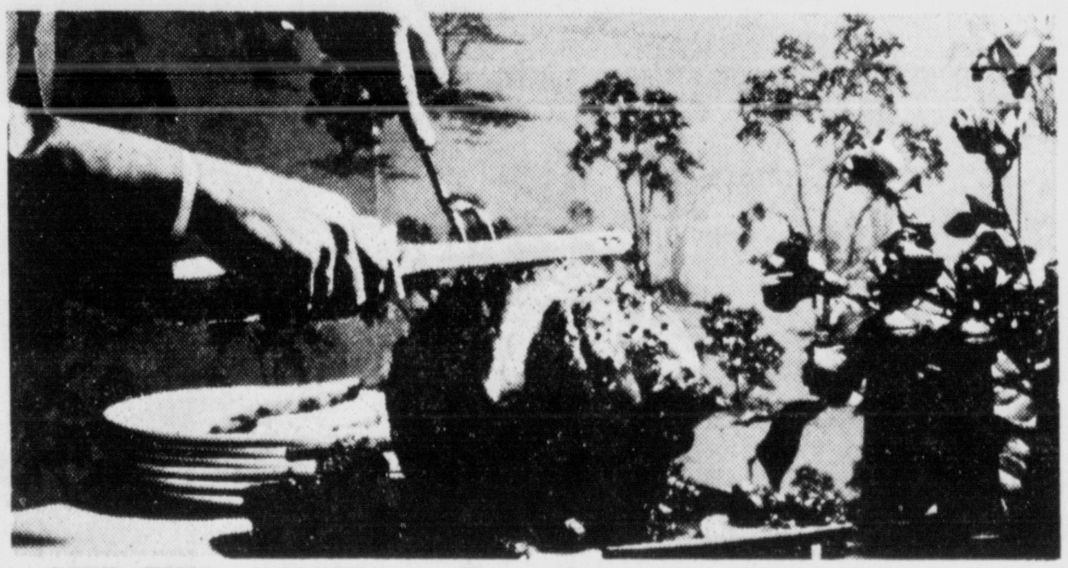
Different brands of charcoal give off varying degrees of heat. To test the temperature of a charcoal briquet fire, it is recommended that you cautiously hold your hand, palm side down, just above the grill. Judge temperature by number of seconds hand can be kept in position. For this recipe a low temperature is desired. Your hand should be kept in position for five seconds.

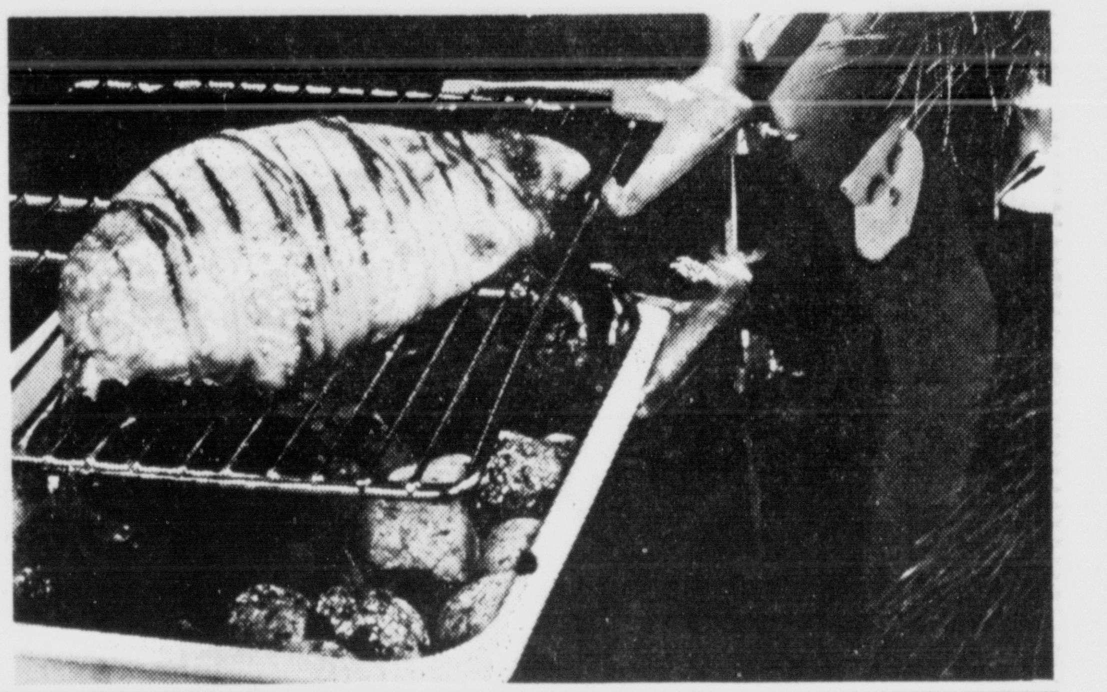
To lower temperature of charcoal fire, raise grill or separate coals. To raise temperature, tap the outer gray layer from coals and push coals closer together. If more coals are needed, add them to outer edge of hot coals.

EMBER ROASTED ACORN SQUASH

Place acorn squash in coals, leaving a few briquets to surround each. Turn frequently with tongs until fork tender, about one hour,15 minutes.

When cooked, remove from coals; cut in half and remove seeds. Serve immediately with butter, salt and pepper. About one tablespoon of maple syrup may be added to each squash half. Allow one acorn squash for two servings.





GIFT TIME GOODIES — The challenge of carving the holiday ham or turkey can be easily overcome with the aid of an electric slicing knife (left) whether the man of the house is an expert or not. And for Christmas dinner by the fireside (right) there's any number of small portable grills for turning out something like a charcoal grilled turkey breast and ember roasted acorn squash.

Lighters Can Solve A Problem

Gift hunting got you down? Too few ideas for too many names on your list?

This year Ronson has a selection of 39 elegant new automatic butane table lighters and sets. They all have the exciting advanced Varaflame/MK II ignition system that completely eliminates the flame snuffer cap, furnishing a totally unobstructed light for pipes, cigars and cigarettes — and a trimmer appearance, as well.

All feature fingertip flame adjustment, hidden extra flint storage and quick, clean refueling that provides up to three years of lights from a single filling.

FUNNY FACE — This funny face is an ideal gift for an infant. It can be used as a puppet and also can rattle and squeak. It is also a toy for interaction between the parent and the child.

Classic Look Returns

The fashion news this Christmas is the return to the classic in a wide variety of men's sportswear — from tennis clothes to that favorite gift item, the sweater.

When you add the spice of a truly seasonal color to the gift of a classic, long-sleeved turtleneck sweater from Puritan Sportswear, you can be sure that the man — or men — in your life will be doubly pleased.

For this Christmas Puritan presents its classic favorite in a choice of a dozen colors — ranging from pale beige, through lovely heathers, to deep-toned solids. You might choose a deep, ruby wine red; or a bright fire-engine red or a raspberry heather.

A special advantage of Puritan's "Peer Hi" sweater is that it is made of pure lambswool that can be machine washed and tumble dried. It's a gift that a man will want to put on the very day he receives it.

Save Time

How to save time? Plan your gifts list on paper, now. Careful planning now will determine exactly which stores you will be shopping in. This way you can make all your purchases there at one time.

Important Hours

The "after normal shopping hours" will be of special importance to the many more women than ever before in the history of this nation, who are working women.

Caroling Is A Highlight Of Holidays

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most festive traditions of Christmas each year is the family gathering around a piano or organ to sing old and new carols.

The caroling custom goes back as far as 129 A.D. when the Bishop of Rome instituted the tradition of celebrating the Nativity with songs of Noel. By the 5th Century in France people were gathering in the village squares to sing some of the same Yule favorites we know today. But the musical accompaniment came from a lute or lyre, two instruments very popular at that time.

Among the carols whose tune's or words were sung then, says the American Music Conference AMC, was one we know today as "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

The Fifth Century version of this carol consisted of a dialogue between a Druid and a scholar. Early Christian missionaries adapted the song to include religious subjects: one God; two testaments; three Patriarchs; four Evangelists; five Books of Moses; six Water Vessels at Cana; seven Sacraments; eight Beatitudes; nine Degrees of Angels; Ten Commandments; 11 stars that appeared to Joseph, and 12 apostles.

In Sweden it is still customary to herald in the Christmas season by playing the Advent hymn on trumpets, trombones and kettledrums. This tradition dates back to the second half of the Seventh Century.

By the 16th Century, European nobility were no longer in the habit of singing their own carols. However, they did employ minstrels also called waits — to play Christmas songs outside the chambers of members of the family.

In Italy, about the same time, a tradition developed for shepherds to come down from the mountains at Christmas time and go through the towns in groups of three.

A COLORFUL TOY

The youngster of the household can find many hours of fun from this colorful toy with a horn and a curved neck that gyrates in a funny twisting motion.

Carpet The Family Room For Christmas

Carpet for the family room makes a wonderful present for everyone. It doesn't have to cost a small fortune, either, if you select one of the new attractive shags or prints with their own built-in backing of high density latex foam rubber.

Foam rubber backed carpets take the work out of installation and eliminate the need for a separate padding, which can add upwards of three dollars to each square yard of carpet. They are also moisture and mildew-proof, so they go right over cement floors, which is helpful in a basement recreation room.

These all-in-one carpets are available in a variety of brightly colored shags and good-looking prints, which include designs appropriate for Mediterranean, Traditional and Modern furniture.

Many of the shags are available in six-foot widths as well as in the usual 12-foot broadlooms, which makes them easier to handle if you are doing the installation yourself. Absence of a separate pad also makes installation easier, as well as less expensive.

With most of these foam rubber backed carpets, installation is simply a matter of rolling out the carpet and snipping it to fit the room with a carpet knife or scissors. If the six-foot widths are used, seams can be joined with double-face tape.

Tape can be used also to secure the carpet in doorways and other heavy traffic areas. However, the carpet won't slip or move on the floor since the foam rubber backing provides a solid anchor for the carpet.

All-in-one carpet makes an attractive and economical Christmas gift for the entire family. And you might even have an installation party during the holiday season. The work is minimal and the added warmth and comfort of carpet underfoot will be appreciated.

Cope With Crush Of Christmas

With the GE compactor all that bulky trash can be reduced to one-quarter its original size in less than a minute, permitting the grownups to enjoy Christmas morning fun while keeping up with the clutter. (A reminder: Be sure all boxes are empty before discarding them . . . the new watch won't tick too well after being crushed by 2000 pounds of force in this compactor.)

Whose Name Is First?

Whose name comes first if you use a card with your names printed or engraved on it?

Always at the top. Otherwise, they might seem like a signature.

When signing the card, whose name is written first — the husband's or wife's?

It is courteous for the person signing the card to write the other's name first. For example, if you sign the card for yourself and your husband, it should read: "Tom and Mary".

Power Centers Do Many Chores

The newest concept in kitchen appliances — portable, multi-purpose food preparation systems — will activate festivities in every lucky home where a Ronson Whisper Drive Dial-The-Speed Appliance Power Center arrives for the holidays.

This versatile new unit operates not only a blender carafe, but four optional attachments for juicing, sharpening knives and scissors, grinding coffee beans and crushing ice, as well.

Its unique control dial provides infinite speed selection through the full range of 24 numbered positions, with specialty marked settings for the four optional attachments.

The Whisper Drive Dial-The-Speed Appliance Power Centers are loaded with unique design, operating and safety features that put them in a class by themselves. But the most important difference of all is the basic concept: five appliances, all driven by one quiet, powerful motor.

Make Shopping Fun For Entire Family

Leather Belts With Eye Appeal

How To Gain Most Out Of Chain Saws

If you've given your favorite man his favorite gift before Chirstmas, so he can enjoy putting it to work even before the Big Day, here are suggestions from experts that will help him get more pleasure and safe use out of it.

There's no secret technique to using a chain saw to take down old dead trees or to prune living ones but there are some tips that can make the job easier and safer.

The only right way to bring down a tree safely, according to a chain saw expert is to make sure it will fall in the direction you wish it to fall without danger to people, structures or utility wires. Start by checking out the tree close-up for rot. Rotten or dead trees may not fall in a predictable manner. If you are working with a rotted tree and have any doubt about your ability to bring it down, better hire a professional.

Next, stand back and look at the tree from a distance. If it's straight with branches evenly distributed, you should be able to correctly position its fall. If it leans or has heavy limbs on one side you may have problems that could complicate the fall. Again, you may want to bring in a professional.

If the tree is sound, and seems to present no felling problems, cut a wedge-shaped chunk on the side of the tree toward which you want it to fall. Cut the diagonal portion of the notch first and then make the horizontal cut.

The horizontal cut should penetrate about a third of the way through the trunk. Remove the wood from the notch. Next, make a straight saw cut on the backside of the tree about two inches higher than the horizontal cut. Don't cut all the way through. Leave a couple of inches of vertical wood standing. This will act as a hinge when the tree begins to fall and will help guide the tree down. Wedges driven into the cut on the back side of the tree also will help direct its fall.

As the tree starts to fall, move at an angle away from the direction of the fall. Don't stand next to the tree or in back of it. One additional caution: don't try to bring a tree down on a windy day. A strong gust of wind could throw the tree off course.

Pruning a tree. To make the pruning job easier and do the least amount of damage, remove limbs from standing tree by making the first cut from the underside of the branch. Cut approximately one-third the way through the limb. Then make the second cut from the top. This way, the saw won't bind in the cut and the branch will break off without tearing the bark.

After you've taken a tree down, it can easily be cut up for firewood. Finally, here are some tips on getting the most out of your chain saw:

First, be sure the chain is sharp. The size of the chips flying from the saw will tell you something about sharpness. If the chips are large, the saw is sharp. If they're small, it's dull. Saw teeth can be sharpened by hand or automatically. Chain saws equipped with a power-sharpening system have a grindstone fitted into the housing and the saw chain running against the stone automatically sharpens the saw teeth.

Second keep the chain lubricated when cutting. Be sure the oil is evenly distributed around the chain before you start cutting and oil the chain after cutting.

Third, don't cut into the ground with the saw. This will dull the blade and eventually cause mechanical problems.

CHAIN SAW TIPS — To prevent damage to the tree when pruning branches, make the first cut from the underside of the limb. Then make the second cut from the top. This way, the saw won't bind and the branch will break off without tearing the bark.

Our 1st Birthday

People plant trees so that they grow and serve a purpose. Marin County had grown and grown with a lot of creative people, and there was a big void — mainly that of a complete, one-stop hobby, arts and craft and model shop to supply most of the needs of todays families and modern hobbiests; something for creative people of all ages.

In this space in central Marin, we planted the HOBBY TREE, the largest store of its kind in the Pacific North-West, carrying not only beginners kits, but the bits and pieces that make hobbying fun for the advanced and or more creative hobbiest. In addition we carry, puppets and marionettes and supplies, magic, hand spun yarns and a selected grouping of quality gifts and games.

The idea of a store such as the HOBBY TREE was born in July 1972. We started talking about this concept to our friends and fellow hobbiests, asking them what they would like to see in such a store. Then we wrote to over 700 manufacturers, manufacturing representatives, importers and wholesalers — and we interviewed them and then went to visit as many of them as we could — so that we were thoroughly familiar with what they had to offer in the way of service and supplies.

The result was a store of 4,000 square feet, giving you that one stop hobby service that we knew you wanted. With several hundred suppliers to choose from, we selected 4 major ones and are currently dealing with 52 minor ones. Six months from the date of the idea, with the assistance of our neighbors and suppliers we opened the HOBBY TREE with some 6,000 types of items, the day after Thanksgiving 1972. In the past year we have learned a lot more about arts and crafts by listening to our customers and sharing ideas and experiences with them as well as our suppliers and by experimenting with the merchandise as it came in. In fact, as of the last inventory, we carry well over 22,000 separate types of items. This is really quite a bit, (our purchasing catalog is over 8 feet long) and yet we carry only about ⅓ of what is totally available — so don't be hurt if we don't carry your speciality or run out of items, we will re-stock, or probably add your item, as trees are expected to grow and branch out.

We also know that we don't have all the answers, however our average in being able to answer your craft questions runs over 91%.

For our staff, we have selected people who we felt were specialist in 2 or more areas, and who were willing to learn about other areas too and not remain stuck in their own world. So, that's our story, and here we are planted and nutured by your visits, and in return we hope that we provide you with the service you require.

Our customers say that they — "haven't seen a shop like this before." — "fantastic," "fabulous", "far out". In fact most of our customers and friends say that they now come to us first instead of last, as they have learned that if we don't carry it or know of a referral source, they probably won't be able to find it.

If you haven't discovered us yet, please . . . don't let another year pass before you do.

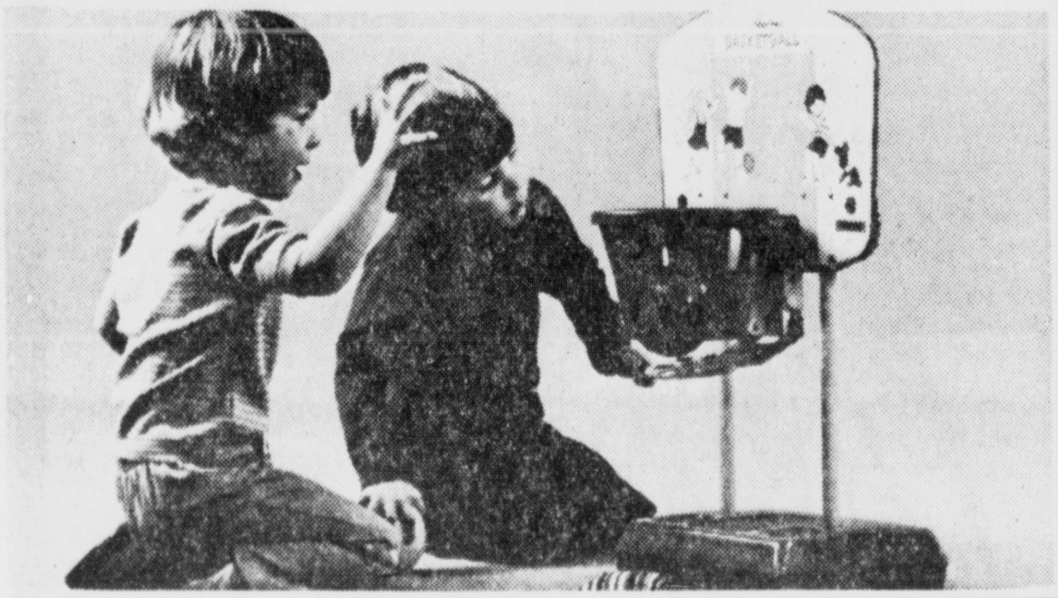
Making a big return this year will be the "big wheel" (top) outfitted this year with a tool box and rear wheel braking. And (below), the basketball game can be played indoors or out. There's an automatic scoring device built into its backboard and a bell rings when a point is scored. It's for the 3 to 8-year-old set.



Lights Add Twinkle To Your Home

This year make your home twinkle with good cheer — with imaginative decorations using Christmas lights. There's no reason to confine Christmas lights to the tree. Intertwined with greenery they frame mirrors, make mantels more appealing or table centerpieces come to life.

To make your decorating easier this year, GE is offering five new sizes and shapes of lights and decorations.

"LIGHTED BELLS" are glitter-coated ornaments three inches long and about two and a half inches wide. Available in ruby, gold, emerald and turquoise, "Lighted Bells" come in a two-pack for replacements in any standard indoor Christmas socket or as a 10-light set with cord and sockets.

"COLONIAL LIGHTS," available in a 12-light set, feature an attractive Early American lamp chimney over each tiny Merry Midget bulb.

"MERRY MIDGET TWINKLETTES" are being offered in 20 and 35-bulb sets in which half the lights twinkle on and off, while the other bulbs change from bright to dim. The effect is a subdued, soft twinkling action.

Toy Makers Keep Eye On Safety

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — "We don't want to make and sell unsafe toys any more than parents want to buy them," says Richard T. Reynolds, president of Childhood Interests/Alan Jay, a toy manufacturer in Roselle Park, N.J.

Reynolds, like dozens of other conscientious toy manufacturers, is not only trying to abide by safety guidelines now determined, but also to anticipate requirements that may be coming in the near future.

This company and some 250 other toy manufacturers that do 85 per cent of the toy business in this country are represented by the Toy Manufacturers of America, Inc. And this important association now has worked out a draft set of overall voluntary toy-safety guidelines with the National Bureau of Standards.

The draft — called "Voluntary Standard TS 215 — Safety Requirements for Toys" will be cleared through the National Bureau of Standards' Washington Editorial Review Board. Then it will be sent to 3,000 manufacturers, distributors, consumers and other interested groups for consideration and comment. All ensuing suggestions will be edited and incorporated, or rejected, by a standards-review committee.

When published, hopefully later this year, by the Department of Commerce, these standards will represent contributions made by consumers, safety and medical organizations, government departments — such as the Food and Drug Administration — toy manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, in fact, all groups with a legitimate interest in toy safety.

With this broad base of acceptance and consensus, the voluntary standards will then be subject to periodic review and revision as necessary. In this way they will always be up-to-date and consistent with improvements in design, materials, fabrication and packaging.

They will encompass such possible toy-safety problems as sharp edges, sharp points and projections, small parts, paints, flammable materials, toxic substances, noise levels, and stability of children's vehicles. Stuffed toy fillers, holes and slots, folding mechanisms, strings and elastics, exposed bolts or rods, wheels and axles, strings, and "confined spaces" will also be covered by the standards.

The new Federal Consumer Product Safety Commission, now functioning in Washington, D.C., will be sent this voluntary product standard for study, and the toy manufacturers' association has formally petitioned the commission to adopt these standards as a rule and to make them mandatory.

CHRISTMAS FAVORITE — A youngster tests a perennial Christmas morning favorite — a toy train. Toy manufacturers have joined together on safety guidelines with the National Bureau of Standards.

At present companies such as Childhood Interests/Alan Jay are manufacturing toys under the rigorous tests proposed for legislation by the Food and Drug Administration due soon to become mandatory. This 30-year-old company, which does a $3.5 million annual business, has, like many other toy manufacturing firms lately, even set up its own product safety testing laboratory — "not only to benefit parents and children but as a matter of enlightened self-interest."

It wants no government "ban," says Reynolds, on any tub, crib, push-pull or musical toy, cradle gym, or activity box that it makes for infants and toddlers. By setting up its own lab program to test each toy made, it proclaims its desire to comply with safety standards and its willingness to make design changes or other modifications before items are put in production.

A secondary purpose of the testing, the company says, is the continuous quality-control check on all structural materials. Toys in laboratories such as this are subjected to a battery of tests to find components that might break or separate, exposing surfaces that would present a possible risk of personal injury or illness to a child.

They include impact and compression tests, a bite test made on parts or components that a child might place in his mouth, a flexture test that du-

Think TV For Family Gift—All Year Round

Sometimes it's just plain difficult to remember "it's the season to be jolly" as you look over your gift list. You wonder where to start — is there anything new — is there something special? Just like last year.

Vowing to shop early will surely help. . .but it's by no means the whole solution. After all, how do you know what the family or friend wants to find under the tree if they haven't come right out and told you?

But, perhaps they have. Often the way a person talks about someone else's possessions will reveal unspoken desires.

Maybe this is the season to bring those desires home in a 365-day gift. One that will get the family together. . . like a new solid state color TV.

But, before you do, browse. Even one trip devoted to "just looking around" can make you a more aware purchaser and a happier owner. Sure, you know to check the color TV's performance and picture quality.

But, with all the talk of solid state and modular sets, it's the year to ask: is this solid state color TV properly designed to give longer life, greater dependability and improved performance?

It's the year to ask: will the television service technician be able to find the trouble and fix my set if something does happen?

It's the year to ask: does my solid state color TV warranty cover one year labor and parts?

It's the year to ask: is my warranty good if I move during the warranty period?

One brand that answers "Yes" to all those questions is General Electric. Their new line of solid state and modular color TVs from the 10 inch (diagonal) Porta Color® II TV to the ultra-contemporary 25 inch (diagonal) Mozambique shows care on the inside where it all happens and on the outside with styling authenticity at attractive prices. And GE TVs are nicely gift wrapped in after-purchase protection. It's a new way to look at things.

Maybe the decision isn't so hard after all. And just maybe this year you'll have the time to enjoy the season.

Toy Makers Keeping Eye Out For Safety

plicates long-term play activity by a child playing with a doll or character figure with inside steel wires, and a torque test to see what part of a toy a child might be able to twist off or apart, and what happens when a child falls on or against a semi-stationary plaything. An aspiration or ingestion test simulates a child's throat area and dtermines size limits of small objects he might swallow.

Although the toy safety lab requires considerably extra time and effort, the company's president says the program is well worth it, and that the next step is to make consumers more aware of what it is doing. The firm has already advised its distributors and retail store buyers of steps it has taken to insure product safety. Its current catalog states that all items featured have been tested, and are being manufactured, under the current federal toy-safety guidelines.

Most toy manufacturers feel the same way. Fisher-Price, for instance, the country's largest producer of preschool toys, uses both sophisticated and unsophisticated means of testing for toy safety. Designers and quality-control people at the plant in East Aurora, N.Y., are often seen riding toys, bouncing them, submerging them or smashing them. They put them through all the rigors an active child might impose on them, but with the added weight and muscle of an adult.

The company's quality-control department conducts impact tests and "pull" tests to determine how much stress a toy will stand when a child attempts to yank it apart.

In testing for a clear plastic material, a number were put through the impact test. Fisher-Price decided on Eastman's Tenite Butyrate — for which it pays a 400-per cent premium — because that material is almost impossible to break. On those rare occasions when it does, it will not shatter to produce sharp, jagged edges that can hurt a child.

Fisher-Price, the world's largest user of music boxes in toys, encases all of them in a plastic receptacle so no stray metal bits can ever fall into crib or playpen.

A treadmill arrangement will "walk" a toy for over 50 miles to assure that it will not break down. A vibration machine makes sure a toy can withstand truck, rail, or plane travel as well as the hard jolts a child would give it. A special "weather" chamber tells the manufacturer how any given toy will withstand temperature extremes.

Observers in the company's nursery school are on constant watch for such dangers as "pinch-points" — holes or openings in toys where a child could get his fingers caught. The company has an ingestion standard for the size of its parts, to save a child from choking. And the strings that wind up music boxes in crib toys are retractable, eliminating the chance that a child could strangle. No toxic materials at all are used.

Fisher-Price suggests that another important safety factor rests with the parents and grandparents who purchase toys. Toys for infants and toddlers must suit their age level, the company declares.

A pull toy can become dangerous, for instance, if put into a crib with an infant. This company labels all its toys with appropriate ages and hopes that all parents will heed the suggestions.

FREEZER-FRESH FRUITCAKES

You can get the jump on Christmas baking by making fruitcakes well ahead of the holidays and freezing them. A refrigerator with a top-mount freezer can hold dozens of fruitcakes and keep them fresh and tasty while still leaving plenty of room for the family's day-to-day freezer needs.

Simple Gift Can Please A Mother

To keep her purse in good condition, how about a wallet-credit card case-key ring combination, or any one of the three? Three children can team up to give mother's purse some organization.

A wool scarf to keep her neck warm, a knitted or crocheted helmet to keep her ears warm, wooly slippers for her weary feet when she gets home — women love them all.

When it comes to hosiery, think short. With many career women wearing pant suits and slacks to work, ankle length and knee length hose are just the thing.

Men Will Adore 'Shave Supreme'

Solving the big problem of the perfect gift for every man on your Christmas list may sound difficult — if not impossible.

But you can cheerfully wrap up the males, from teensters on, with one ready-for-the-show present that will not only be used, but gratefully remembered.

Together, they're impressive in a navy "mail box" trimmed with red, white and gold. The price of $8.50 covers the contents only, and the handsome, lasting container is a gift from Hattric.

Leather Jackets Are Ideal Gifts

Dashing leather jackets include blazers, pantscoats, cropped battle jackets and safaris. Luxurious leather coats in wraparound, belted and fur-trimmed styles offer as much fashion, and even more coverage.

In separates, choose from leather pants, skirts, shirts, vests and tunics.

The Tree Lighter Is Handy Item

AMF Paragone has a new automatic timer that will light the lights at a preselected hour and turn them off up to five hours later.

The Tree Liter plugs directly into any convenient wall socket, carries a capacity of 600 watts, and is about the size of a cigarette pack.

It not only controls Christmas tree lights; it may also be used for interior decorative lighting of every type — string lamps, flood lamps or spot lights. The Tree Liter comes in a case finished in holiday red and black.

Gift For Career Gal Not Difficult

Picking gifts for career gals isn't as difficult as it may seem. The 40 million women in the nation's work force utilize their shopping time for necessities, although they long for the pretty things in life.

Lovely handkerchiefs are always welcome. She may always use tissues in the office, but when she goes out she likes to carry a real hankie.

No woman ever has enough note paper, and she needs different types for her busy days. Little notes for a quick "thank you" and exciting paper that reflects her personality.

Men are welcome in lingerie departments, and women welcome gifts of lacy slips they wouldn't buy themselves, or frilly nightgowns that tell her how he feels.

Most women have gloves to ward off the cold, but they always need some "nice" ones for evenings. Suede, leather (lined or unlined), cotton — gloves to fill in her wardrobe.

Back To Childhood For Holiday Cards

NEW YORK (UPI) — In recent years, Christmas card publishers have found there's a steadily increasing demand for Christmas cards with Santa Claus designs for grown-ups to send.

People are nostalgic for the dimly-remembered but happy days of their own childhood when Santa's long-awaited visit was the glorious climax to the Christmas celebration. People have recognized that Santa, possibly better than any other symbol, epitomizes the warm-hearted spirit of Christmas.

Carving Tips

To carve a Christmas turkey or chicken, use a roast slicer ham slicer, and carving fork. Place the legs of the bird at the right. Insert the fork through the center of the wishbone curve, pushing the fork all the way down to straddle the backbone and give you a firm hold when carving.

A GIFT OF TIME

Space Age Gift Is New Lighter

Your radiant glow will reveal the joy of giving a truly elegant gift when someone very special opens the Ronson Electronic 7 lighter you selected to express what's in your heart.

This ingenious product of space age micro-electronices, superbly designed and engineered to fit into a personal lighter, is lavishly encased in heavy gold plate fully 10 microns thick.

Powered by a tiny standard 15 volt battery capable of 30,000 lights or more, the miniature circuit sparks ignition of the lighter's butane fuel with a feather-light movement of its almost silent switch.

To a most important person in your life, the Electronic 7's rich beauty, extraordinary craftsmanship and faultless operation show how much you care — and so will the pleasure you can't conceal in giving it.

GINGHAM AND PEBBLES

The base of this lamp is in a brand new finish called white pebble glaze and is capped by a pert pleated shade of brown and white gingham. The sculptured floral motif is also available in a matching vase and makes a perfect gift for someone who loves simple, elegant objects.

Washington Irving Invented Flying Santa

NEW YORK (UPI) — By 1809, Washington Irving was describing Santa as a jolly Dutch citizen looking very much like Father Knickerbocker. But the famed novelist began to wonder how Santa, on a horse, could get to all the nation's rapidly-increasing homes on Christmas Eve.

So Irving invented the familiar reindeer-drawn sleigh. And that's how Santa, a century before the Wright Brothers and their flying machine, zoomed off into the skies.

Cranberries Were Symbol Of Peace

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cranberries, most often associated with holiday meals, were a peace symbol to several Indian tribes.

Indian women gathered wild cranberries from bogs just before the first frost and dried them for later use. They were the first course at meals on special days.

Yule Greetings Span Globe

Since greeting cards are often substitutes for personal visits, they must be chosen with care. And one of the most effective types of greeting card is the Kodak special holiday collection portrait card now available at local photography studios.

Portrait cards are a sure way to keep friends and relatives who live in far flung places abreast of your family activities. Not only do the cards visually testify to the children's growth, but they also express a special mood for the greeting.

Whatever type of portrait you choose, it can be used for gifts as well as for the special holiday collection greeting cards. What more thoughtful present for grandparents and other relatives than a family portrait?

Whether small or large prints, framed for hanging or for a table display, portraits are a guaranteed favorite. And don't forget inclusion of the portrait in your own family room or den!

Perhaps the thought of the portrait sitting has been holding you back. Today, there's no need for reluctance — portrait sittings are easy to prepare for! In fact, the sitting may even be arranged away from the studio — if you've decided on an outdoor location or on a portrait in the home.

Having your special Christmas portrait taken in familiar surroundings is sure to put the whole family at ease. And now is the time to act so that you can avoid the Christmas rush and still set up a convenient appointment time.

The days of special clothing, heavy makeup and lengthy preparation are gone too. Sophisticated cameras and improved lighting conditions have combined to make portraits better than ever and easy to prepare for — just leave all the worrying to the photographer.

Once you've decided that this year's greeting will be a portrait card, arrange for an interview with the local portrait photographer. He will discuss setting, the mood you wish for the portrait and the tone for the family's clothing.

For example, if the portrait is to be lighthearted and casual, pastel clothing would carry through the theme for the portrait.

During the interview the photographer will also get to know the family better. After observing the children's varied personalities, he will be better able to visualize the final portrait with the family grouping that is most effective.

Once the portrait is taken, you can choose from several holiday card styles — each has an appropriate sentiment and a contemporary styling. The attractive cards are sure to be a welcome addition to the Christmas cards received by friends and family.

And since the special holiday collection greeting cards are so distinctive, they won't be pushed aside with the other cards or promptly discarded with last remnants of a Christmas season over.

Three-Way Gift For Kitchen

If three gifts in one sounds like a terrific idea that's bound to please the folks on your holiday gift list, then a double dinner Toast-R-Oven Toaster is one answer. This neat appliance triples as an automatic four slice toaster with a unique toast server feature, an automatic top browner and an automatic oven.

The oven part of this triple gift is really special because it is large enough to fit two frozen dinners at one time. That's really an asset when you're serving two hungry kids, or when you want to time your cooking to serve two people a quick dinner at the same time. The Toast-R-Oven from GE Universal is a compact size so it fits neatly on your countertop, ready to go to work but not in the way of your other countertop activities.

Tips On Keeping Flowers Fresh

Place stems in deep warm water. Pour warm water into the container in which they will be kept. Cut stem ends diagonally with a sharp knife. Remove all foliage below the water level. Add a commercial flower preservative to the water.

Poinsettias have a milky substance or juice which should be sealed into the stem by quickly dipping stem ends one or two inches into boiling water.

Check The Shirts For Correct Size

Both neck and sleeve measurements are imprinted on the inside of the collar bands. A typical marking would be 15-34. The 15 is the collar size; 34 is the sleeve length.

GIFTS FOR UNUSUAL GIVING

Games and toys with instruction value (left) can make learning fun and are available for children of all ages, whether they're interested in building up or tearing down. For the woman in your life a 1974 Golden Fragrance Calendar (right) is definitely among the unusual in gifts. She can scratch and sniff the months, thanks to 3M Microfragrance labels in the calendar. For January, the spicy fragrance is hot chili. Other scents are chocolate, orange sherbert, pine, dill pickle, cinnamon, lily, peanut, cherry soda, apple, butterscotch and mince pie.

Christmas Is Brighter Than In The Old Days

Christmas may be an old-fashioned holiday, but it's a lot brighter these days, thanks to modern technology. A tree ablaze with twinkling lights or a front door and windows outlined with blinking colored bulbs remind us of just how much electricity helps in making our homes more festive at this cheery season.

But lights on the tree are just the beginning of the importance of electricity at Christmas. It means even more in terms of the gifts under the tree. The range of electrified presents that are frivolous, functional or fun is greater this year than ever before. So when you shop for Christmas remembrances why not think of gifts that will truly turn on your family and friends?

The variety of electrified gifts is endless, beginning with those traditionally favorite toys that always appeal to sons — and their fathers. Electric trains and motorized auto racing sets bring out the best in males of any age — but be prepared for some friendly fights on Christmas day.

There are more constructive electrically powered presents, of course. The wife of the house is sure to appreciate just about any gadget to make her life easier in the kitchen, but why not select for her something that's more personal and equally powerful — like a hair detangler, an electric manicure set, or a cordless electric shaver?

There's no end to the useful things that the father of the house can make with the latest power tools that are certain to please Mother at Christmas. Electric saws, soldering irons, and sanders may not sound glamorous, but they'll be a welcomed addition to the home hobbyist. And even the man with the complete workshop will cherish one of the cordless electric drills that are the latest thing on the market.

When it comes to cordless electric gifts, what could delight the head of the household more than a rechargeable electric shaver? A model like the Mark IV from Remington lets Dad shave just about anywhere, without benefit of a power source. It recharges on 110 or 220 volts and is, therefore, ideal for the traveler. Its specially designed head will give a close, comfortable shave anywhere.

Stocking presents always make for tons of fun on Christmas morning. There are literally dozens of battery operated novelty items which are certain to win their share of laughs including electric roulette games, electric swizzle sticks — even trick eyeglasses with electric windshield wipers.

JEWELRY FOR MILADY

Christmas is sure to gladden her heart when it comes in the shape of a pin-pendant of free-form gold "slants," angling sapphires and diamonds. The ring is a modern expression — a ram's horn of gently curving gold and one diamond accent.

Poinsettia Still The Holiday Favorite

Kept out of drafts, in temperatures between 60 and 75 degrees, and given filtered sunlight, they will bloom throughout the holidays. It's important too, that the plants be in red clay pots that will drain off excess moisture from over-watering.

Give Something From The Kitchen

Delicious goodies from your own kitchen are always wonderful gifts. But, what makes them even nicer is the way you dress them up.

Little individual cakes, for instance, are so festive when tied with ribbons.

Festive little mincemeat or cranberry pies are even more giftable if set on a small paper plate and wrapped with cellophane, clear or colored, and tied with a sprig of holly.

Not Just A Gift Under A Tree

People are rediscovering their hands and minds. Having a do-it-yourself hobby is no longer considered merely a leisure time activity. In fact, dedicated hobbyists consider the time they spend on hobbies as being productive rather than as killing time.

These are some of the findings of a research study by Dr. Rudolph Brandt, a Beverly Hills psychoanalyst.

According to Dr. Brandt, having a hobby requiring the use of the hands and mind is a prerequisite for most people in this technological age.

Adults discover relief from tension when they become involved in a hobby that requires even a minimum of concentration.

A mother in her world of frozen dinners and mechanical kitchen appliances gains inner security when her family praises her talent for doing an interesting needlework piece; praise rarely bestowed these days for preparing the finest dinner.

Having a hobby is equally important for youngsters. It might be assembling and collecting scale models of cars, aircraft, space vehicles, or ships; collecting stamps or discovering new worlds with a science hobby; doing ceramics or making jewelry.

Students involved in these mind and hand hobbies are generally above average achievers, said Harold Carstens, President of the Hobby Association of America. They are more likely to be more socially oriented and less likely to be dropouts.

There is little doubt, says Dr. Brandt, that hobbies help bridge the genration gap. A father and son operating their scale model railroad or a mother and daughter working together on a hobby project discover they have something in common.

A healthy sign of the times, says Dr. Brandt, is that no longer are certain hobbies considered solely male or female oriented. Girls and their mothers are becoming interested in building and flying scale model planes as their brothers and fathers have become interested in needlework, candle making, and stitchery.

Fortunately the variety of hobby and craft kits available is seemingly endless. They range from those designed for the person who believes they're all thumbs to those that appeal to the most sophisticated craftsperson.

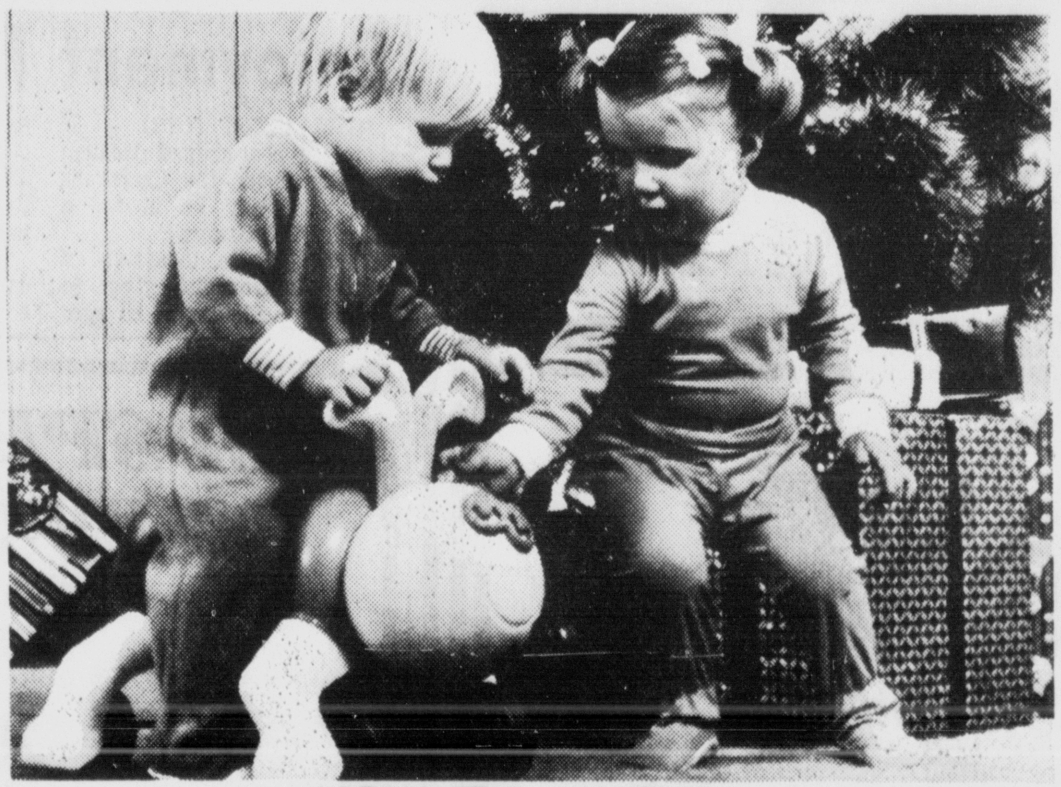
INFANT'S FIRST CHRISTMAS

When Santa makes out his gift list, remind him that useful items are as welcome as toys. Vinyl bibs with catch-all pockets, vinyl pants, knitwear undergarments and socks are some of the useful gifts for an infant's first year.



NOW IT'S MY TURN

Every child 1 to 3 years old will be eager for his or her own walker-rider. These are four-color with rugged polyethlene wheels and steel axles. It can share their adventures indoors or out.

Historical Facts About Santa Claus

NEW YORK (UPI) — The oldest depiction of Santa Claus as we know him today — fur-edged suit and cap, boots and backpack — was printed in a New York weekly newspaper in 1844.

The New Mirror's engraving by an unknown artist is captioned "Santa Claus. The Night Before New Year." It also states that the picture was designed expressly for the publication by Sherman & Smith, an engraving company.

The date of the engraving gives lie to the tradition that famed cartoonist Thomas Nast, who often portrayed Santa Claus in the 1860s and 1870s, was the first to picture the "jolly old elf" described by Clement Clark Moore in his popular poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

Since Nast was born in Germany in 1840, he would only have been four at the time of publication of the New Mirror picture. Apparently the engraving was forgotten for more than a century, when a copy turned up in the hands of a private collector.

The collector offered the print, along with some prints by Winslow Homer, a Nast contemporary, to the Fravessi-Lamont Card Co. of Springfield, N.J., about a decade ago. The company bought the print and published it as a Christmas card.

"It became a favorite of a number of celebrities," recalled Elnor-Jo Beall, president of the company. "J. Edgar Hoover (late head of the FBI) used it three years straight. We didn't publish it for several years but are reissuing it this Christmas."

A Musical Gift Can Bring Enjoyment For Many Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — If there's a pear-shaped package for you under the Christmas tree, you may be in for a "plucky" Christmas.

There will be thousands of fretted instruments given to amateur musicians of all ages in the Yule. Frets include not only guitars, but banjos, ukuleles, mandolins and the almost forgotten dulcimer, currently making a comeback.

The American Music Conference says Santa's helpers have a wide variety of instruments and accessories from which to make a selection.

Sheet music, a welcome gift for young and old musicians, starts at about $2. Almost every song imaginable—from the earliest Christmas carols to the newest pop hit—can be found in print.

Along with sheet music, there are self-instruction aids for almost every instrument and such items as piano lights, metronomes, music stands, carrying cases, new mouthpieces for brass and woodwind and new bows for violins and other strings.

Grandest of all, of course, are the keyboards—from upright pianos to baby grands and pipe organs to electronic marvels with three keyboards and synthesizer controls.

Whatever musical gift is selected this Christmas, it will be a present the recipient will enjoy for many Christmases to come.
